4. The Lieutenant-Governor may specially vest any officer with the powers of a Deputy Collector under this Act; and any officer so vested may exercise any of the powers, and discharge any of the functions of the Collector under this Act (except in respect of appeals) which he may be required to exercise or to discharge by a general or special order of the Collector.

Lieutenant-Governor to specify matters for inquiry.

5. Whenever the Lieutenant-Governor shall have made an order under section three, the Lieutenant-Governor shall also issue instructions specifying any matters of fact into which the Collector shall inquire, in accordance with the provisions of the said section; and on receipt of such instructions the Collector shall proceed to make the inquiry in accordance therewith.

Collector may allow parties to come before him and make objections.

6. Before proceeding to make such inquiry, the Collector shall publish a notification in the manner provided by clause five of section three, stating the nature of the inquiry to be made, and calling upon all parties who may deem themselves interested therein to appear before him, either in person or by agent, for the purpose of making such representations and advancing such objections as to them may seem fit; and such representations and objections (if any) shall be duly heard and considered by the Collector.

Power to Collector to enforce attendance of witnesses.

7. For the purpose of such inquiry, the Collector shall have power to summon and enforce the attendance of parties and witnesses, to examine such parties and witnesses, and to compel the production of documents by the same means (as far as may be) and in the same manner as is provided in the case of a court under the Code of Civil Procedure.

Collector to draw up report, and to allow persons to take copies of the same.

8. After making the necessary inquiry, the Collector shall draw up a report stating the result of the inquiry, and his own opinion on each of the matters specified for inquiry under section five, and shall publish a notice in his office stating that any person may take a copy of the said report for the purpose of advancing before the Commissioner any objections thereto which he may think fit, and that such objections must be filed in the office of the Commissioner, or in the office of the Collector for transmission to the Commissioner, within fifteen days of the publication of the said notice.

Collector and Commissioner to report result of inquiry to Board.

9. The Collector shall forward such report and copies of any objections which may be filed in his office under the last preceding section to the Commissioner, and the Commissioner, after considering such objections, and causing any further inquiry to be made which he may think fit, shall submit the report of the Collector, with copies of the objections made thereto, and with his own opinion on each of the matters specified for inquiry under section five, to the Board.

Board to issue instructions to Collector.

10. After considering the reports and objections submitted by the Commissioner under the last preceding section, the Board shall issue such instructions as to it shall seem fit, not being inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, in respect to the determination of each of the matters specified for inquiry under section five, and the Collector shall make an order determining each of the said matters in accordance with such instructions of the Board.

Suits to be transferred to Collector.

11. On receipt of such instructions the Collector shall publish at his office, a notice of such receipt and from the date of the publication of such notice, and as long as this Act is in force in the tract mentioned in section three, all suits of the nature of those specified in section 23 of Act X of 1859, relating to such tract, shall be instituted before, and, except as hereinafter otherwise expressly provided, be cognizable by, the Collector and by no other tribunal.

Collector to send copy of notice to Courts.

12. As soon as possible after publication of the notice mentioned in the last preceding section, the Collector shall send a copy thereof to every Court which had jurisdiction to entertain such suits immediately before the publication of the said notice.

Procedure in suits.

13. In the disposal of such suits the Collector shall, as far as possible, follow the procedure prescribed in Act X of 1859, and all powers exercised by a Collector under the said Act may be exercised by the Collector under this Act, provided that all such suits shall be decided by a reference to, and in accordance with, any order of the Collector determining a matter under section ten, in so far as such order may be applicable.

Power to refer to arbitration.

14. The Collector may, with the consent of the parties concerned, refer any such suit to arbitration, and the provisions of sections 313 to 325 (both inclusive) of the aforesaid Act VIII of 1859 shall, as far as may be practicable, apply to such references.

Rules for determining rate of rent.

15. Whenever in any suit instituted under the provisions of this Act it shall appear to the Collector that a ryot having a right of occupancy is liable to enhancement of the rent previously paid by him on the ground that the value of the produce or the productive powers of the land held by him have been increased otherwise than by the agency or at the expense of the ryot; or whenever in any such suit it shall appear to the Collector that such ryot is entitled to claim an abatement of the rent previously paid by him on the ground that the value of the produce or the productive powers of the land held by him have been decreased by any cause beyond the powers of the said ryot, the Collector shall, if possible, fix the rate of rent payable by such ryot, so that the rent previously paid by such ryot shall bear to the rent so fixed the same proportion as the former value of the produce of the soil, calculated on an average of three or five years rent before the date of the alleged rise or decrease in value, bears to the present value of such produce;

but if in any such suit the Collector shall not be able to ascertain to his satisfaction the former value of the produce as required for the application of the above rule, the Collector may, if he think proper so to do, determine the rate of rent payable by such ryot according to any of the following methods:—

(a) by fixing the rent of the ryot so that it shall represent such portion of the existing average gross value of the produce of the land held by him as the Collector shall consider fair and equitable with reference to the circumstances of each case;

(b) by fixing the rent of the ryot so that it shall represent such portion of the average net profits of the land held by him (after deducting from the average gross annual value of the produce of such lands such a sum as may be deemed proper on account of costs of production and disposal of such produce) as the Collector shall consider fair and equitable with reference to the circumstances of each case;

(c) by taking as the standard of comparison the rates which are generally paid in adjacent places by ryots having no right of occupancy, or in such places as the Collector may select, for lands of a similar description and having similar advantages; and by fixing the rates of rent to be paid by the ryot having a right of occupancy at such percentage below the rent which would be paid for the same lands by ryots having no right of occupancy as the Collector may consider fair and equitable with reference to the circumstances of each case.

Suit may be brought by or against any number of ryots collectively.

16. In every suit under this Act of the nature of those specified in the first, second, third, and fourth clauses of section 23 of Act X of 1859, any number of ryots or other tenants may be sued, or may sue collectively, and it shall be no ground for dismissing or refusing to hear the application that such ryots or other tenants are wrongly joined as plaintiffs or defendants, provided all such ryots or tenants hold land in the same estate; but no order shall be passed in such case unless the officer making such order is satisfied that all parties have had an opportunity to appear and make objection to any claims preferred against them; and if at any time it shall appear to the Collector that the question between any two of the parties of whom one is so joined with others cannot conveniently be so jointly tried, the Collector may order a separate trial to be held.

Order to specify how far it applies to each ryot

17. Every order passed in any such case as is mentioned in the first clause of the last preceding section, shall specify the extent to which each of the ryots or other tenants named in the order shall be affected thereby.

Rate of rent once fixed under Act, to be fixed for five years.

18. Every decree of a Collector under this Act in any suit of the nature of those specified in the first clause of section 23 of Act X of 1859 shall have effect, and the rates of rent determined by such decree shall be payable from the beginning of the year in which such suit was instituted (such year being computed according to the era in force in the aforesaid tract), or from such later date as the Collector may fix; and the rates of rent so determined shall not be liable to abatement or enhancement for five years from the first day of the year in which the decree may have effect as provided in this section, or, in case any part of the tract is comprised within a temporarily-settled estate, until the conclusion of the period of the settlement with Government under which such estate is held, if such period expires before the lapse of five years as aforesaid.

Provided that, during the currency of the term for which the rent has been fixed as aforesaid, any person may bring a suit to enhance the rent of any ryot or tenant whose rent has been so fixed, on the ground that the area of the ryot's or tenant's holding has been increased by alluvion or otherwise, and on no other ground.

And any ryot or tenant may, during the said period, bring a suit for abatement of his rent which has been so fixed, on the ground that the area of the land held by him has been diminished by diluvion or otherwise, and on no other ground.

Collector may refer suit to Civil Court.

19. Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, if it shall appear to the Collector that any suit which is pending before him involves any question relating to the title of land or to some interest in land, as between parties having conflicting claims thereto, or any other question which can more properly be decided by a civil court, or, in districts in which Act X of 1859 is in force, by a revenue court under that Act, the Collector may transfer such suit to a civil court or revenue court (according to whether such civil court or such revenue court would have had jurisdiction in the matter if this Act had not been passed); and such court shall thereupon proceed to deal with the suit as if this Act had not been passed, and as if the suit had originally been instituted before such court.

Collector may decide question before transferring suit to civil court.

20. If such suit involves a question of rent or any other question which may properly be settled by the Collector under this Act, as well as a question which may more properly be decided by such civil court or revenue court, the Collector may decide the former question under this Act before transferring the suit to such other court; and such decision shall be subject to the provisions of this Act in respect of appeals, and the civil court or revenue court shall be bound to give the final decision in the suit in accordance with the decision of the Collector or of the appellate authority under this Act on such question, so far as such decision is applicable.

Enforcement of decisions.

21. Every order and decree of a Collector under this Act may be enforced by the same means and in the same manner as if such order or decree were an order or decree to the same effect made under Act X of 1859.

Powers of Collector after withdrawal of Act.

22. Notwithstanding that the Lieutenant-Governor may have issued a notification as provided in section three declaring this Act to be no longer in force in any tract, the Collector shall proceed to decide all suits pending before him on the date of issue of such notification as if no such notification had been issued; and in respect of all such suits and of all other matters and suits which may be pending before the Board, the Commissioner, or the Collector on the date of the issue of such notification, the said Board, Commissioner, and Collector shall, until such matters or suits are finally decided or disposed of, exercise the same powers with respect thereto as if such notification had not been issued.

Suit to contest order or decree under this.

23. No suit to contest any order or judgment of any officer under the provisions of this Act shall be instituted before any court or tribunal otherwise than as provided in this Act.

Control and supervision of Commissioner and Board.

24. In the performance of their duties under this Act, the Deputy Collectors shall be subject to the general control and direction of the Collector, the Collector to the general control and direction of the Commissioner, and all officers to the general control and direction of the Board.

Appeal to and from Collector.

25. An appeal shall lie to the Collector against every order and judgment of a Deputy Collector under this Act, except as hereinafter otherwise provided; but no appeal shall lie against any order or judgment of the Collector under this Act except as hereinafter expressly provided.

No appeal from any decree of Collector for money below Rs. 100, unless the decision involve some question of right to enhance rents or some question relating to a title to land.

26. In suits of the nature of those specified in clauses two, four, and seven of section twenty-three of Act X of 1859, when such suits have been tried and decided by the Collector, if the amount sued for, or the value of the property claimed, does not exceed one hundred rupees, the judgment of the Collector shall be final and not open to revision or appeal, unless in any such suit a question of right to enhance or otherwise vary the rent of a ryot or tenant, or any question relating to a title to land, or to some interest in land as between parties having conflicting claims thereto, has been determined by the judgment, in which case the judgment shall be open to appeal in the manner provided in section twenty-nine.

The provisions of section 154 of Act X of 1859 shall apply to all suits in which the judgment of the Collector is final.

No appeal to lie against judgment declaring arrear due unless arrears have been paid.

27. Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, no appeal shall lie against any order declaring arrears of rent to be due and directing that such arrears be paid, unless such appeal shall be accompanied by the certificate of the Collector that the amount of such arrears has been paid to the Collector; and on payment of such amount, the Collector, if required so to do by the person making such payment, shall be bound to grant such certificate, and to hold the amount in deposit until the appeal shall have been disposed of, or until the period for making such appeal shall have expired.

Appeal against judgment of Deputy Collector.

28. When any such suit as is mentioned in section twenty-six in which, if tried and decided by the Collector, the judgment of the Collector would be final, is tried and decided by a Deputy Collector, an appeal from the judgment of the Deputy Collector shall lie to the Collector, and the provisions of sections 157 to 159 (both inclusive) of the said Act X of 1859 shall apply to such appeals.

In what suits appeal to lie to Commissioner and to Board.

29. In all suits other than those in which when tried and decided by a Collector, the judgment of the Collector is final as aforesaid, or when tried and decided by a Deputy Collector, an appeal is allowed to the Collector, an appeal from the judgment of the Collector or Deputy Collector shall lie to the Commissioner, and the decision of the Commissioner shall be final, unless the amount or value in dispute exceed five thousand rupees, in which case an appeal from the Commissioner's decision shall lie to the Board.

Time for presenting appeals from orders.

30. Every appeal against the order of a Deputy Collector shall be presented to the Collector within fifteen days, and every appeal against the order of a Collector shall be presented to the Commissioner, or to the Collector for transmission to the Commissioner, within thirty days of the date of the order appealed against.

Every appeal against the order of a Commissioner shall be presented to the Board, or to the Commissioner for transmission to the Board, within sixty days of the date of the order appealed against.

Orders passed in appeal by a Commissioner or a Collector shall not be open to any further appeal, except as hereinbefore provided: but the Board or the Commissioner may at any time call for any case, and pass such orders thereon as they may think proper.

ACT No IX OF 1876.

An Act to enable the Government of India to declare certain coins of Native States to be a legal tender in British India.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to enable the Governor-General in Council to declare that a tender of payment of money, if made in certain coins made for or issued by Native States, shall be a legal tender in British India; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short Title. Local extent. Commencement.

1. This Act may be called "The Native Coinage Act, 1876" :

It extends to the whole of British India ;

And it shall come into force at once.

Interpretation clause.

2. In this Act "Native State" means any State in India which is under the protection or political control of Her Majesty, or of which the Government shall have acknowledged the supremacy of the British Crown.

Power to declare that the coins of a Native State shall be legal tender.

3. Subject to the provisions of section four, the Governor-General in Council may, from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, declare that a tender of payment of money, if made in the coins, or the coins of any specified metal, made under this Act for any Native State, shall be a legal tender in British India; and the provisions of the Indian Coinage Act, 1870, shall apply to the coins to which such notification refers, so far as such provisions are applicable thereto, and save as expressly provided by such notification.

When such power may be exercised.

4. The power conferred by the first clause of section three shall be exercisable only when the coins referred to in such notification comply with the following conditions (that is to say)— in the case of coins of gold, silver, or bronze,

(a) their fineness is identical with that for the time being prescribed by law for coins of the Government of India of the same metal;

in the case of coins, whether of gold, silver, bronze, or copper,

(b) they are identical in weight with some coins of the Government of India of the same metal, which may for the time being be legally coined at any mint of the Government of India, or bear such relation thereto as is approved by the Governor-General in Council ;

(c) the devices upon their obverse and reverse differ from the devices on coins now made or issued by any such Native State, and have been approved by the Governor-General in Council ;

(d) upon each of such coins its value in money of the Government of India is inscribed in the English language ;

(e) the Native State for which they are coined has undertaken to abstain during a term of not less than thirty years from the date of the notification from coining in its own mint gold, silver, bronze, or copper, as the case may be, and has also undertaken that no coins resembling coins for the time being a legal tender in British India shall, after the expiration of the said term, be struck under its authority or with its permission at any place within or without its jurisdiction ;

(f) such State has formally declared that a tender of payment of money, if made in coins of the Government of India of the same metal, shall in the territories subject to such State be a legal tender in the cases in which payment made in such coins would, under the law for the time being in force, be a legal tender in British India ;

(g) such State has also agreed that the law and rules for the time being in force respecting the cutting and breaking of coin of the Government of India reduced in weight by reasonable wearing or otherwise, or counterfeit, or called in by proclamation, shall apply to the coins made for such State under this Act, and that it will defray the cost of cutting and breaking them ; and

(h) such State has also agreed not to issue the same coins below their nominal value, and not to allow any discount or other advantage to any person in order to bring them into circulation.

Native States authorised to send metal to British India mint for coinage.

5. It shall be lawful for any such State to send to any mint in British India metal to be made into coin under this Act ; and, subject to the Mint rules for the time being in force, and to the provisions hereinafter contained, the Mint-Master shall receive such metal and convert it into coin, provided that it be fit for coinage.

Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to entitle any such State to have coins made under this Act at any mint of the Government of India of any metal which is not for the time being legally coined at such mint.

Power to impose a charge for coinage.

6. The Governor-General in Council may impose on any metal sent to a mint for coinage under this Act the duty (if any) leviable on the same metal under the Indian Coinage Act, 1870, and also a charge sufficient to defray the expenses of coinage over and above the expenses of assay and refining ; and the Mint-Master shall coin such metal at the charge so imposed.

Power to limit number of coins to be made under this Act for any Native State.

FINANCIAL.

INDIA OFFICE, LONDON,
10th February 1876.

To His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor-General of India in Council.

MY LORD,

Paragraph 1. I have considered in Council your Financial letter dated the 29th January 1875, No. 39, on the subject of the Leave Rules of the Uncovenanted Service.

2. You therein state that you have some doubts as to the intentions of the Duke of Argyll, and as to the manner in which effect should be given to His Grace's instructions; that nearly all the offices in the Uncovenanted Service are such as may, under certain circumstances, be "fitly held by Natives," and that consequently, if you were to adopt a principle of selection, which would be most in accordance with the instructions received by you, the logical conclusion would be that no members of the Service should be admitted to the favourable rules.

3. You consider that the rigid adoption of the principle that the present holders of offices to which natives could fitly be appointed, should not be admitted to the benefits of the favorable rules, would cause not unreasonable dissatisfaction, and you are of opinion that some limit of a more or less arbitrary nature as to the position of those to whom those rules should be extended will have to be laid down.

4. You therefore forward nominal lists, which you state to be complete, of all those officers of the Uncovenanted Service who come within the category set forth in Schedule A of the Civil Leave Code, and request me to determine the principle on which admission to the favorable Leave Rules shall be regulated.

5. With your Financial letter dated the 30th September 1875, No. 316, you forwarded, in addition of the list already referred to, a list of officers of the Accounts Branch Department whom you proposed to admit to the more favorable rules.

6. The instruction conveyed to your Government in the Financial despatches dated the 10th March 1870 and the 6th December 1871, appear to me to leave no doubt as to the intentions of the Duke of Argyll on this subject.

7. In the former despatch the Duke of Argyll assented to the favorable rules "proposed for holders of offices now held by English gentlemen," with certain modifications, and desired "that they be declared applicable from this date only to officers of the Education Department appointed from England, and to such others of those now actually in the service as you may think fit to include in a nominal list for that purpose, to be submitted for my approval." His Grace also stated that the second set of rules proposed "for all other classes of the Uncovenanted Service would, for the present, apply to all Uncovenanted Servants not entitled to the benefits of the first set of Rules, and hereafter to all Uncovenanted Servants who may not have been appointed from England."

8. In paragraph 7 of the latter despatch, the Duke of Argyll extended the benefits of the first set of Rules to "those Uncovenanted Servants appointed in England to offices for which they had special qualifications," and "to those Europeans who for special reasons may have been, or, with my sanction, may be hereafter appointed in India to certain exceptional posts," and His Grace added "but, in order to confine these privileges within reasonable limits, I must again request that you will furnish me with a nominal list of the officers who appear to you to come within the description referred to in my Financial despatch dated the 10th March 1870, No. 84."

9. The Duke of Argyll concluded*—"The principle which Her Majesty's Government have steadily kept in view throughout the discussion on these Furlough Rules is, that the Uncovenanted Service should be principally reserved for the Natives of the country, and that superior appointments, which require English training and experience should be made, as heretofore, from England, and they look with great disfavour on the system, which appears to be growing up in India, of appointing Englishmen in India to situations that ought only, as a rule, to be filled by civilians who have gained their position by open competition. I trust that the views I have now expressed will put a stop to the above practice."

* Financial Despatch, 10th March 1870.

10. In the views expressed by the Duke of Argyll in those Despatches I concur.

11. In respect, therefore, to the future, I request that it may clearly be understood, that the less favorable Leave Rules will be applicable to all Uncovenanted Servants appointed after the year 1871, unless—

(1) They have been appointed in England.

(2) They have been appointed in India with the sanction of the Secretary of State.

It remains to specify in detail the reasonable concessions which, in accordance with the intimation made by the Duke of Argyll, I am willing to grant to certain of your Uncovenanted Servants who now hold, and, at the date of His Grace's Despatch, held appointments in the Uncovenanted Service. It is to be understood that the instructions contained in the remainder of this despatch apply only to them.

12. I have not within my reach the information necessary to enable me to select individual officers according to their merit or according to the peculiar circumstances of their appointment. In the absence of any such principle of choice, it will be expedient to shape the proposed concessions in such a manner as to harmonise with the policy which has been laid down for the future. Without going so far as to assent to your Excellency's opinion that "if the whole of the classes enumerated in Schedule A are admitted to the new rules, the concession must be extended to the future." I am quite sensible of the difficulty which would attend any attempt to enforce, in respect to the future, a system contrasting violently with that which shall be adopted in respect to present incumbents. It will be, on this ground, expedient to apply a different mode of treatment to the present incumbents of those offices which will in future, so far as they are continued, certainly be filled up as a rule from England, and those which may possibly continue to be filled in India. The Uncovenanted Service of the Public Works Department, except so far as it is recruited from students educated at the Indian Civil Engineering Colleges which were specially designed for the natives of the country,—will ordinarily in the future be supplied from Cooper's Hill. The forest service will, in like manner, and with possibly an analogous exception, consist of candidates prepared in Europe under the system established by Dr. Brandis. The limited opportunity which exists in India for obtaining men of scientific training furnishes an obvious reason for confining, as a general rule, to persons selected in England the higher grades of the Telegraph and Geological Survey Departments. It has already been determined that the higher Educational Officers shall be selected here. On the other hand, the officers on the present establishment at Mysore only exist for a temporary purpose. A similar consideration applies to the arrangement under which the small number of Uncovenanted Marine and Medical Officers are at present appointed. To all these officers, as occupying posts which, so far as they are filled up by Englishmen at all, will in the future be ordinarily filled up in England, I see no difficulty in extending without restriction the concessions contemplated by the Duke of Argyll.

13. The following officers therefore named in the enclosure to your despatch of 29th January 1875 may be immediately admitted to the more favorable Leave Rules:—

The 30 officers under the Government of India, included in sub-sections 4 and 6 of section E.

The 20 officers under the Government of Madras, included in sub-section 2 of section B.

The 19 officers under the Government of Bombay, included in sub-section 2 of section C, and four Forest officers in sub-section 1 of the same section.

The 10 officers employed in Mysore, included in section I.

The Educational officers, the officers of the Marine Department who have served in the Indian Navy or Bengal Marine, and the Medical officers named in the lists transmitted by you.

The three Medical officers of the Persian Telegraph Service, as recommended in your Financial letter dated the 26th February 1875, No. 79.

A nominal list of all the above officers is annexed to this despatch.

14. Of the remaining officers named in your lists, the greater part are filling posts which do not require preliminary technical education, and which, in future, if not held by Natives will be occupied partly by Covenanted Civil Servants, or by Uncovenanted Servants specially selected, with the sanction of the Secretary of State, according to the principles adverted to in paragraph 11 of this despatch. Adopting, therefore, with regard to this class of officers, your suggestion that, as respects existing incumbents, an arbitrary limit must be to some extent applied to them, I sanction the extension of the more favorable rules to such of the above-mentioned officers named in your lists as are now in the receipt of salaries of not less than Rs. 6,000 per annum, and I request that a list of the persons to whom this will apply may be forwarded for record in this office.

15. I observe that your lists do not include any of the officers employed in the higher appointments of the Andamans. You may, perhaps, desire to correct the omission, and possibly other similar omissions; if so, I will gladly consider any recommendations you may make.

I have the honor to be,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's most obdt., humble Servant,

SALISBURY.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 135.

The 17th April 1876.

UNDER Section 89 of Act X of 1871, the following annual accounts and reports of the District Road Committees of Cuttack, Pooree, and Balasore, of works done and in progress during the past cess year 1874-75, together with the remarks thereon of the Commissioner of the Orissa division, are published for general information.

J. E. T. NICOLLS, Colonel, R.E.,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal, P. W. D.

No. 301, dated Cuttack, the 30th October 1875.

From— J. BEAMES, Esq., Collector of Cuttack.

To—The Commissioner of the Orissa Division.

I HAVE the honor to submit the annual report of the road cess operations for the year ending on 30th September 1875.

2. The total income for the year was Rs. 60,661, and the expenditure Rs. 51,821; leaving a balance of Rs. 8,840-6-5 to be carried to the credit of the fund for the following year.

3. Original works.—The remodelling of the first fifteen miles of the Chandballi road has been completed at a total cost of Rs. 9,212, or Rs. 614 per mile. Out of this amount Rs. 6,135-14-11 were expended during the year under report, the rest having been spent in the previous year. The Executive Engineer considers that this work is a great improvement, and recommends its being carried out over the next 30 miles; but as to do this would cost Rs. 30,000, it is not probable that the Committee will be able to supply the necessary funds. The work consists of uniformly raising the road to a proper section, laying down metalled tracks to prevent the sandy soil, of which the road is made, from being worn into ruts by the heavy cart traffic, putting in culverts in the place of causeways, and building masonry bridges in lieu of the present wooden ones. The road runs through a country intersected by numerous drainage channels and the distributaries and branch distributaries of the Kendrapara canal, and is a very difficult and costly work. It has already been urged that this road should be made a provincial one, as the cost of maintaining it is too heavy for the resources of the Road Cess Fund to bear.

4. The Gobri bridge on this road, with masonry piers, timber and iron girder superstructure, is now finished. It is apparently a strong and useful work, though it cannot be said to be ornamental.

5. The road from Bingharpore to Indpore, completing the through line of communication between the two sub-divisional towns of Jajpore and Kendrapara has been finished as far as the earthwork is concerned; but several bridges and culverts will be required next year, as the country traversed is low and liable to be flooded.

6. A road has also been constructed from Kendrapara to the canal at Marsaghai to open up communication with False Point. It is expected that this road will be largely used for local traffic, even after the extension of the canal to Jamboo. The line selected appears not to have been the best avalable, but as the shortest, was preferred from considerations of economy. It will require further development this year.

7. Another important work is the road from Salepore to Mahanga. This is 8½ miles long and acts as a feeder to the Chandballi road, opening up a very fertile and populous tract of country; it will be feasible in future years to continue this road to Jajpore, and it will then be the shortest way from that place to Cuttack. Three-quarters of the earthwork and turfing have been done, and the whole would have been finished, but for the excessive rain, which stopped the work.

8. The Singpore road was marked out, but no work could be done on it owing to want of establishment. This is intended to be prolonged eventually to Aul, and this additional work will complete the line of communication between Jajpore and Aul, which is much needed.

9. The shoal at the mouth of the Chota Brahmini at Patamoondy has again been deepened by the Executive Engineer, Brahmini Division, from funds supplied by the Road Cess Department. This important but inexpensive work will require to be done every year, as the floods cause it to silt up. Only Rs. 454-7-1 has been spent on it, and this small sum yearly will keep open the river, on which there is important boat traffic.

10. Under the head of village roads, several small works have been carried out through the agency of zemindars, both cheaply and effectively.

11. The public garden at Chowllagunge, a suburb of Cuttack, has been very successful Supplies of seeds are regularly received from the Superintendent, Botanical Gardens, Howrah, and germinate freely. I have also commenced what I hope will be a very useful feature in this garden in future years, by sending men into the hills of the Gurjats to bring seedlings of the many valuable and ornamental trees in which those forests are rich. One great obstacle to the establishment of a flourishing timber trade in Orissa is the difficulty merchants and others experience in getting at the trees. It occurred to me that if living specimens of the most valuable kinds could be collected in some central place where they could be easily inspected, their value would by degrees become known. I have therefore made a large plantation of these trees, and the gardener in charge is prepared to give information to visitors concerning them.

12. During this, which is only the second year of its existence, the garden has already begun to be profitable. One thousand nine hundred and sixteen trees have been sold to the Irrigation Department and others, realizing the price of Rs. 246-5; 287 trees have been sent to Jajpore for planting on the roads in that sub-division, 100 to False Point, and 48 to the Court of Wards' cutcherry compound at Kanika. At the request of the Civil Surgeon 42 trees were supplied for the General Hospital compound, and to the Reverend Chaplain 58 for the church compound.

13. In order also to stimulate the people of the district to some interest in the matter 64 trees have been distributed gratis to native gentlemen in the town and district. In addition to this, four miles of the Taldanda road have been planted on both sides with trees, in addition to the two miles planted last year, making a total of six miles, and about sixteen hundred trees.

14. The total number of healthy young trees averaging six feet in height turned out by the garden during the year has been a little over 4,000, and the number still growing and ready to be planted out is not much under 6,000. I trust these results will be considered satisfactory, especially when it is remembered how short a time the garden has been under cultivation, and that the soil was originally a barren waste of sand hills and thorns.

15. Repairs.—These consist of the usual annual earthwork, metalling, and turfing. Due attention has been paid to every road in the district, and they are all now in fair order.

16. The newly appointed District Engineer, Mr. J. St. Clair Glasson, took charge on the 15th May 1875, and has already effected many improvements. Mr. Glasson's energy and careful supervision have given the Committee much satisfaction, and there is every reason to hope that the road work of the district will be efficiently conducted under his charge.

17. Of the overseers, Dadar Bux has done well; Mr. D'Souza does not seem to have been so careful as he might have been, but the District Engineer has not yet had time to inspect his work thoroughly.

18. The head clerk, Baboo Gunnesh Prasad Singh, is an intelligent young man, and has performed his duties with great accuracy and diligence. The rest of the establishment has also worked well.

19 I submit herewith the returns in the prescribed form, with the necessary explanations as to sanction of transfers from one head of account to another, and other points requiring elucidation.

Explanatory Notes.

A.—The figures given in this column have been taken from the revised estimate passed by the Road Cess Committee on the 19th April 1875, and approved by the Commissioner in his letter No. 59RC., dated 5th June 1875.

B.—Rs. 1,000 were first sanctioned as per budget estimate, and afterwards Rs. 344-7-8 were transferred from village roads in thana Salepur—(vide Commissioner's letter No. 70RC., dated 14th June 1875).

C.—Rs. 2,921-3-5 were first sanctioned in the budget for this work, and being insufficient, the sum of Rs. 412 was added to this amount, as reported in this office No. 244, dated 15th September last, and sanctioned by the Commissioner in his letter No. 208RC., dated 19th idem, from the head of "Reserve."

D.—Rs. 2,400 were alloted in the budget for this purpose, from which Rs. 344-7-8 were transferred to Mahanga road, as per Commissioner's letter No. 70RC., dated 14th June 1875, as stated in note B.

E.—Rs. 1,300 were first sanctioned in the budget, and Rs 50 were received by transfer on application of Covenanted Deputy Collector of Jajpore from the head of Baruan, to Indpore road—(vide Commissioner's letter No. 175RC., dated 23rd August 1875).

F.—Rs. 650 were allotted for this road in the budget; Rs. 50 were transferred to Syadpore road—(vide Commissioner's letter quoted above).

G.—An allotment of Rs. 4,129-3-3 was provided for in the budget under this head Rs. 200 were transferred to the head of Tools, and Rs. 412 to that of the Gobri Nullah bridge on the Chandballi road—(vide Commissioner's letters No. 70 and 208RC., dated the 14th June and 19th September 1875, respectively).

H.—There was nothing allotted in the budget under this head; Rs. 200 were sanctioned by the Commissioner in his letter No. 70RC., dated 14th June 1875, from the head of "Reserve."

I.—The receipts on this head have exceeded the amount estimated in the budget, as the realizations of refunds, &c., came to more than was estimated.

J.—Nothing was spent on this road during the year; demarcation completed, but too late to allow of any work being done before the rains.

K.—Rs. 800 were allotted in the budget for this road including Gopia Nullah bridge, which is to be built on it. Rs. 100 only were spent in repairing the road, as the work of the bridge was not begun till the commencement of the rainy season. The whole amount sanctioned under this head could not be spent before the close of the year under review. However, the bridge will be finished this year.

L.—The excess (Rs. 10) being paid during the year on account of last year's salary, not drawn during that year.

M.—This expenditure, incurred by the District Engineer and his establishment, which was newly organized under Government Circular No. 1209, dated 8th March 1875, from May last.

Note.—Certain original works were erroneously charged in the quarterly returns under the head of Repairs. This has been rectified in the annual accounts.

The 30th October 1875.

Chairman.

No. 358, dated Poorce, the 4th December 1875.

From—BABOO NOBIN KRISHNA SIRCAR, Vice-Chairman, Road Cess Committee, Poorce.

To—The Commissioner of the Orissa Division.

WITH reference to your No. 301RC., dated 29th ultimo, I have the honor to state that under the following circumstances the expenditure under heads "Original Works" and "Repair" has been sanctioned and paid by the Committee.

Remodelling Piplee and Khoorda Road.—Under this head Rs. 3,000 was only sanctioned during the year 1874-1875; Rs. 9,854 was estimated and sanctioned for the work during 1872-73, of which Rs. 6,547-7-5 were spent up to the end of 1873-74, and the balance of the estimate amounted to Rs. 3,306-8-7 on the commencement of the year 1874-75, but Rs. 3,000 was only assigned for expenditure on this road in the budget grant of 1874-75, as recommended by the Executive Engineer. The sum of Rs. 1,452-10-11 was on his hands on account of this road on the 30th September 1874, being the balance of advances made in 1873-74, and the difference of Rs. 1,547-5-1 paid to make up the assignment for 1874-75, leaving a balance of Rs. 306-8-7, as per estimate of 1873-74. This sum was afterwards paid from Reserve Fund under orders contained in your letter No. 157 of 6th March 1875; but still the expenditure amounted to Rs. 474-5-10 in excess of the estimate for 1874-75, as explained in the office letter No. 357 of to-day's date. This makes up Rs. 3,780-14-5 expended on the road during 1874-75.

2. The sum of Rs. 1,533 has been expended by the Committee for the construction of a road from Balianta to Sardeipore viâ Bhoobanessur, not originally estimated for under your letter No. 92 of 3rd December 1874.

3. The sum of Rs. 331 was only allotted for the annual repair of the road from Khoorda to Piplee, but the expenditure having amounted to Rs. 1,479 on account of sudden damage done to the road by the floods, the repair was sanctioned, and Rs. 1,118 in excess of the estimate was paid under your letter No. 94 of 7th December, but still the amount could not cover the charges required for the repair of the whole road, hence there has been an increase of expenditure of Rs. 147-6-10, under order of Committee on the report of the Executive Engineer, beyond your sanction, which is now solicited.

4. The following works have been made without your sanction during the year 1874-75 :—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Satzabadi bridge	332	10	0
Balugaon and Banpore road	212	12	2
Construction of a ferry boat at Khama Ghât ...	293	0	0
Repair of road from Khoorda to Kantillo	5	7	7
Repair to ferry boat at Konti	64	9	9

5. These works were undertaken under authority only of the Committee, on the recommendation of the Chairman. As the sums have already been expended, I now solicit your sanction of the works for squaring accounts.

6. The inexpediency of incurring expenditure before sanction by the proper authority was sufficiently noticed in the Committee's proceedings of the 14th September 1875, and I trust a repetition of such things will not be made in future.

No. 323, dated Camp Piplee, the 17th November 1875.

From—J. F. STEVENS, Esq., Officiating Collector,

To—The Commissioner of the Orissa Division.

I HAVE the honor to submit the local improvement report for the cess year ending on 30th September 1875.

2. The following gentlemen were members of the Committee during the year under review, and the subjoined table shows the number of meetings attended by each :—

It will be observed that most of the members have attended several meetings. Khetribar Bhagwan Ratsingh and the Rajah of Parikood each attended only one meeting; but their residences are at a considerable distance from Pooree. The same is the case with the Revd. T. Bailey. The object of appointing residents of distant parts of the district was that every part might be represented as far as possible, and that the inhabitants of the whole of the district might feel that they had an interest in the disbursement of the road cess as well as in the payment of it. That this object has been fairly attained is shown by the numerous petitions that are received from villages from all parts of the district, begging for village roads, bridges, &c. The period of two years for which the Committee was nominated in 1872 expired last year. The appointment of certain new members, and the re-appointment of some of the old members for the next two years, were published in the Calcutta Gazette dated the 18th August 1875, at page 1055.

The aggregate receipts of the year under the several heads amounted to Rs. 26,101-14-8, viz.:—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Cash in hand on 1st October 1874	14,207	4	4
Advance outstanding on 1st October 1874	2,116	14	8
Cess on land	9,731	3	4
Cess on houses	26	0	0
Refund by the Executive Engineer	20	8	4
Total ...	26,101	14	8

4. The total expenditure amounted to Rs. 14,583-11-2 at the end of the year. The details of the expenditure are given below:—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Office establishment	1,459	10	9
Contingencies	647	1	5
Original works	6,152	4	7
Repairs ditto	5,553	0	0
Survey	211	5	1
Repair to ferries	64	9	9
Village roads	495	11	7

5. The original works carried out during the year under report are detailed below. The work done under this head has chiefly been confined to carrying on and completing what was begun in previous years, viz.:—

I.—Remodelling and bridging the road from Khoorda to Piplee, 14 miles; expenditure during the year Rs. 3,780-14-5.

II.—Constructing a road from Balugaon on the Chilka to Banpore; cost Rs. 212-12-2.

III.—Remodelling and repairing the old Satyabadi stone bridge; expenditure during the year Rs. 332-10.

IV.—Constructing a ferry boat for the Dhamra river on the Baliaghai and Madhab road at a cost of Rs. 293.

The first road is one of the most important in the district. It was originally constructed from the District Road Fund. In consideration of its importance it was subsequently made over to the Public Works Department, and was roughly constructed and partially bridged by that department. When the road cess came into operation it was taken up as one of the local roads. In 1872-73 Rs. 9,854 was sanctioned for remodelling the road, and the work was recommenced. Up to the end of last year the work was carried out in general accordance with the estimate and drawings passed by the Committee and the Commissioner, but the flood of 1874 necessitated additional water-way to the extent of 28 lineal feet. This raised the expenditure to Rs. 10,423-15-7, or Rs. 569-15-7 in excess of the estimate.

7. The II. road is one that is purely of local advantage. It branches off the Ganjam Trunk Road in the 70th mile from Cuttack, and runs westward to the large and important village of Banpore. Rs. 2,846 was estimated for this road, and the work commenced in June 1873. It has been completed at a cost of Rs. 2,845.

8. The immediate benefit of this work is at present limited to the pilgrims that visit the temple at Satyabadi, situated about a mile off the Juggernath road. It is hoped, however, to remodel the old road from Satyabadi to Khoorda hereafter. This includes Rs. 500 subscribed by a native official, Baboo Harekristo Das.

9. The IV. work, though small in cost, is an extremely useful one, as the river on which the boat plies is never fordable.

REPAIRS.

10. The following roads, bungalows, and ferry boats have been completely repaired during the year under review. The amount incurred in repairing each of them is set forth against each item.

	Rs.	A.	P.
Baghmaree and Bolgurh road	1,111	1	3
Khoorda and Kuntillo	1,355	7	7
Piplee an Khoorda road	1,626	6	10

Ferry boat at Konti	64	9	9
Total ...	5,617	9	9

11. Some lines of country have been surveyed, with the view of ascertaining the best route to be adopted when it may be required to frame estimates for new roads with funds which may hereafter be available. The details of the surveys are as follows:—

Surveying roads Piplee vid Nimaparah to Kakutpore; Harekristopore vid Bijpore to Astorang; Balianta vid Bhubanessur to Sardeipore; Pooree vid Balighai and Gope to Madhab—Rs. 211-5-1.

12. The cost incurred in repairing the village roads of the district has been Rs. 495-11-7. The details of the village roads are given below:—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Mugai	1	14	6
Birkesaripore	58	12	0
Trilochanpore	6	12	0
Kakatpore	245	14	6

Kadua Samil Sunakhalla	28	4	2
Bnadlo	32	7	7
Tynlo	39	12	2
Total ...	495	11	7

Besides this, Rs. 115 has been paid to the Deputy Collector of Khoorda for the repair of Alihidihi village road. The work has not been completed, and the amount is therefore shown in the annual account under "Advance." The Deputy Collector of Khoorda, who has been entrusted with the work, reports as follows:—

"I have lately visited this road, and am satisfied with the amount of work done for the money expended. The heavy rains had cut up the work a great deal, and I have advanced a further sum of Rs. 10 to the master of the Alihidihi school, who lives at one end of the road, and who has engaged to repair damages and the road for that sum. There is a small nullah which crosses the new road close to the Alihidihi village, and I found a few cart loads of stone and gravel collected for making a small causeway at the crossing, and I have advanced Rs. 7 to the Simakaran of Panchpalli, who has engaged to complete the causeway at a further cost of Rs. 7. Rs 82-12-3 was shown as the sum before expended, and I have now advanced Rs. 17 more; making in all Rs. 99 12-3, and leaving a balance still in hand of Rs. 15-3-9. I think that the whole of this sum will be required before the road is well finished.

(Sd.) J. E. STEVENS,
Offg. Collector.

No. 301, dated Balasore, the 22nd November 1875.

From—T. NORMAN, Esq., Acting Collector, and Chairman, Balasore Road Cess Committee,

To—The Commissioner of the Orissa Division.

I HAVE the honor, on behalf of the Road Cess Committee of this district, to submit the accounts of the receipts and expenditure of the District Road Fund during the year 1874-75, as required by section 89 of the District Road Cess Act of 1871.

2. In compliance with the requirements of section 88 of the Act, the accounts were examined by the Vice-Chairman and a Sub-Committee appointed in its behalf by the Committee, and were submitted to, and passed by, a general meeting of the Committee held on the 15th instant.

3. Section 89 of the Act prescribes the submission of "a report of the work done and in progress," but contains no specification of the nature and scope of the report required. Avoiding any very minute or lengthy discussion on the details of district works, which seems unnecessary, I shall submit a brief general note on each work undertaken.

4. The roads of this district, exclusive of the Trunk Road, which is not under the Committee's supervision, and of village roads, are twenty-five in number, with a mileage of 119 miles and 1,470 feet. For the maintenance of these roads the total allotment, as per the sanctioned estimates, was Rs. 6,300, and this sum, together with Rs. 400 for village roads, Rs. 500 for ferry boats, and Rs 156 for contingencies, was the entire sum originally allotted for district works of every description. With only Rs. 42 per mile available for the maintenance of established roads, seven of which are metalled, the Committee did not consider itself justified in attempting any original works, and accordingly allotted the entire sum at its disposal to maintenance and repairs. At the end of January, however, the Committee received from Government a subsidy of Rs. 5,000, sanctioned in Government Notification No. 469, dated the 29th December 1874, which enabled it to build several bridges and culverts that were urgently required.

5. No. 1, Port Road.—A great portion of this important road was remetalled. The customs landing place was levelled and metalled. A masonry drain was constructed to intercept the drainage from above, which formerly caused much mischief. The river bank has been protected with piles driven six to eight feet into the bottom, and with planking behind them, so as to afford accommodation for both the forward and after gangways of a steamer. The receipt of the iron floating jetty, which has been so long detained in Calcutta, is awaited. The only thing the port road now wants is greater width, but the houses on both sides render any improvement in this respect very costly.

6. No. 2, Balasore to Mitrapore Road.—Trees were planted and efficiently fenced; wooden bridges were repaired; casual repairs to metalling were carried out where necessary. In the previous season four new miles of metalling had been laid down and the road very much improved throughout.

7. No. 3, Balasore to Bulramgurhi Road.—Repairs to metalling were carried out where required; the unmetalled portion was smoothed and rendered passable after the usual damage done by the floods.

8. No. 4, Soroh to Charukmaree Road.—The portion between Soroh and Uttareshwar was remetalled; the remainder of the road has been given up as unnecessary.

9. No. 6, Distillery Road.—The large bridge had its wooden superstructure entirely renewed. About two-thirds of the road were remetalled.

10. No. 8, Busta to Baripal Road.—Three masonry causeways were constructed and some earthwork done. After the expenditure had exceeded Rs. 300, I stopped the work, fearing that to continue to spend small sums of money on this road, which had been constructed without any regard to scientific principles, would be merely to continue the waste of funds upon it which has already taken place so often. Part of the remaining allotment was transferred, and part was utilized in the purchase of timber. It is gratifying to be able to state that I have this year received from an independent source the sum of Rs. 18,000, which I have appropriated for the thorough reconstruction of this road,—a work which Mr. Vertannes, the Executive Engineer, Balasore Survey Division, has kindly taken charge of. A survey has already been completed, and brick-making will commence almost immediately.

11. No. 10, Berhampore to Gurpada Road.—The work on this short line consisted merely of surface dressing.

12. No. 11, Balasore to Basudebpore Road.—A mile and a half was metalled, and the timber bridges were repaired. In a few places the road was raised.

13. No. 12, Soroh to Anantpur Road.—This road, which was entirely reconstructed during the previous year, got its annual surface repairs. A culvert was built, and trees were planted and protected.

14. No. 13, Soroh to Kuparee Road.—The timber bridges were repaired, and the road was smoothened and rendered passable by vehicles.

15. No 14, Runeetalao to Kuparee Road.—Rs. 200 were expended in smoothening the road and rendering it passable.

16. No. 15, Agarpara to Bhudruck Road.—Rs. 300 were spent in smoothening this road, which is fourteen miles long.

17. No. 16, Bhudruck Station Roads.—Rs. 500 were expended in metalling the road from the salt golas to the ghât; the remaining Rs. 400 were expended in filling in and smoothening the roads, and in mending the timber bridges.

18. No. 17, Barickpur to Chamnuggur Road.—Nothing more than smoothening and filling up breaches could be done with the funds (Rs 300) allotted. A bridge is very badly wanted, and will be constructed when funds are available.

19. No. 18, Bhudruck to Chandbali Road.—This road is 32 miles in length, one-half of which has been raised, though narrow and ill-constructed; the other half is simply a track. This road being an essential towards the opening out and advancement of the province, Government has several times been urged to re-align and construct a provincial road from the Trunk Road to Chandbally, but funds have not yet been made available. During the year under report a larger sum (Rs. 1,750) was given to this road than to any other, and what could be effected with that sum in earthworks and repairs to bridges was done; but the road continues very bad, and is in fact frequently totally impassable. Road cess funds are inadequate for its construction.

20. No. 19, Barang to Basdebpur Road.—The large timber bridge was reconstructed, the superstructure being renewed, and the piers, abutments, and flooring repaired. The usual annual surface repairs were carried out.

21. No. 20, Turkia to Kumarda Road.—A large bridge was built over the deep and unfordable Nassa tidal khal, which was diverted so as to allow of the bridge being constructed in a favorable situation. Some earthwork was also done.

22. No. 21, Baliapal to Kamarda Road.—Another bridge was built over the same khal. These two bridges, which may be considered sister works, were the principal original undertakings of the year. They were built with wooden superstructure over masonry piers and abutments, laid on very solid and deep foundations to resist the force of the tide and floods. Before they were completed, they were exposed to a very high flood spill from the Sooburnarekha, which, however, did them no damage. These bridges have rendered available for traffic the two newly constructed roads on which they have been built.

23. No. 22, Singla to Nanglashwar Road.—This is a mere track. A few rupees were spent in smoothening it, and timber was bought with the remainder of the allotment of Rs. 100.

24. No. 23, Kuparee to Agarpara Road.—Smoothened and levelled.

25. No. 24, Sawaranjee to Koopur Road.—The same.

26. No. 25, Banaga to Tulpada Road.—This road was improved; holes were filled up, and breaches repaired.

27. Besides repairs to existing ferry boats, five new ones were built. A good flat-bottomed ferry boat was built for the Suburnarekha ferry at Kalikapore. Another, on the same pattern, was built at the side of the Trunk Road close to the Kansba bridges, and floated down stream into the Gumai river in October. It could not have been otherwise supplied, as it would have been impossible to cart it; the weather during the south-west monsoon would not have permitted its being conveyed by sea from Balasore, and the mouth of the Gomai is closed during the north-east monsoons. For the Guchida, north Baliapal, and south Baliapal ferries, new jolly-boats were built and carefully sheltered, so as to resist the teredos, which infest the Balasore ports and tidal rivers

28. On the whole, limited as our funds have been, the district communications have been kept in fair order, except the Busta and Baliapal road and the Bhuddruck and Chandbally roads. Of these two, the former will be reconstructed during the present season, and its reconstruction will not only confer a vast boon upon the traffic of the entire north-eastern portion of the district, but is absolutely essential for administrative purposes. The latter can only be adequately dealt with as a provincial work, and I trust you will see fit to support my frequent recommendations to that effect.

29. This district has had no Resident Engineer since the beginning of 1874, when the late Mr. McCleery was transferred on account of famine exigencies. Our working staff consists of two overseers at head-quarters, and a sub-overseer at the sub-division. So far, however as road cess works are concerned I find this establishment sufficient probability of road cess funds, even when the rate is doubled, as I hope will be the case next year, being adequate for the entertainment of an Executive Engineer.

30. I have already explained that the effect of the recently sanctioned alterations in the dates fixed for the payment of the cess in Orissa will be the reduction by one-half of the assets of the fund during the current year, and that the expenditure will be very largely increased by the debit against the fund of the cost of the land newly acquired by Government at Chandbally, in accordance with the orders of Government,—a charge which was wholly unexpected and unprovided for in the sanctioned estimates;—so that, without assistance, the payment of our establishment and the execution of the very moderate works of maintenance and repairs which have been sanctioned for the present year must involve the fund in a serious deficit. I have applied for the grant of a sum just sufficient to cover that deficit, and I await the orders of Government upon my application. Meanwhile the current year's sanctioned estimates are being carried out.

31. Suspicions of dishonesty having arisen against the late head clerk, Shama Churn Sircar, a searching investigation was held into the road cess accounts since the date of the introduction of the Act into this district. It was found that Shama Churn Sircar had embezzled eight separate sums, aggregating Rs. 793-10, and consisting partly of contingent charges on account of local printing work, and partly of allotments for village roads, which he had been ordered to draw and to remit to certain persons in the interior. Proper measures were at once taken to bring the offender to justice. He was sentenced to five years' rigorous imprisonment by the sessions court on the 18th June 1875.

32. The number of general meetings of the Committee during the year was thirteen. The attendance of the members was as follows:—

Names.	Number of meetings attended.	Names.	Number of meetings attended.
The Chairman ...	8	Baboo Prosonno Kumar Ghosal ...	11

33. In addition to the general meetings of the Committee, a standing Sub-Committee for the audit of accounts sit regularly on a fixed day, once a week, under the Vice-Chairman.

34. In conclusion, it is satisfactory to be able to state my opinion that the Road Cess Act is on the whole not unpopular. This is much to say of a new measure of taxation. The project of raising by local assessment funds for the maintenance of local communications is one of those simple and intelligible arrangements which commended themselves at once to the plain practical sense of the people. Every one understands the object of the tax, and the advantages to be gained by a judicious expenditure of its proceeds. A considerable amount of real lively personal interest in the subject has been awakened in persons who reside close to, or have business connections with, undertakings which have been successfully taken in hand. A great step has thus been gained, both towards the introduction of self-government, and towards the attainment of important material advantages. Experience shows that public spirit, and a disposition to interest themselves in affairs relating to the general welfare, are making a gradual and steady advance among the native gentlemen of this district; and I have frequently occasion to regret that some of those whose services on the Committee might be most useful reside too far off to permit of their attendance. There is one point in which an alteration in the Act would undoubtedly render it much more acceptable—for the present somewhat intricate and troublesome method of calculating the cess, a readier and simpler method should be substituted.

No. 320½RC, dated Camp Dhenkanalgurh, the 12th January 1876.

From—T. E. RAVENSHAW, ESQ., Commissioner of the Orissa Division,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

WITH reference to Government Circular No. 51 of 8th August 1874, and section 89 of the Road Cess Act, I have the honor to submit in original, for publication in the Calcutta Gazette, the annual reports and accounts of the District Road Fund of the several districts of this division for the cess year 1874-75, and to observe as follows.

2. The total receipts during the year in Cuttack, Pooree, and Balasore districts, including balance outstanding on 30th September 1874, and the grant-in-aid from provincial fund, amounted to Rs. 1,08,912-7-7 (vide divisional statement annexed); the total expenditure on original works, repairs, and establishment, &c., was Rs. 87,865-7-10, leaving a balance of Rs. 21,046-15-9 unexpended at close of the year.

3. The total receipts, expenditure, and balance of each district were as follows :—

1874-75.	Cuttack district.	Pooree district.	Balasore district.
	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.
Total receipts	60,661 6 5	26,321 1 5	21,929 15 9
Total expenditure ...	51,821 0 0	14,802 13 11	21,241 9 11
Balance at the close of the cess year 1874-75 on 30th September 1875	8,840 6 5	11,518 3 6	688 5 10

The balance unexpended in Pooree is large, because the Road Cess Committee had no proper and efficient working establishment. In future such large balances will not recur.

4. In Cuttack district the undermentioned original works were carried out :—

(1) Remodelling the first fifteen miles of the Chandbally road.
(2) A bridge on this road over Gobri Nullah with masonry piers, timbers, and iron girder superstructure.
(3) A road from Bhingharpore to Indpore, completing the line of communication between the two sub-divisional towns of Jajipore and Kendrapara.
(4) A road from Kendrapara to Marsaghye, opening up communication with False Point.
(5) A road from Salepore to Mahanga, acting as a feeder to the Chandbally road, and opening up a fertile and populous tract of country.
(6) Several small village roads, constructed with assistance of zemindars.
(7) Deepening shoal at mouth of Chota Bramhini river to keep open the rivers on which there is important boat traffic.
(8) A nursery or public garden at Chowleagunge.

5. The Chandbally road is most important both for traffic and passengers, and ought to be completed and kept in thorough repair. It runs through a country intersected by numerous drainage channels and canal distributaries. The Executive Engineer estimates completion of this road over the remaining 30 miles at a cost of Rs. 30,000, a sum beyond the power of the Road Cess Committee to set apart for it. The Committee are of opinion that this road should be made a provincial one. A proposition to this effect has been already disallowed by Government, and I fear it is not likely to be reconsidered.

6. The Collector gives the following account of Chowleagunge nursery :—

"During this, which is only the second year of its existence, the garden has already begun to be profitable. 1,916 trees have been sold to the Irrigation Department and others, realising the price of Rs. 246-5; 287 trees have been sent to Jajipore for planting on the roads in that sub-division, 100 to False Point, and 48 to Court of Wards' cutcherry compound at Kumika; 42 trees supplied for the General Hospital, and 58 for the Cuttack church compound; and about 1,600 trees have been planted on to the sides of six miles of the Taldunga road. These results are satisfactory as far as they go; but the difficulty in rearing trees when planted in Orissa is immense, as they are exposed to persistent depredations of cattle."

7. Repairs.—Necessary repairs were executed to every road in the district, and all roads are reported in fair order.

8. The Committee have worked fairly well during the year. I think their meetings might have been more frequent. The District Engineer, who is well spoken of in the Committee's report, has, I am sorry to say, fallen into evil ways since the close of the period under report, and his case has been submitted for orders of Government.

9. The works proposed to be done during 1875-76 by the Committee are detailed in the budget estimate for 1875-76, submitted with this office No. 225RC, dated 25th September 1875.

10. Pooree District.—Original Works.—The work done under this head has been confined to carrying on and completing what was begun in the previous year, viz.—

1st.—Remodelling and bridging the road from Khoorda to Piplee.
2nd.—Constructing a road from Balugaon on the Chilka to Banpore.
3rd.—Remodelling and repairing old stone bridge at Satyabadi.
4th.—Constructing a ferry boat for the Dhamra river on the Balighori and Madhub road.

11. Road No. 1 is an important line. It is 14 miles in length, and connects the town of Pooree and Khoorda sub-divisional station. From paragraph 6 of the Committee's annual report it appears that the remodelling of this road has cost Rs. 10,423-15-7. The Collector and Chairman of the Committee was asked to explain, with reference to paragraph 11 of Government Notification No. 173 of 7th May 1872, why no sanction of Government was obtained before the work was put in hand, or the instructions therein given were followed.

The Collector explains that construction of the road was at first sanctioned at Rs. 9,854 in 1872-73: hence no application was made for Government sanction. The work was commenced, and carried out agreeably to the estimates sanctioned, until the end of last year, when the flood of 1874 necessitated the construction of additional bridges, thus raising the expenditure to Rs. 10,423-15-7, i.e., Rs. 569-15-7 in excess of the original estimate. As the completion report of this road, showing excess expenditure above the estimate, came to hand at the end of the year 1874-75, it was laid before the Committee on the 2nd October, and the excess amount was paid on their approval.

12. Repairs.—The following roads, bungalows, and ferry boats, were completely repaired at a cost of Rs. 5,617-9-9, and Rs. 610-11-7 were expended in repairing village roads :—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Baghmari and Bolegurh road	1,111	1	3
Bhoorada and Kuntillo „	1,355	7	7
Piplee and Khoorda „	1,626	6	10

Balighai and Madhub „	899	9	11
Ferry boat at Konti	64	9	9
Total ...	5,617	9	9

13. Routes for new roads were surveyed as follows :—

(1) For road from Piplee viâ Nimapara to Kakatpur.
(2) „ „ Hurekristudpore viâ Bigpore to Astrang.

15. The Committees have held meetings regularly, and worked very well under the careful direction of Mr. Armstrong.

16. Balasore District.—No original work was undertaken in this district during the year under report. The total sanctioned allotment was expended on repairs, maintenance, and establishment, &c. The Committee's report describes fully the works executed, and the annual account shows the expenditure on each work. In the annual account a sum of Rs. 1,206-14-2 has been shown under head "Original works;" but the Collector explains that it represents an unadjusted balance remaining over from 1873-74, which was shown under advances outstanding in that year's account. The same remark applies to the item of Rs. 100 on account of clearing Dhamra towing-path, for which no provision was made in the budget for 1874-75.

17. The expenditure on following works differs from the appropriation made in the sanctioned budget owing to subsequent transfers of funds from one work to another, sanctioned by this office agreeably to paragraph 12 of Government Notification No. 173, dated 7th May 1872 :—

Repairs to distillery road.	Repairs to Bhudruck station roads.
„ Bustah to Balliapal.	„ Baliapal to Kamarda.
„ Balasore to Basoodepore.	„ Ferries.

18. For the works proposed to be done during 1875-76 the Collector reports as follows:—

"For the year 1875-76 the sum of Rs. 6,400 has been assigned to the maintenance and repair of roads other than village roads, Rs. 500 to the construction and repairs of ferry boats, and Rs. 500 to village roads. The sum of Rs. 6,400, applied to the maintenance and repairs of 149 miles of road (excluding the new Barripadda and Moraigdon road to be added during the current year), gives somewhat less than Rs. 43 per mile. With this sum it is not intended to attempt any new works, except a few small culverts on roads Nos. 2, 3, and 11. Excluding the cost of these, which will be slight, the whole of the allotment will be expended on repairs to masonry and wooden bridges, renewal of metalling, repairs to earthwork, and surface dressing."

19. In all districts, with increased funds, much useful work remains to be done. The Committees are well aware of this, and have only refrained from increasing the rate until a reasonable time has elapsed, and the people acquire confidence in the working of the law. It is probable that next season the higher rate of cess will be voted, and funds thus obtained for extended operations. I fully appreciate and approve of the caution which has characterised the Committee's proceedings in not too hastily imposing the full rate.

20. So far the road cess law has worked smoothly and well, and I believe that it has been accepted by all classes without serious objection, and is likely to prove a most popular and useful measure, not only in providing funds for local roads and improvements, but as affording zemindars a clear insight into their assets, and ryots and tenure-holders a useful record of their rights and rents: thus securing confidence between landholders and tenants, and materially improving zemindary management.

The value of land so estimated shall not include the value of any machinery thereupon.

Provided that all the unoccupied land, roads, and slopes of the Port Commissioners shall be rated at the rent for which the said land, roads, or slopes might be reasonably expected to let, in the same manner as if the said land, roads, and slopes were used for other than public purposes, and belonged to persons other than a public body, save and except the road extending from the northern boundary of the premises occupied by the East India Railway Company at Armenian Ghât to the Chitpore canal, and the road extending from the Chitpore road to the river Hooghly at Coomartollah Ghat, for a width not exceeding seventy feet and sixty feet respectively, which shall be exempted from assessment of any rate under this Act.

Annual value to be assessed by the Commissioners; assessment to remain in force for six years.

105. All assessments made by the Commissioners prior to the commencement of this Act shall remain in force during the period for which they were so made, and on the expiration of such assessments, the annual value at which any house or land is to be assessed shall be fixed by the Commissioners, and such house or land shall be assessed upon the value so fixed for six years from the date on which it is so fixed.

When substantial improvement made, Commissioners may re-assess.

Provided that if any substantial alteration and improvement shall be made, prior to the expiration of the said period of assessment, to the house or land which shall have been again assessed as aforesaid, the Commissioners may cause such house or land to be again assessed as under section one hundred and six.

Annual value assessed to be entered in a book

108. The annual value assessed by the Commissioners as hereinbefore provided, shall be entered in a book to be kept at the office of the Commissioners, wherein shall also be written in distinct columns—

(a) the name of the owner;

(c) a designation of the property, sufficient to identify the same, together with the name and number of the street (if any) in which it is situated;

(d) the amount of the rate assessed thereon; and

(e) the amount of the rate assessed on the house and on the land respectively, whenever any rate is payable by the owner of the land, and the said owner is not the owner of the house situated on the said land.

The book required to be kept under this section is hereinafter called the "assessment book."

When the name of the owner or occupier is not known, it shall be sufficient to designate him in the assessment book as the "owner" or "occupier."

New valuation or measurement to be made.

109. The Commissioners shall from time to time make a valuation or measurement of all houses and land within the Town, and for such purpose may divide the Town into such and so many districts as they may think fit, and proceed to make a separate valuation or measurement district by district, and shall enter the same in the assessment book.

Returns may be required for purpose of valuation.

110. The Commissioners may require the owner or occupier of any house or land, to furnish them with returns of the measurements and of the rent or annual value thereof; and the Commissioners or any person authorized by them in that behalf, may at any time between the hour of seven in the forenoon and sunset enter on, and inspect, survey, and measure such house or land, after giving a notice in writing of not less than twenty-four hours.

Penalty.

111. Whoever refuses or fails to furnish any such return for the space of one week from the day on which he shall have been required so to do, or knowingly makes a false or incorrect return, and whoever hinders, obstructs, or prevents any Commissioner or any person appointed by the Commissioners as aforesaid, from entering or inspecting or measuring any such house or land, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees for every such offence.

Public notice of valuation and measurement to be given.

112. When the valuation or measurement of any of the districts of the Town, into which it may have been divided by the Commissioners, shall have been completed, the Commissioners shall give public notice thereof, and of the place where the assessment book, or a copy thereof, may be inspected, by advertisement in at least two of the English daily newspapers, and in two vernacular newspapers, published within the Town, and also by placards posted up in conspicuous places throughout such district of the Town; and the person in whose custody the assessment book may be, shall permit every person being the owner or occupier of any house or land included in the assessment or measurement, or the agent of such owner or occupier, to inspect the book and to make extracts therefrom without payment of any fee, and every person not being such owner or occupier, to inspect and make extracts, in like manner, on payment of a fee of one rupee.

Notice when valuation made for first time or increased.

113. The Commissioners shall, in all cases in which any house or land is for the first time assessed, or in which the valuation or measurement of any house or land previously assessed is increased, give special notice thereof to the owners or occupiers of the same, and when the valuation is increased as aforesaid, the said notice shall state the grounds of such increase.

Appeals.

114. Appeals against any assessment made by the Commissioners under this Chapter shall lie

(a) to not less than three Commissioners, other than executive officers of the Commissioners; or

(b) to the Court of Small Causes.

In any case of an appeal to the Court of Small Causes under this section the said Court may follow the procedure laid down in sections three hundred and fifty-four and three hundred and fifty-five.

Notice to be given by person appealing.

115. Any person desiring to appeal against any assessment made under this chapter, shall, within fifteen days of the publication of the notice referred to in section one hundred and twelve deliver at the office of the Commissioners a notice in writing, stating the grounds of appeal, and also informing the Commissioners whether he intends to appeal under clause (a) or (b) of the last preceding section.

No appeal shall lie as hereinbefore provided unless the amount of the house-rate for one quarter, under the assessment about to expire, has been deposited with the Commissioners; and unless the appeal is preferred by the person who, at the time the appeal is made, shall be recorded in the said book as the owner of the house or land to which the appeal refers, or by the occupier thereof, or by the agent of either of them.

Notice of day for hearing appeals.

116. The Commissioners shall give notice of a day, not being less than fifteen days from the publication of such notice, when they will proceed to hear the appeals under clause (a) of section one hundred and fourteen.

Every appeal under clause (b) of the said section shall be presented to the Small Cause Court within seven days from the date of the delivery of the notice at the office of the Commissioners under the last preceding section.

Assessments to be entered in assessment book.

118. The assessments made by the Commissioners, subject to such alterations as may from time to time thereafter be duly made on appeal, shall be entered in the assessment book, and the rate calculated on the said assessment shall, subject to such alterations as aforesaid, be deemed to be the rate for the whole period for which the assessment is made, and this period shall be calculated from the commencement of the quarter next succeeding that in which any such amendment shall be so authenticated; and until such date the old assessment shall continue in force, notwithstanding that the period for which the old assessment was made may have expired.

Alteration or amendment of assessment.

119. The Chairman or Vice-Chairman may at any time amend the assessment book by inserting therein the name of any person whose name ought to be so inserted, or by inserting any house or land liable to the rate, after giving notice, to any person interested in the making of the amendment, of a day, not being less than fifteen days from the date of the service of such notice, when such amendment is to be made; or by striking out the name of any person or any house or land not liable to the rate, or reducing the amount of the assessment, without notice:

and if any amendment shall be made, in cases where notice is required, the same shall be deemed to have been made on the expiration of fifteen days after service of the said notice; and any person interested in such amendment may appeal by application in writing to the Commissioners, to be left at their office three clear days before the day fixed in the said notice for such amendment; and the provisions of sections one hundred and fourteen, one hundred and fifteen, one hundred and sixteen, and one hundred and seventeen, shall, so far as may be practicable, apply to such appeal.

New assessment book need not be prepared every six years.

120. It shall not be necessary to prepare a new assessment book at the expiration of each period of assessment, but the Commissioners in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may adopt the valuation or measurement and assessment contained in any assessment book for any previous period, with such alterations as may in particular cases be deemed necessary, as the valuation, or measurement and assessment for the period next following;

Provided that sections one hundred and ten to one hundred and eighteen (both inclusive) shall, as far as may be practicable, be applicable to such valuation or measurement and assessment, and to the assessment book or books in which it is contained.

OF LEVYING THE RATES.

Bills to be presented.

121. When any rate is due, the Commissioners shall cause to be presented, to the person liable to the payment thereof, a bill for the sum due, which shall also contain a statement of the period, and a description of the property, for which the rate is charged.

Provided that whenever any rate is payable by the owner of the land, and the said owner is not the owner of the house situated on the said land, the assessment on the land and on the house shall be separately entered in the said bill.

Notice of demand.

122. If the bill is not paid by the person liable to pay the same within seven days from the presentation thereof, the Commissioners may cause to be served upon such person a notice of demand, in the form contained in the fourth schedule, or to the like effect; and if he shall not, within seven days from the service of such notice of demand, pay the sum due, or show sufficient cause, to the satisfaction of the Commissioners, for non-payment of the same, such sum, with all costs, may be levied by distress and sale of the moveable property of the defaulter, or if the defaulter be the occupier of any house or land in respect of which a rate is due, by distress and sale of any moveable property found on the house or land, under a warrant in the form contained in the fifth schedule, or to the like effect, to be issued for that purpose by the Commissioners.

Distress.

For every notice of demand under this section which the Commissioners shall cause to be served upon any person, a fee, not exceeding one rupee, shall be paid by such person.

Such fee shall be added to the amount of the rate in respect of which the notice is given, and, if not duly paid, shall be levied in the same manner as such rate may be levied.

Inventory—notice of distress.

123. The officer charged with the execution of a warrant of distress under the last preceding section shall make an inventory of the moveable property seized under such warrant, and shall at the time give a notice in writing, in the form contained in the sixth schedule, or to the like effect, to the person in possession thereof at the time of the seizure, that the said moveable property will be sold as therein mentioned.

Sale.

124. If the warrant is not in the meantime discharged or suspended by the Commissioners, the moveable property seized shall be sold under the orders of the Commissioners, who shall apply the proceeds, or such part thereof as may be necessary, in discharge of the said arrears and costs; and the surplus, if any, shall be returned, on demand, to the person in possession of the moveable property at the time of the seizure.

All sales of property under this section shall, so far as may be practicable, be regulated by the procedure now in force, or hereafter to be in force, in the Court of Small Causes with respect to sale after distress.

Fees shall be payable upon distraints under this Act according to the rates set forth in the Table of Fees in the sixth schedule.

All officers and servants of the Corporation are prohibited from purchasing any property at any such sale.

Goods of defaulter, wherever found, may be distrained.

125. The moveable property of any person from whom any rate is due may be distrained, wherever the same may be found, for default in payment of the money due from him.

Rate due from owner may be recovered from occupier, and deducted by him from his rent.

126. If the sum due on account of any rate from the owner of any house or land remains unpaid after notice of demand has been duly served, the Commissioners may demand the amount from the occupier for the time being of the house or land, and, on non-payment thereof, may recover the same by distress and sale of any moveable property found on the house or land, and, in such case, the occupier may deduct, from the next and following payments of his rent, the amount which may be so paid by, or recovered from, him.

Provided that no arrear of rate, which has remained due from the owner of any house or land for more than one year, shall be so recovered from the occupier thereof.

Distress not unlawful for want of form.

127. No distress levied under this Act shall be deemed unlawful, nor shall any party making the same be deemed a trespasser, on account of any defect or want of form in the notice, schedule, summons, notice of demand, warrant of distress, inventory, or other proceeding relating thereto, nor shall such party be deemed a trespasser on account of any irregularity committed by him; but all persons aggrieved by such irregularity may recover full satisfaction for any special damage sustained by them in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Commissioners may sue, instead of proceeding by distress.

128. Instead of proceeding by distress and sale, or in case of failure to realize by distress and sale the whole or any part of the sum due in respect of any rate, the Commissioners may sue the person liable to pay the same in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

OF THE WATER-SUPPLY.

The Commissioners to provide water-supply.

129. The Commissioners shall provide a supply of water within the Town, and shall for that purpose cause such mains and pipes to be laid, and such tanks, reservoirs, or other works to be made and constructed, as shall be necessary for the supply of filtered water in all the chief public streets of the Town, and shall also erect, in all such streets, sufficient and convenient stand-pipes or pumps for the gratuitous use of the inhabitants of the Town for domestic purposes.

The said stand-pipes or pumps shall be so placed that there shall not be any portion of any such chief street at a greater distance than one hundred and fifty yards from some such stand-pipe or pump.

131. The Commissioners shall, between the hours of six in the forenoon and nine in the afternoon, so far as may be reasonably practicable, keep and maintain in their pipes and mains a sufficient supply of filtered water under a pressure of not less than ten feet for the domestic use of the rate-payers, and shall daily, from the hour of seven in the forenoon to nine in the forenoon, and from the hour of five in the afternoon to six in the afternoon, maintain a pressure of water in the service pipes and mains sufficient to raise the water in all houses and places in which the same may be introduced, to a height of not less than fifty feet.

Supply for business.

132. The Commissioners may supply water through a meter, for purposes other than domestic purposes, provided that the person requiring such supply make application to the Commissioners in writing, specifying the purpose for which such supply is required and the quantity likely to be consumed.

The Commissioners may thereupon, subject to such charges or rates as may have been fixed by the Commissioners in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, lay down, or allow to be laid down, the necessary communication-pipes and works, of such dimensions and character as may be fixed by the Commissioners.

The occupier of every house shall be entitled to have, free of further charge, fifteen hundred gallons of filtered water for every rupee paid to the Commissioners as water-rate on account of such house, to be supplied from the service pipes of the Commissioners for domestic use through a ferrule of such size as the Commissioners may determine. If the Commissioners have reason to believe that the occupier of any house consumes more filtered water than he is entitled to as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the Commissioners to provide a water-meter at their own expense, and attach the same to the water-pipes of the said house; and any water which may be used over and above the quantity to which the occupier is entitled as aforesaid shall be paid for by him at the rate of one rupee for every fifteen hundred gallons.

Provided that no charge shall be made by the Commissioners for unfiltered water supplied under the next succeeding section.

Nothing contained in the first clause of this section shall apply to houses assessed at less than twelve hundred rupees per annum.

Communication-pipes, &c., to be made of required dimensions and at expense of householder.

136. Every person paying the water-rate hereinbefore mentioned shall be entitled to lay down communication-pipes from the service pipes of the Commissioners, for bringing into his house or land a reasonable supply of water for domestic use: provided that the Commissioners shall be at liberty to cut off the supply of water to any house or land during the time the said house or land is unoccupied.

Such communication-pipes, works, and fittings may be made by the servants and workmen of the Commissioners, upon such terms as may be agreed upon between the Commissioners and the person requiring the supply, or subject to such charges as may be fixed by the Commissioners; and the Commissioners may require the amount necessary for the execution of such works to be paid or deposited before such works are executed; and such charges and expenses shall be recoverable in the same manner as the water-rate.

The Officer authorized in that behalf by the Commissioners may, between the hours of seven in the forenoon and five in the afternoon, enter into or on any house or land supplied with water as aforesaid in order to examine all pipes, works, and fittings, connected with the supply of water, and to ascertain if there be any waste or misuse of such water; and if such Officer at any such time be refused admittance into such house or land for the purposes aforesaid, or be prevented from making such examination as aforesaid, the Commissioners may forthwith turn off the water from such house or land.

When pipes are out of repair, Commissioners may turn off water.

139. In the event of any pipes, works, or fittings connected with the supply of water to any house or land, being at any time found on examination by any officer of the Commissioners authorized in that behalf to be out of repair to such an extent as to cause any waste of water, the Commissioners may cause the water to be turned off from such house or land, after giving notice in writing of not less than twenty-four hours, and may recover the expense incurred for turning off the water from the occupier of such house or land.

Water may be cut off on neglect to pay the rate.

140. If any person supplied with water shall neglect to pay the water-rate hereinbefore mentioned at any of the times of payment thereof, or the charge made for the said water when supplied for other than domestic purposes, the Commissioners may turn off the water from the house or land in respect of which such rate or charge is payable, by cutting off the pipe to such house or land, or by such means as the Commissioners may think fit, and may recover the expenses of turning off the water from such person;

Provided that the stopping or cutting off the supply of water shall not relieve any person from any penalties or liabilities which he may otherwise have incurred.

155. There shall be payable to the Commissioners in respect of every such reference a fee at the rate of two rupees for every hundred rupees of the monthly rent of the house or land in respect of the water-supply to which the difference may have arisen:

Provided that such fee shall in no case exceed ten rupees, and shall be paid by the person making the reference.

Power of recovery by owner of sums payable.

157. Any owner to whom any sum is payable under sections one hundred and fifty and one hundred and fifty-one, may recover such sum from the person liable to pay the same as if the same were rent payable by such person for the house in respect of which the expenses have been incurred.

wilfully does any act connected with the said business whereby the water in any stream, tank, reservoir, well, cistern, conduit, aqueduct, or other water-works belonging to the Commissioners is fouled or corrupted, the Commissioners may, after twenty-four hours' notice in writing, lay open and examine any pipes, conduits, and works belonging to such person; and if, upon such examination, it appears that the water has been fouled or corrupted by anything proceeding from, or contained in, the pipes, conduits, or works examined, the expenses of such examination shall be paid by the person to whom such pipes, conduits, or works belong, or under whose management or control they may be;

but if it appear that the water has not been so fouled or corrupted, then such expenses, and all damages occasioned by the examination, shall be paid by the Commissioners.

Application of rates and monies received from the supply of water.

160. The water-rate and all monies collected, received, or recovered for or in respect of the supply of water or the execution of works, and all fines connected therewith, or in any respect relating to the water-supply, shall be applied by the said Commissioners in defraying the expense of making, extending, or maintaining the water-works,

The amount of the estimates passed shall, after deducting therefrom such amount as may from time to time be allowed by the Government from the General Revenues towards the maintenance of the Police Force, be paid to the Local Government, or to such Officer as the Local Government may from time to time direct, by the Commissioners out of the annual proceeds of the Police rate; and it shall not be lawful for the Commissioners to expend from the said proceeds any sums for purposes other than those provided in the Budget of the Commissioner of Police and duly sanctioned by the Local Government under section one hundred and sixty-three.

PART V.—Of Sanitary Measures with regard to Blocks of Huts.

Power of Commissioners as to inspection of huts.

280. Whenever the Commissioners in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, are satisfied, from inspection, or by report of competent persons, that any existing block of huts in the Town is, by reason of the manner in which the huts are constructed or crowded together, or of the want of drainage and the impracticability of scavengering, attended with risk of disease to the inhabitants or the neighbourhood, they may cause the locality to be inspected by two medical officers, who shall make a report in writing on the sanitary condition of the said block of huts, and shall specify, if necessary, in the said report the huts which should be removed, the roads, drains, and sewers which should be constructed, and the low lands which should be filled up, with a view to the removal of the said risk of disease.

281. On receipt of the said report the Commissioners in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may cause a notice to be served upon the owners or occupiers of the huts, or at the option of the Commissioners, the owner of the land on which such huts are built, requiring them to carry out and execute, within a reasonable time, to be fixed by the Commissioners for such purpose, all or any of the works specified in the aforesaid report, or any portion thereof respectively.

On receipt of report Commissioners may cause notice to be served.

282. If after the service of the said notice, such owners or occupiers, or the owner of the land, shall refuse or neglect to carry out and execute the said works within the time appointed, the Commissioners may cause all or any of the said works, or any portion thereof respectively, to be executed, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner of the land.

Commissioners may carry out works if owners or occupiers refuse.

The Court of Small Causes shall be deemed a competent court for that purpose.

284. In case the Commissioners should omit to take any action under sections two hundred and eighty or two hundred and eighty-one, or in the opinion of the Local Government should fail to give effect to the provisions thereof, the Local Government may cause any block of huts to be inspected by the Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal, who shall make a report in writing to the Local Government on the sanitary condition of the locality and, in the event of his reporting that the sanitary condition of the locality is such as to be attended with risk of disease to the inhabitants or the neighbourhood, shall specify the huts which should be removed; the roads, drains, and sewers which should be constructed, and the low lands which should be filled up, with a view to the removal of the said risk of disease.

If Commissioners fail to act, Local Government may take steps.

285. On receipt of the said report the Local Government may order the Commissioners to serve a notice on the owners or occupiers of the huts, or on the owner of the land on which such huts are built, requiring them to carry out and execute within a reasonable time to be fixed by the Local Government for such purpose, all or any of the works specified in the said report, or any portion thereof respectively; and upon service of the said notice the Commissioners may proceed as provided in section two hundred and eighty-two, and shall be liable to all or any of the obligations imposed upon them by section two hundred and eighty-three.

On receipt of report Local Government may order Commissioners to serve notice on owners.

286. If the Commissioners make default in carrying out the said order of the Local Government, the Local Government may appoint some officer to perform the same, and such officer may exercise such of the powers conferred upon the Commissioners by sections two hundred and eighty-one and two hundred and eighty-two, as are necessary for the execution of the said works, and shall be liable to all or any of the obligations imposed upon the Commissioners by section two hundred and eighty-three, and the expenses incurred by such officer in the execution of the said works shall be paid by the owner of the land.

If Commissioners make default in carrying out order, Local Government may carry it out.

Provided that the Local Government may order the expenses so incurred to be recovered by instalments from the said owner, or if it should appear to the Local Government that the said owner is by reason of poverty unable to pay the same, may order the same or any portion thereof to be paid out of the Municipal Fund.

Expenses may be recovered by instalments or remitted in case of poverty.

348. Whenever any prosecution shall be instituted before any Justice of the Peace under this Act, he may summon the person charged to appear at a time and place to be mentioned in the summons; and if such person shall not so appear, such Justice of the Peace may, upon proof of service of the summons, if no sufficient cause shall be shown for the non-appearance of the person charged, proceed to hear and determine the case in his absence.

Such Justice of the Peace may exercise all such powers connected with the summoning, and enforcement of the attendance, of witnesses, and the production of documents, as are conferred on a Magistrate by the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, or any other Act for the time being in force for regulating the procedure of the Police Magistrates' Courts in Calcutta.

MOFUSSIL MUNICIPALITIES.

ON the motion of the HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER the Council proceeded to the further consideration of the Bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to Municipalities.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier said, since the last meeting of the Council the Chairman of the Justices had suggested to him the propriety of inserting in the Bill certain sections taken from the Calcutta Municipal Bill to provide for the more efficient registration of deaths. It was considered that these sections would be found useful in such municipalities as the suburbs of Calcutta, Howrah, Dacca, Patna, and Moorshedabad, and they would be made applicable only to such municipalties as required their introduction. He therefore moved the insertion of the following sections after section 279 :—

"279*a*.—The Lieutenant-Governor may require the Commissioners of any municipality to appoint and maintain at each burning ghât and native burial-ground a sub-registrar for the registration of all corpses brought to such burning ghât or burial-ground for cremation or interment.

279*b*.—Whenever a sub-registrar shall have been appointed for any burning ghât or burial-ground under the last preceding section, information of the particulars required by section 8 of the said Bengal Act IV of 1873 to be known and registered may be given in respect of the death of any person whose body is brought to such burning ghât or burial-ground for cremation or interment to such sub-registrar, and information so given shall be deemed to be information given to the registrar of the district as required by the said section.

279*c*.—Whenever a death shall occur in any hospital within the limits of any municipality in respect of which the Lieutenant-Governor has directed that all deaths shall be registered under the said Bengal Act IV of 1873, it shall be the duty of the medical officer in charge of such hospital forthwith to send a notice in writing of the occurrence of such death to the Commissioners in such form as the Lieutenant-Governor may prescribe; and in such case no other person shall be required to give information of such death to a registrar or sub-registrar under this Act.

279*d*.—Within the limits of any municipality in respect of which the Lieutenant-Governor has directed that all deaths shall be registered under the said Bengal Act IV of 1873, it shall not be lawful for any sexton, keeper of a cemetery, burial-ground, or burning ghât to bury, burn, or allow to be buried or burnt any corpse, unless the said corpse is accompanied by a certificate of the death in such form as the Lieutenant-Governor may direct, and signed by the registrar of the district, or by the sub-registrar appointed under section 279*b*, or by a medical officer.

279*e*.—Whoever buries, burns, or allows to be buried or burnt a corpse without the certificate mentioned in the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees."

The Hon'ble Baboo Kristodas Pal said he entirely concurred with the hon'ble mover as to the necessity of making arrangements for the registration of deaths in first class municipalities. These sections appeared to be copied from the Calcutta Bill, but he thought sections (d) and (e) might well be omitted without in any way impairing the efficiency of arrangements for registration. Section (d) required that no corpse should be buried or burnt without a certificate, and section (e) prescribed the penalty for not complying with that provision. It was well known that in the mofussil the persons likely to be employed as registrars would be persons generally on small pay, and he was afraid that this power might be converted into a source of extortion. Sections (d) and (e) were in his opinion not absolutely necessary, and he would therefore suggest their omission. The state of things in Calcutta was different. Here people were well able to protect themselves, and public opinion was also strong. He could not too strongly urge that those two sections were superfluous so far as the mofussil was concerned, and might be converted into an engine of extortion.

The Hon'ble Sir Stuart Hogg observed that he was unable to follow the argument of the hon'ble member. He was unable to see why the requiring of a certificate should in any way facilitate the exaction of illegal fees from the friends of the deceased. There must be always at each burning ghât a person to look after it, and he did not see why the mere fact of a corpse being accompanied by a certificate should in any way facilitate extortion.

The Hon'ble Baboo Juggadanund Mookerjee concurred with the hon'ble mover of the amendment that to require a certificate would not only be a hardship upon the poor, but lead to extortion. In the interior of the mofussil there were no burning ghâts in the sense in which the term was known; it was only where the Ganges ran that burning ghâts existed. To require a certificate would be a great hardship, because in the mofussil very few people were in a position to call in the aid of a medical man professionally, and when they did do so, the medical man generally left before death ensued. He therefore thought that these sections (d) and (e) would not only act as a hardship, but would be an instrument in the hands of registrars and others of extortion upon the poor.

The HON'BLE BABOO RAMSHUNKER SEN instanced the burning ghâts at Chogdah, Santipore, and Dacca, and in order to meet the objection raised as to abuse of authority, he would suggest the addition of a penal section to the effect that any sub-registrar who received any gratification or fee, or who failed to register a death, should be fined.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said the gist of his objection had not been fully understood by the hon'ble member on his right (Sir Stuart Hogg). It was true that these sections would not be absolutely extended to all municipalities, but only to those which were so far advanced as to admit of the registration of deaths. But what he wished to impress upon the Council was that the persons likely to be appointed sub-registrars would generally be appointed upon small pay, and might convert their power into a source of extortion; they might charge persons with suspicious deaths, and so forth, and thus put people to no end of annoyance at a time when their feelings ought to be scrupulously respected. This was most likely to happen, knowing as we did that in the mofussil little men dressed in brief authority were but too apt to turn their authority into a source of gain. He thought the legislature ought to hesitate before they multiplied opportunities for gain for such persons.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER observed that after what had been said it appeared to him that the two sections which had been objected to would be so excessively unpopular that he would consent to withdraw them.

The HON'BLE SIR STUART HOGG said that he was entirely opposed to the withdrawal of these sections. It was well known that people were opposed to the registration of deaths, and it seemed to him very necessary that some steps should be taken to compel them to do so: they might either go to the sub-registrar for registering deaths, or the deaths might be registered at the spot where the corpse was to be interred or burnt, and he would make it incumbent on municipalities to keep up these sub-registrars. Surely it was not too much to ask the friends of a deceased person to go to the sub-registrar to register the death, and obtain a certificate that the registration had been duly effected; they could then produce the certificate, show it to the officer in charge of the burial-ground or burning ghât, and bury or burn the corpse as the case might be. He thought that no hardship was likely to arise from passing these sections, and he was therefore entirely opposed to their being omitted. The same law existed in Calcutta, and as the matter was very important, he thought the law in the suburbs should be the same: it was not proposed to extend these sections throughout Bengal, but only to such places as the Lieutenant-Governor might think fit.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said there was already a general law for the registration of births and deaths applicable to the whole of Bengal—Act IV of 1873 of this Council. All that he gathered from the hon'ble mover was that certain facilities should be given in some of the mofussil municipalities for the registration of deaths: these would consist in the employment of sub-registrars at burial-grounds and burning ghâts. He did not know whether there were many first class municipalities which were in a position to employ sub-registrars at different places, for if sub-registrars were appointed at the rate of even ten rupees a month, the establishment would swallow up some five hundred rupees, which few first class municipalities could afford to pay. He therefore thought it would not be desirable to introduce these sections, except in the most wealthy municipalities. But wherever Act IV of 1873 might be in force, it appeared to him that it was not necessary to impose additional obligations, such as the production of a certificate, on persons who might carry a corpse to be buried or burnt. The inconvenience, annoyance, and harassment which might be caused by the sub-registrars in regard to the granting of certificates had been acknowledged by the hon'ble mover of the Bill, and he hoped therefore that sections (d) and (e) would be omitted.

After some further conversation sections 279*d* and 279*e* were withdrawn, and 279*a*, 279*b*, and 279*c* were agreed to, with the addition to section 279*b* of the words—"Section 9 of Bengal Act IV of 1873 shall be applicable to every sub-registrar appointed under this Act."

PARTITION OF ESTATES.

On the motion of the Hon'ble Mr. Dampier the Bill to make better provision for the partition of estates was further considered in order to the settlement of its clauses.

Section 48 provided that the civil court might order the parties to pay expenses incurred in dividing an estate.

On the motion of the Hon'ble Mr. Dampier the following words were added to the section:—

"and the Collector shall levy the expenses and fees from the parties in the proportion ordered by the civil court in the same manner and by the same means as if the levy of such expenses and fees had been ordered by the Collector."

On the motion of the Hon'ble Mr. Dampier the following sections were substituted for section 113; and sections 112, 113, 113*a*, and 113*b* were transposed so as to come immediately after section 94:—

"113.—When the aggregate of two or more shares equals one other share, or equals the aggregate of two or more other shares, the Deputy Collector, with the sanction of the Collector, may cause such aggregate shares to be treated as one share for the purpose of determining by lots as aforesaid which portion of the parent estate shall be assigned to each proprietor as his separate estate;

"and may decide which shares shall be formed into one aggregate share for the purpose of causing such lots to be drawn;

"and may cause lots to be drawn in like manner as often as he shall think proper for such purpose.

"And after lots shall have been drawn once (or more than once if necessary) as aforesaid, the Deputy Collector shall proceed to divide the portion of the parent estate which has fallen by lot to each aggregate share among the proprietors of the different shares which were formed into such aggregate share for the purpose of drawing lots, and shall assign to every such proprietor his separate estate within such portion in such position as the Deputy Collector may think proper.

"Provided that lots shall in no case be drawn until after full opportunity shall have been given to the proprietors to advance their objections in respect of the papers accepted as the basis of the partition and of the assets of the different lands as stated in such papers, and until such objections which may have been made shall have been disposed of.

Section 113*a*.—The Deputy Collector may, by a notice served as prescribed in section 131, require any proprietor in respect of whose share lots are to be drawn as provided in either of the two last preceding sections, to attend at the office of the Deputy Collector in person or by authorized agent at a time to be fixed by the Deputy Collector for the purpose of drawing lots;

"and may similarly require the proprietors of any shares which he may have ordered to be formed into an aggregate share for the purpose of drawing lots, jointly to appoint an agent duly authorized to draw lots on their joint behalf; and if at the time fixed for drawing such lots such proprietors have failed to agree to any such joint appointment, and shall fail to cause the attendance of an agent so authorized to act jointly for all such proprietors, all such proprietors shall be deemed to have failed to comply with the Collector's requisition.

"113*b*.—Whenever any proprietor or proprietors shall have failed to comply with a requisition of the Deputy Collector as made under the last preceding section, the Deputy Collector may appoint a person to draw lots on behalf of such proprietor, or on the joint behalf of such proprietors who shall have so failed."

On the motion of the Hon'ble Mr. Dampier the following clause was introduced after clause (d) of section 138:—

"(*d*1) fixing under section 87 the limits of land, or the rents to be paid for land."

And the following clause was introduced after clause (f) of section 139:—

"(*f*1) fixing under section 87 the limits of land, or the rent to be paid for land."

The Hon'ble Baboo Ramshunker Sen moved the introduction of the following section after section 145:—

"Section 145*a*.—The provisions of this Act may also, so far as they are applicable, be applied under orders of the Board or of a court of competent jurisdiction, to the partition of any landed property comprised in any tenure or holding of a permanent and transferable nature held directly under Government and subject to the payment of a fixed amount of rent.

"Provided that if the result of such partition would be to form separate holdings, whereby the area of each is reduced below five kátás, no application for such partition shall be entertained until all the holders thereof agree to redeem the amount of Government revenue for which each separate holding would be liable, by the payment of such sum as the Lieutenant-Governor may fix with reference to the circumstances of the Government estate within which the tenure or holding is situated."

After some conversation it was agreed that section 145 of the Bill should be omitted, and the Hon'ble Baboo Ramshunker Sen's motion was by leave withdrawn.

Section 104 provided as follows:—

"Wherever the Deputy Collector shall find in the parent estate lands which are actually held rent-free (whether the proprietors of the estate do or do not claim a right to receive rent from such lands), the Deputy Collector shall make a division or assignment of such lands among the separate estates, but shall specify in the partition papers and proceedings that such lands are left appertaining jointly to all the separate estates which are formed out of the parent estate, in the proportion which each separate estate bears to the parent estate."

The Hon'ble Baboo Kristodas Pal moved the substitution of the word "a" for "no" before the words "division or assignment;" and the omission of all the words from the words "but shall specify" to the end of the section.

After some conversation the motion was put and negatived.

REGISTRATION OF ESTATES.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier moved that the further Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to provide for the registration of revenue-paying estates and revenue-free lands, which was presented to the Council at the last meeting, be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill. He said the Committee had consulted several officers, most of whom were strongly of opinion that the Collector, instead of the civil court, should be allowed to decide questions of disputed succession. The Committee had therefore provided that the Collector might either himself decide the question of right to possession after summary inquiry, or might refer the question for summary decision by the civil court, if he considered that the dispute might more properly be so determined. If he found that only vexatious or frivolous objections were taken, he would probably decide the question himself. But if the right to succession depended upon an intricate title, the Collector would no doubt refer the question for the decision of the civil court.

Then the Bill provided that a proprietor who did not apply for registration within the time prescribed should be punished. Now, by section 65, which was an expediency section, the Committee had provided that although the proprietor incurred the penalty by not applying within the prescribed time, the penalty should not be enforced if he came in of his own motion even after the prescribed time, but before the Collector began to take action against him to enforce registration. That would hold out an inducement to proprietors to come in for registration even after the time fixed.

Then the Committee had introduced a new Part V, which made some amendments in the provisions of Act XI of 1859, as to the opening of separate accounts of land revenue for shares of estates. These amendments were made to meet a difficulty which had suggested itself in connection with the Bill for the partition of estates. Under the registration sections of Act XI of 1859, a person holding a share of an estate might require a separate account of his share to be kept, and if the estate fell into arrears, his share would not be liable to sale unless the sale of the other shares failed to cover the amount of such arrears. But when once a separate account had been opened there was no provision for ever closing it. If four shareholders, each of a four-annas share in an estate, all applied for the opening of separate accounts, the accounts would be opened for each; but if subsequently these shares became broken up and re-amalgamated, so that the estate consisted, say, of one nine-annas and one seven-annas share, the separate accounts for the four four-annas shares must remain on the register, although this distribution no longer represented the existing distribution of the proprietors' interest.

As Act XI of 1859 stood, there was no power to close such an account when once opened. The Committee had therefore provided how an account might be closed and new accounts might be opened to represent a re-arranged distribution of the interests in an estate.

Then, in section 71, the Committee had taken the opportunity of legalizing a practice which had been followed by Collectors under Act XI of 1859, but which was not authorized by that law, and which might lead to legal difficulties. Under section 10 of Act XI of 1859, a proprietor who was a joint-sharer in common tenancy over the whole estate might have a separate account opened, and under section 11 a proprietor who was the entire owner of specific lands might have an account opened. But a man who was neither the owner of a fractional undivided share over the whole estate, nor the entire owner of specific lands of any part of an estate, but who was the owner of an undivided fractional share only in certain specific lands, (and not extending over the whole estate,) could not have a separate account opened under Act XI of 1859. Section 71 of this Bill made provision for opening separate accounts in respect of such composite interests.

Then, in sections 73-75 the Committee had provided that the Collector should furnish an extract from the register showing how the registered interests stood on any particular date, and that whenever any change was made in the registers in the names of the proprietors or managers of an estate, or in the extent of their interest, the Collector should give the greatest publicity to such change throughout the estate. The object of these provisions was in connection with sections 76 and 77, which were very important sections. They gave indemnity to a person who paid rent to a joint proprietor holding in common tenancy in proportion to the extent of interest in respect of which such proprietor was registered, and relieved the tenant from liability to pay rent to any proprietor in excess of such proportion; and as a necessary adjunct to the above, the Committee had re-introduced the provision that no person should be bound to pay rent to a proprietor who was required to cause his name to be registered under the Act, unless his name should have been so registered, or unless his application for registration was pending. When the Bill was originally referred to the Select Committee, there was a section in it that no person should be bound to pay rent to any proprietor who was not registered; the object then was to apply an additional impetus to induce proprietors to register. The Select Committee had, when they first reported the Bill to Council, omitted that provision as unnecessary. But they had now re-introduced it with quite a different object. It was now introduced as a complement to the section which gave the tenant indemnity for payments made in accordance with registered interests. If the Council retained this provision in the Bill, the other provision relieving the tenant from the obligation to pay to an unregistered proprietor was an unavoidable adjunct to it.

The Committee had provided that whenever any sum of money should be payable by the Collector to the proprietors of any estate or revenue-free property jointly, he might pay to any one or more registered proprietors thereof such portion of the sum payable as was in proportion to the extent of their registered interests, and the Bill gave the Collector an indemnity for payments so made, as in the case of tenants paying rent.

The Committee had also saved the conditions of written contracts, and had provided that the time required for obtaining copies of the orders complained against should be deducted in computing the time allowed for appeals under the Act.

"Provided that such clauses of this Act as require the registration of the extent of interest possessed by any proprietor shall not come into force in any district until they shall have been specially extended thereto by an order of the Lieutenant-Governor published in the Calcutta Gazette."

He said, when this measure came before the Council on the 12th February last, the Bill had been but a very short time, he thought only a few hours, in his hands, and he had therefore then deferred any remarks he might have to offer upon the changes which had been made in the Bill during its passage through the Select Committee. He had wished to have further time for the consideration of those changes, and also to hear what might be said by the hon'ble mover in favor of them. Amongst the most important of these changes, as it seemed to him, was the introduction of a provision for the registration of the extent of interest of the proprietors of estates.

He need not remind the Council that this provision formed no part of the Bill as originally introduced and as referred to the Select Committee. It was altogether foreign to the scope and purpose of the Bill, and no mention of it was to be found in the Statement of objects and reasons drawn up by the hon'ble mover: in fact, he believed he was correct in saying that the hon'ble mover himself had originally been opposed to the introduction of these clauses into the Bill. They had been introduced into the Bill during its passage through Select Committee on the recommendation (he believed) of the hon'ble member opposite (Baboo Kristodas Pal), and had been since adopted and supported by the hon'ble mover.

Mr. Reynolds was quite aware of the great importance and weight which must attach to the opinion of those members of the Select Committee who had signed the report, and he was also aware that the great majority of mofussil officers who had been consulted were in favor of these clauses. But it appeared to him, on the best consideration that he had been able to give to the subject, that these provisions were likely to do more harm than good; that the clauses for the registration of the extent of a proprietor's interest had better have been omitted; and that, if they were to be introduced, they ought to be introduced cautiously and gradually.

He must say at once that some of the objections made to these clauses appeared to him to be of no importance or weight at all. For instance, it had been objected that the effect of them would be to flood the revenue officers with work. He thought there was no force in this objection. District officers were put where they were in order that they might be flooded with work, and if it was for the public interests that the work should be done, the more district officers were flooded with it the better. In that case it was simply the province of the Executive Government to increase the number of officers so as to enable them to keep pace with the work. His objection to these clauses was not that they would give revenue officers too much to do, but that they would employ them on work that had better not be done at all.

He wished to say a few words upon an argument which had been adduced in support of these clauses, and on which considerable stress had been laid by the hon'ble member opposite. It had been said that they would operate as a valuable protection to the ryot, by enabling him to know the extent of his landlord's share, and consequently the proportion of rent which he might justly be called upon to pay. A zemindar, it was urged, who was registered as the owner of a four annas share would be able to screw six annas of the rent out of the ryots: and, in fact, the Bill as it now stood relieved the ryot from liability to pay rent in excess of the registered share of the landlord. But this idea of protection seemed to Mr. Reynolds to be delusive. The ryot would not in one case out of a hundred know anything about the entries in the register; and, secondly, the great majority of ryots did not pay their rents to zemindars, but to intermediate tenure-holders or farmers. A register of zemindars' titles was a matter in which the ryot had very little interest.

This, however, was a merely negative objection: it might show that these clauses would not produce some of the benefits which were expected from them, but it would not show that they would do any real harm. Coming now to what he considered to be the real objections to these clauses, he would remark that the question was really res judicata. The memorandum which Sir Barnes Peacock had recorded in 1852 regarding the Bill of that year applied in all its breadth and strength to these clauses of the measure now before the Council. He should only weaken the argument of that eminent jurist if he attempted to lay it before them in any other language than the author's own. Sir Barnes Peacock wrote as follows:—

"If it is intended that any reliance shall be placed on the register by persons about to purchase land or to lend money upon the security thereof, I think it will be worse than useless, as it will frequently record persons to be the owners of rights which do not belong to them, and may thus be made an instrument of fraud."

Sir Barnes Peacock then went on to argue very clearly and forcibly on the impossibility of entrusting the Collector with the power of adjudicating on the question of right, and the uselessness of allowing him merely to determine possession without reference to title, and he finally summed up the case thus:—

"Should the Most Noble the Governor-General and my hon'ble colleagues concur with me in the view I have taken of the proposed Act, I think the Sudder Board had better be informed thereof, and probably it would be advisable to call their attention to the above remarks, and request them to inform the Government in what respect they consider that such a register as that which would be produced by the proposed Act, affording no correct information as to the rights of parties, nor even as to the lawfulness of their possession, and affording no conclusive evidence even in a summary suit, could be of any real benefit for fiscal, judicial, or police purposes."

MR. REYNOLDS was quite aware that he would be told that these criticisms were not applicable to the present Bill. It would be said that the Bill of 1852 was too ambitious in its aims. Its avowed intention was to enhance the value of landed property, to facilitate the raising of money on loans and mortgages, and to diminish litigation in respect of landed property; whereas the object of this Bill was of a different and far more limited character, and aimed at nothing more than the registration of possessory titles. The answer to that argument seemed to him very simple and easy. They had to look, not to the object which the legislature might avow, but to the character of the legislation itself. He had compared the Bill of 1852 with the Bill of 1876, and, so far as these clauses of the Bill were concerned, the only practical difference he found was that the summary investigation into the question of possession which under the former Bill was to be made by the Collector, under the present Bill was to be made sometimes by the Collector and sometimes by the Civil Court. That was the whole difference between the two Bills as far as these clauses were concerned; and that being so, it seemed to him to be of little use to say that the objects of the former Bill were distinctly repudiated, when the same measures to effect them were introduced now as were proposed then. This seemed to him to be keeping the word of promise to the ear and breaking it to the hope.

He thought it would be admitted that if it could be shown that the results which Sir Barnes Peacock anticipated from the legislation of 1852 would follow from the present Bill, the consequences would be much to be deplored. It so happened that the Council were not without the means of judging how the Bill would be regarded in the mofussil, as this could be ascertained from a perusal of the opinions of the officers who had been consulted. Mr. Buckland, the Commissioner of Burdwan, in discussing the question whether the litigants ought to be called upon to bear the cost of the enquiry, wrote as follows:—

"It seems to me that the increased value given to land by the establishment of a clear record of title is amply sufficient to justify the compulsory registration of the extent of the interest of each proprietor at the cost of the disputants."

But Mr. Harrison, Collector of Midnapore, went a good deal further than this. He said:—

"The great advantage, it appears to me, of the registration of shares is the enhanced value of the property thus registered. At present estates sold for arrears of revenue fetch many times the value of estates sold for debt in the civil court, solely because the title is thereby secured. Registration of shares will not entirely remove defects of title, but it will go far to do so, and thereby enhance the value of landed property in the Lower Provinces by perhaps Rs. 100,000,000 (2½ times the present land revenue). To achieve such a result is worth some expenditure of time and trouble."

If the Council were to accept that very extravagant estimate—if they were to believe that the landholders of Bengal would be under the delusion that by registering their names and the extent of their interest under this Bill they would increase the value of their property to the amount of a hundred millions of rupees, it would be hardly too much to say that in passing these clauses of the Bill as they stood this Council would be issuing notes to the value of a hundred millions of rupees, and that those notes would be forgeries.

He need hardly say that he entirely disclaimed the least intention of attributing to the hon'ble mover any desire to create or foster such a delusion as this.

But they had to look to the character of the persons for whom they were legislating. They were legislating not for men of exceptional wisdom and clear-sightedness, but for the average Bengal zemindar, the ordinary proprietor of land in these Lower Provinces. Had the Council any right to assume—had they even the slightest reason to suppose—that this average zemindar would be better able to comprehend the object and effect of these clauses of the Bill than such able and experienced officers as Mr. Buckland and Mr. Harrison? And if they must answer this question in the negative, how could they be justified in passing a provision, the meaning of which was sure to be misunderstood?

MR. REYNOLDS had spoken of Mr. Harrison's estimate as extravagant, and it appeared to him that it was extravagant in degree and quantity. But he had no doubt that there was some substratum of truth at the bottom of it. He had no doubt that a zemindar who might register his name as owner of a four annas share would believe—and his neighbours, and friends, and enemies, and creditors would believe too—that in some undefined way he had a better right to that share than he had before he registered it. His right, in fact, would be exactly the same as it was before.

MR. REYNOLDS' objections, therefore, to these clauses were three-fold. First, that they were foreign to the scope and purpose of the Bill; secondly, that they were sure to be misunderstood; thirdly, that if they were misunderstood, they could hardly fail to do a great deal of harm. He did not mean to say that such provisions as these would be bad always, and bad everywhere. The time might come when it would be possible to introduce them generally without danger; and even now there might be localities in which they might be introduced at once without any evil consequences. But he thought the Council would incur a very serious responsibility if it sanctioned the extension of these clauses at once to all parts of the country, before the Government had an opportunity of satisfying itself that there would be no misapprehension as to their real object and effect. He therefore hoped the Council would accept the amendment which he had moved.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL said, with regard to the first great objection which the hon'ble mover of the amendment had taken, that the nature of these clauses, regarding the registration of shares, was foreign to the scope of the whole Bill, he would reply that he could see no difference between the registration of entire interests and of fractional shares. If there would be a difficulty in ascertaining who was the proprietor of the one, there would equally be a difficulty in ascertaining who were the proprietors of the other. Even under the existing law, fractional shareholders were registered, and the only difference which the Bill would make would be to compel them to declare what the extent of their interests was. The Bill provided for determining the rights of parties where the fact of possession was disputed, and he thought the Council would be stopping far short of the requirements of the country if it only provided means for determining the fact of possession of entire estates and not of fractional shares as well.

The hon'ble member had referred to the Bill which had been condemned by Sir Barnes Peacock, but MR. BELL thought that any hon'ble member who had seen that Bill would agree with him that the whole scope and tenor of that Bill were opposed to the scope and object of the Bill now before the Council. But his principal answer to the arguments against the scheme of the Bill was that the people throughout the country were in favour of it. It was not only the officers of Government, but the zemindars as well were equally in favour of the measure; and such being the case, he thought the Council ought not to reject these sections on the purely theoretical ground that they were opposed to the scope of the Bill. For his own part he could not see how they were opposed to the scope of the Bill; and as both the zemindars and the officers of Government were in favour of the clauses, he thought the Council would be doing wrong to reject them.

Again, his hon'ble friend said that he saw no conceivable use in enforcing the registration of shares, and that, as far as the ryots were concerned, the protection which these sections was supposed to afford was absolutely delusive. Here, again, he could not agree with his hon'ble friend. The present system often led to great injustice being done to the ryot. A case came before him the other day, in which the ryots were paying seventeen annas to the rupee. It happened in this wise. Two shareholders were disputing about an anna share of the property, and each collected from the ryot the rent from this anna share, and the result was that the unfortunate ryots had to pay seventeen instead of sixteen annas to the rupee.

Then there were obvious advantages which would result to the country generally by this registration of shares. He would give one or two instances.

It frequently happened that a joint proprietor not only paid what was due on his own share, but also the amount of arrears of the other shareholders. And the question was, how was he to realize the amount that he had paid in excess of his own share? In many cases it was perfectly impossible to say who were the shareholders, or what was the amount of their respective shares; but if these particulars were unknown, no suit for contribution would lie. A case came before him the other day in which he had advised a joint proprietor to give up the sum he had paid in excess of his own share of the revenue, rather than submit to the harassment and expense of asking the civil court to ascertain and apportion the amount of the respective liability of each particular shareholder of the estate. Now, if this Bill had been passed, all the shareholders would have been registered, and the shareholder who paid more than his share would have had no difficulty in recovering the amount from the other shareholders.

Another difficulty of frequent occurrence in the mofussil arose out of the sale of estates for arrears of revenue. It generally happened after the sale that a certain portion of the sale proceeds remained to be distributed, and this distribution was hardly ever accomplished without a suit in the civil court to determine the respective shares which each proprietor held. But if the provisions of this Bill became law, the Collector would be able to distribute the surplus sale proceeds without seeking the assistance of the civil court.

But his hon'ble friend next objected that if shares were registered the object and effect of registration would be misunderstood. But the Council were not responsible if they were misunderstood. MR. BELL by no means agreed with the distinguished Collector, whose opinion had been referred to, in thinking that the value of landed property throughout the country would be vastly increased by the passing of this Bill. But without attributing to the Bill virtues which it did not possess, he thought it would be a great advantage to the country that there should be some means of knowing who the responsible owners of landed property were. The mere fact of registration would not of course give a man a title. If a man purchased an estate, he would have to look beyond the fact of registration: but the fact of registration would be a guarantee that he had some sort of a title.

If a man could get his name on the register without opposition from his co-sharers, it was primâ facie proof that he had at any rate some sort of a title, and was in possession. This question of the registration of shares he could assure the Council had been very carefully and very earnestly considered in Select Committee, and as both the officers of Government who had been consulted, and the landed interest as well, were in favour of it, he had given the proposition his unhesitating support in Committee, and he would ask the Council to do so now.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said, as the original mover of this section for the registration of shares, he felt bound to say a few words in reply to the hon'ble mover of the amendment. He thought it was hardly consistent to condemn the registration of shares, and at the same time to move an amendment to the effect that the provisions of those sections should be extended at the discretion of the Lieutenant-Governor. If on principle the registration of shares were deemed objectionable, he thought the hon'ble member was inconsistent in holding that the objection would be removed by the exercise of the discretion of the Lieutenant-Governor. BABOO KRISTODAS PAL thought it would have been more intelligible if the hon'ble member had moved the omission of these sections altogether, instead of saying, as in effect he had said, that the registration would be altogether delusive, but that circumstances might arise when the Lieutenant-Governor might with advantage extend the scheme. So much for the principle on which the amendment was based.

Then the hon'ble member said that although the Collectors in the districts had almost to a man supported these sections, still they could not deny that they would lead to considerable increase of work, which would not be quite desirable. BABOO KRISTODAS PAL admitted that in a matter like this the hon'ble member was a better judge than himself. But when he balanced against the opinion of the hon'ble member the opinions of the district executive officers, i.e., the Collectors and Commissioners, who had reported on these sections, he must confess that when the majority of these officers did not apprehend much increase of work, but, on the contrary, warmly advocated the introduction of the new system, their opinion was certainly entitled to greater consideration.

The hon'ble member thought that the advantage which would accrue to ryots in the way of protecting their interests would be quite delusive; that although it was laid down in the Bill that no ryot should be bound to pay rent to any proprietor whose name and extent of interest had been registered, or more than the amount indicated by his share, still it was a delusion. It might be a delusion; but no one could say that it would prove a delusion unless it had had a fair trial. BABOO KRISTODAS PAL thought that when once it had been notified to the ryots that the shares of the different proprietors in an estate were so much, they would take precious good care not to pay more than they were legally liable to pay. In fact, if we turned to the rather voluminous correspondence which had passed between the Government of Bengal and the different district officers about the evils of the separate management of joint estates, one evil which perhaps raised its head far higher than any other evil, he might say, was the uncertainty about the respective shares of different proprietors. It was this uncertainty which led to great abuses—an evil of which the ryots complained so much.

Then the hon'ble member said that even if this advantage could be realized the ryots in most cases did not pay their rent to the zemindars direct, but to farmers, jotedars, and others. But surely in many cases the ryots did pay directly to the zemindars, and if that was not the case, then the evils of the separate management of joint estates would not have been so great as to lead the Government to propose a measure on the subject, of which the hon'ble member himself was well aware. In the majority of estates, he might say, the ryots paid their rent directly to the zemindar, and although sub-infeudation had been extending rapidly, still the direct management of estates by zemindars largely preponderated.

Then the hon'ble member remarked that the Bill would give a fictitious security of title to property. He had in support of his position quoted the opinion of Sir Barnes Peacock, and had also alluded to the Bill which was prepared in 1852. The hon'ble member had himself answered the objection he had raised on the point. He had himself pointed out that there was a great difference between the Bills of 1852 and 1876; that the view which Sir Barnes Peacock took did not apply to the present state of things; that, whatever might be the opinion of the mofussil officers, the Bill did not profess to give additional security of title. When the hon'ble member had so distinctly and satisfactorily answered his own objection, he had left the Council very little to answer on this point. But BABOO KRISTODAS PAL might be permitted to observe, that if the registration of shares should in any degree lead people to attach greater value to it than was contemplated, surely such a result should not be regretted by the Council. The Bill distinctly provided that registration was intended only for the purposes of the Bill, and not for any other purpose, or to enhance the security of title to property. But if the collateral result should be as the hon'ble member had supposed, it should not be a matter of regret, and in that view of the case registration would be preferable to non-registration; for if with the aid of this Bill we could secure a registration of title to property, BABOO KRISTODAS PAL thought a greater boon could not be conferred. For his own part, he thought that the two Bills going hand in hand, viz. the Partition and the Registration Bill, would certainly cause considerable improvement in the record of rights in land, and if the Council accepted these provisions, they would confer a signal benefit upon the people.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said, the hon'ble member who moved the amendment said that the registration of interests was not a portion of the scheme of the Bill as originally introduced; that it was not mentioned in the Statement of objects and reasons. That was the case. But the hon'ble member would find that when Mr. DAMPIER asked leave to introduce the Bill, he expressly stated that leave was not asked to make the registration of shares a part of the scheme, because it was considered impracticable to work such registration. That was certainly his own impression at the time. But he did not doubt then, more than he did now, that the impracticability of working once got over, the benefit would be material. When the Bill went to the Select Committee, he strongly held the opinion that it would not be found practicable to work the measure. That opinion was shared by other Revenue officers whose experience in the districts was not of to-day. On pressure being put upon the Committee by the two hon'ble members who spoke last, MR. DAMPIER being fully convinced of the advantages which would result if the measure could be worked out, suggested that they should consult the most able and experienced of the district officers who were working the revenue machine. The Committee did consult these officers, and MR. DAMPIER must admit that he was surprised to find, not a consensus of opinion, but a heavy preponderance of opinion of the local officers in favour of this registration being attempted. So he being convinced by the evidence of those actually engaged in the work of the districts, that practically the measure was workable, and having long held the opinion that if the impracticability could be got over, great advantages would result from the registration of the extent of interests, he agreed with the two hon'ble members to whom he had referred, and the result was the Bill in the form in which it was now before the Council.

The hon'ble member had said that the ryots would never know the particulars of this registration. Not one in a hundred would know whose names were registered and the extent of their interests, and therefore they would not have the benefit of the sections which affect to give them protection against those zemindars who claimed to levy rent in excess of their registered interests. MR. DAMPIER could not agree in that. He believed that within a year after the law was introduced anywhere, any ryot who resided on any estate in which disputes were going on, would find out whose names were registered and to what extent, and from that moment he would object to pay one pice more than the rent properly due in accordance with the registered shares.

Again, the hon'ble member had said that the relief to the ryots would be inappreciable, because there were few ryots who held their lands directly of the zemindar. MR. DAMPIER admitted that the relief would only be to the ryots who paid directly to the zemindar. But it was not only the ryot who complained of the difficulty of not knowing to whom he should pay, talookdars and middlemen labored under it also. And he said that if these provisions succeeded, and in the event of their being found to afford practical relief, as far as they went, to those who paid directly to the zemindar, the present measure might probably be the germ of a further measure to be introduced hereafter, which should have for its object the registration of interests in under-tenures, so as to extend the benefit to all rent-payers.

Then the hon'ble member had said that the Bill was the same as the Bill which had been drafted by the Board in 1852. The Bill might be in its structure the same as the Bill of 1852, but it appeared in quite a different phase. The avowed main object of the draft of 1852, as put forward, was to increase the value of property by giving security to titles. Now, as stated by the hon'ble member opposite (Baboo Kristodas Pal), the advocates of the present measure did not claim that virtue for it. They admitted that the value of the measure in that particular direction had been even dangerously over-estimated. It did not in itself profess to give any security of title. No prudent purchaser would be justified in relying on the register as sufficient to satisfy him that the title was secured. What he did claim for the Bill was this, that the fact of registration would help a purchaser in ascertaining in what direction he must look for the purpose of clearing the title. If a man's name was on the register, it would put the intending purchaser on an enquiry; it would give him a new lead, as it were, into the past history of the title to the estate. So much he did claim for the Bill, and he did think that even that was a great gain.

Then his hon'ble friend had said that the zemindars in distant parts of Bengal would misunderstand the object of the Bill, especially as some of the Government officials themselves did not understand its scope and object. Possibly at first this might be the case, but if the zemindar did not understand the object and intention of the Bill, and how far it affected the title to the property which he wished to purchase, he would have lawyers about him whose profession it was to understand laws, and would consult them just as anybody in England would do if he wished to purchase property.

To sum up then, MR. DAMPIER's doubts as to the practicability of the measure had given way before the opinions of the district officers. He had also been influenced by the wish of the zemindars for the registration of shares and by the assistance which such registration would afford to executive officers in many matters in connection with their daily work. Secondly, it would be a protection to tenants and ryots paying their rent directly to zemindars on estates in which disputes existed as to the amount of rent payable to different claimants. Thirdly, though he did not claim for this Bill that a consultation of the register would per se give any one any reasonable notion for believing that he could purchase an estate safely, yet he said that the Bill would give some help, would throw some light on that darkness which existed with regard to the titles and interests in estates in Bengal: it would go some way towards clearing away the chaos and ignorance which now prevailed in this respect. It would give clues towards following up and ascertaining how the title really stood. And fourthly, MR. DAMPIER thought another benefit of the Bill would be that it would tend to diminish confusion by bringing disputes as to claims and rights to an issue. The Council were all aware that such disputes, now often almost interminable, went on, and that they had the effect of distracting and harassing all persons connected with the land, and especially the tenantry; and it was claimed that the effect of the Bill would be to force such disputes to a point, and press on the definition of rights.

The HON'BLE MR. REYNOLDS would say a few words by way rather of explanation than of reply. He said this, because he thought no real answer had been given to the arguments he had used, and because in the course of the discussion he had been represented as holding opinions which he not only did not hold, but which he had distinctly disavowed. The hon'ble member opposite (Baboo Kristodas Pal) had said that one of MR. REYNOLDS' great objections to these clauses was the increase of work they would throw upon Collectors. He had expressly said that he attached no weight to that at all. His remarks had been treated as if they were directed against the Bill as a whole, whereas he was a cordial supporter of the Bill; and even as regarded the particular clauses to which he objected, he only desired that the Government should be allowed to defer putting them in force till it considered it safe to introduce them.

The words of the hon'ble member who had just sat down (Mr. Dampier) seemed to him to involve an acceptance of the whole principle of the amendment. Mr. Dampier had admitted that "possibly at first" these clauses might be misunderstood: and MR. REYNOLDS' only object was to prevent this possible misunderstanding, and to defer the introduction of these clauses until it was ascertained that they would not be misunderstood. But after the remarks of the hon'ble members who had spoken, he could not hope to carry the amendment, and it was unnecessary for him to say anything more.

The motion was then put and negatived.

Section 2 was agreed to.

A verbal amendment was made in section 3. Sections 4 to 6 were agreed to.

Verbal amendments were made in sections 7 and 8.

Sections 9 to 31 were agreed to.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the omission of sections 32 and 33. He said, this was perhaps the only point upon which the Select Committee were not unanimous. The hon'ble member in charge of the Bill thought it necessary, perhaps more in deference to the opinion of the hon'ble member now absent (Mr. Schalch) than his own conviction, to include rent-free land in this Bill. Now, this was a Bill which professed to provide for the registration of revenue-paying lands. It had nothing to do with rent-free lands. Yet, inconsistently enough, these sections were introduced. As these two sections covered land which was not within the scope of the Bill, he thought it was inconsistent to include them. He need not repeat the reasons which the minority thought proper to urge in Select Committee, but his main objection was that they would indirectly tend to increase litigation. It was allowed on all hands that the zemindar would not readily admit the validity of claims to rent-free lands, while the claimant would not readily surrender his right, and the result would be that the parties would be forced into Court, and there would consequently be increased litigation. BABOO KRISTODAS PAL thought that these sections were foreign to the object of the Bill, and would therefore move their omission.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL said he would support the hon'ble member in his motion to omit these sections. On any point in connection with this Bill, he should be indeed sorry to place himself in opposition to the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill who had so skilfully carried it through Select Committee. But these sections, which were taken from the Road Cess Act, seemed to him to be totally out of place in the present Bill. They were very properly included in the Road Cess Act, because all lands, whether revenue-free or revenue-paying, were assessed to the road cess, and the cess imposed on rent-free land was collected by the zemindar, and therefore it was necessary in the Road Cess Act to have a section of this sort. But he failed to perceive what conceivable purpose they would accomplish here. He agreed with the hon'ble mover of the amendment in thinking that these sections would be the cause of much litigation and many disputes. MR. BELL was quite prepared to allow the sections to stand if the hon'ble mover could show any practical purpose which they would answer. But, as far as he was aware, there was no practical purpose which they would serve; and considering that there was no reason for their introduction, and that they would tend to litigation and dispute, he thought that they should be omitted.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said, this Bill was a Bill to provide for the registration of revenue-paying and revenue-free lands, and of the proprietors and managers thereof. He insisted that every plot of land, if all men had their rights, was either a plot of revenue-paying land, or a plot of revenue-free land. He held that if any one claimed to hold land in this country as revenue-free, the burden of proof was on that claimant; and until a man formally established his right to hold his land revenue-free, he was, so far as the Government was concerned, the holder of revenue-paying land. [THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL. That was the ruling of the old Sudder Court: the High Court had held differently.] The object of these sections was to bring every acre of land in the district under registry in one or other of the registers, and to give the Collector, the executive officer, knowledge (as regards every acre) of the person to whom he was to look for the fulfilment of the duties as proprietor of the estate as imposed by other Acts. These sections followed the two existing Acts, the Embankment and the Road Cess Acts. If a piece of land was held rent-free, that would not entitle it to be entered in the revenue-free register. The revenue authorities could not recognize it as revenue-free unless the revenue-free title had been formally established. They must therefore enter it somewhere in the revenue-paying register; but where? The occupant would not by word or deed admit that his land formed part of this or that estate. The object was simply, in such cases, for convenience sake to prescribe a procedure for determining whether this piece of land should be treated as part of estate A on this side of the land, or of estate B on the other side of it for the purposes of the registry. No rights would be affected; and if this were not done, then the register would no longer profess to include all land in the district.

The HON'BLE THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL observed that these sections related to lands which were held, or claimed to be held, rent-free, but as far as the Government was concerned, unless they were recognised and admitted to be lakhiraj, they were revenue-paying lands, and should be included in the Bill.

The motion was then put and negatived, and the sections were agreed to.

Sections 34 to 44 were agreed to.

A verbal amendment was made in section 45, and the position of sections 45 and 46 was transposed.

Sections 47 to 70 were agreed to.

A verbal amendment was made in section 71.

Sections 72 to 87 and the preamble and title were agreed to.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 8th instant.

AID BY GOVERNMENT TO THE NATIVE ASSOCIATION FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF A TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

Minute by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, dated the 18th April 1876.

DURING the visit of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales to Calcutta, an Association of Native gentlemen was formed (many of whom were members or promoters of the Indian Reform League) for the cultivation of practical science. It was at first hoped that this Association might be amalgamated with the Association promoted by Dr. Mahendra Lal Sircar (which forms the subject of my Minute of the 21st January last); but, after discussion, it was found that the two Associations would hardly consent to work in combination. Among other reasons there was this reason, that Dr. Mahendra Lal's Association aimed rather at the culture of science in the abstract; whereas the other Association aimed rather at the teaching of science practically, with the immediate object of enabling the pupils to earn their living thereby.

The present Association then apparently desires to establish an Institution for the culture of practical science, an Institution partaking of the character of a technical school. For this purpose several of its members, eminent native gentlemen, have promised subscriptions, amounting in all to nearly one lakh and three-quarters of rupees, among whom may be mentioned Baboo Hurris Chunder Choudhree, Rai Dhunput Sing Bahadoor (donors of Rs. 45,000 and Rs. 40,000 respectively), Baboo Brojendro Kumar Rai (of Dacca district), Baboo Sooraj Kanth Acharjee (of Mymensingh district), Baboo Sharoa Shunkur Rai (of Fureedpore district), and others. They also desire that the Institution be considered as a memorial of the visit of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales.

The Association having enquired what assistance would or could be rendered by Government, I have informed them through the Director of Public Instruction that, in the event of their raising subscriptions to the amount of two lakhs of rupees, and investing the same in Government securities, so as to produce an income of Rs. 8,000 per annum, a corresponding amount, or Rs. 8,000, would be annually contributed by Government, so as to make up the income of the Institution to Rs. 16,000 per annum, irrespective of whatever might be obtained from fees or current subscriptions. I felt justified in agreeing to this grant-in-aid, considering that, if the sum of two lakhs of rupees should be thus raised and invested, it would represent an important and honourable enterprise undertaken by the natives themselves, and a praiseworthy munificence on the part of several native donors for the sake of practical science, an object of national importance to Bengal. Indeed, the Association deserves both the material support and the moral sympathy of the Government.

Subject only to the occasional inspection of the Director of Public Instruction, I would leave the management of the Institution to the discretion and public spirit of the Association itself, under such conditions as the members might settle among themselves.

The Association have intimated a wish to occupy, for the purposes of the Institution, that portion of the Government Normal School building which is not wanted for the school, but which is now occupied by the private servants of the landlord. They have been informed that there is no objection whatever on the part of Government to any arrangement which they may be able to make in this respect.

RICHARD TEMPLE.

RESOLUTION ON THE WORKING OF THE CONTAGIOUS DISEASES ACT IN THE TOWN AND SUBURBS OF CALCUTTA.

MEDICAL.

The 18th April 1876.

READ—

A letter from the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, No. 569, dated 25th March 1876, submitting the Annual Report by the Superintendent of Lock-hospitals on the working of the Contagious Diseases Act in the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta.

Read again—

The report for the previous year, with the orders of Government passed thereon.

1. BRIEFLY stated, the following are the chief results to be gathered from the report now submitted on the working of the Contagious Diseases Act in Calcutta and its Suburbs during the past as compared with the previous year. In 1875, the number of persons borne on the register at the close of the year was 7,925, and the number of persons newly registered was 1,204; while in 1874, 6,845 persons only were entered on the register, and the number of those newly registered amounted to 947 only. In the past year, however, the number of defaulters from examination had increased to 7,409 as against 5,263 in the previous year. The number of arrests made by the police at the same time increased from 802 for non-registration and 2,572 for non-attendance at examinations in 1874, to 1,054 and 4,588 respectively in 1875. The number of persons found to be diseased in the past year was 410 among those examined for the first time, and 2,288 among others; the corresponding figures for the previous year having been 254 and 1,773 respectively. Among the troops in garrison, the ratio of disease rose from 9·4 per cent. in 1874 to 10·3 in 1875; while as regards the civil population the returns of the various city and suburban hospitals show that 9,235 cases of venereal disease were treated as against 7,941 cases in the previous year.

2. These results, the Lieutenant-Governor regrets to say, he still regards as far from satisfactory. In reviewing the report for the previous year, he expressed his opinion that, after making every allowance, it was apparent that the rules had not been enforced with sufficient strictness. In one particular it is evident that there has been some improvement, as shewn by the increased number of arrests which were made of defaulters and unregistered persons. Still the great amount of disease which is prevalent among the civil population would seem to indicate, in a very marked manner, that the measures hitherto adopted have merely affected the surface, and that far more energetic and vigorous action is necessary to reach the root of the evil, and to insure that protection which it is the object of the law to afford.

3. As long as a limited area only is brought under the operations of the Act, and no control can be exercised over the male population of the town and suburbs, complete success can never be looked for; but notwithstanding the advance which has been made during the year under review, the Lieutenant-Governor is convinced that the number of persons at present on the register is far smaller than it should be, and that, even under existing conditions, much better results might be achieved by the exercise of stricter supervision and control over those who have been already brought under the provisions of the law.

4. It is no doubt creditable to the police that 1,204 persons, who had hitherto evaded the law, were detected and brought on the register; but the fact that 410 of these, or over 34 per cent, were found to be diseased, and might, for aught that is stated, have been engendering disease for years, speaks unfavourably for the manner in which the rules have been hitherto carried out. These figures also indicate very clearly that the sources from which the large amount of prevalent diseases are contracted are to be found within the area which has been already brought under the control of the law, as well as the obvious action which it is within the power of the authorities to adopt with the view of counteracting the existing evils. All persons detected in evading the law should, the Lieutenant-Governor considers, be severely dealt with, in order to deter others from the same offence; but the statements submitted show that five persons only were prosecuted by the police authorities, and of these, three only were fined, the rest being discharged. Unless more vigorous action is taken for the punishment of offenders, it cannot be a matter of surprise that over a thousand persons should be found defying the law in a single year.

5. Similarly, there would seem to have been much laxity in the enforcement of the rules requiring attendance at the periodical examination. Of 7,409 defaulters, 698 are not accounted for, about 2,123 attended after a reminder, and 4,588 were arrested. But of those arrested, it seems that 13 only were imprisoned and 151 fined, the rest being simply warned. What the amount of the fines imposed was, or what amount was really realized from the defaulters, is not stated. But, under any circumstances, it appears to the Lieutenant-Governor that the measures taken to repress this growing evil—for experience proves that those who evade the examinations are usually diseased—were very inadequate. There also arises a question as to whether full effect is given to the intention of the law in the magisterial courts; this will form the subject of a separate correspondence.

6. As regards the health of the persons who have been entered on the register, it appears from table C of the report submitted by the Commissioner of Police that 33·3 per cent. of the total number of those liable to attend were found on examination to be diseased, the corresponding ratio in the previous year having been 29·3 per cent. This increase, as well as the increased number of defaulters, accounts for, and corresponds with, the increased number of cases treated in the several hospitals and dispensaries in the town and suburbs.

7. It is stated that during the past, as in previous years, the greatest amount of disease was found to occur in those parts of the town which are most frequented by European soldiers and sailors, and by persons of the better class, who chiefly endeavour to evade the operations of the Act, and are most successful in doing so. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that the Commissioner of Police states that special measures have now been taken by him to enforce the provisions of the Act more strictly in those parts where disease has been shewn by Dr. Payne to be most prevalent.

8. But notwithstanding that an increased number of persons were admitted for treatment into the lock-hospitals, it is satisfactory to notice that during late years the type of the disease has been less severe among them, and that, as compared with the previous year, there has been a considerable reduction in the number of cases of serious disease. The general health of the persons under treatment appears also to have been good. Among a daily average of 282 in hospital, 18 deaths only are shewn to have occurred. Full details have not been given of the cases of venereal disease treated in the several hospitals; but it is shewn generally that the number of cases of primary syphilis which were admitted amounted to 3,410 as against 2,675 in the previous year, and that there has thus been apparently a large increase of the severe form of the disease among the civil population. It must be observed, however, that this increase is solely attributable to the large number of cases admitted into the Mayo Hospital, which exceeded those of the previous year by 945; while there was a decrease of 210 cases in all the other hospitals. The Lieutenant-Governor is willing to admit, as urged by Dr. Payne, that some of these cases of disease may have been contracted elsewhere than in Calcutta, and that the people now avail themselves more readily of the advantages afforded them of treatment in the Mayo Hospital, as shewn by the contemporaneous and great increase in the number of cases of all kinds which were treated during the past year; but at the same time the Lieutenant-Governor must hold that the results, when considered in connection with the decrease of the severe form of disease among such of the registered persons as attended the examinations, show very clearly the defects of the system in certain localities, and that the real root of the evil has yet to be reached, as has been already noticed.

9. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets that he has been obliged to ascribe the unfavorable results of the past year in some measure at least to deficiencies and defects in the administration. He is fully aware that the matter is a delicate one, and that great difficulties, and perhaps greater evils, have to be met and guarded against; but, as already observed, much might have been done to secure better results, which was left undone, and he trusts that it will now be the anxious endeavour of all connected with the enforcement of the Act to mitigate the evil which afflicts some sections of the urban population

10. With an average strength of 906 European troops in garrison, 94 cases of venereal disease only are reported to have occurred. But though there was a slight increase in the general ratio of disease as above noted, it is shewn that this was entirely attributable to the mild form of the disease.

11. The total charges on account of the lock-hospitals in Calcutta and the Suburbs during the past year amounted to Rs. 39,609 against Rs. 34,877 in the previous year. The share of this cost paid by Government was Rs. 26,409, to which must be added a sum of Rs. 18,681 paid on account of preventive establishment. There was thus a saving of some Rs. 5,000 on the maximum expenditure sanctioned by Government for charges to be incurred in enforcing the Act.

12. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that no complaints of any importance were brought during the year under review against any of the officers employed in connection with the administration of the Act. In urging the adoption of more energetic and vigorous action, the Lieutenant-Governor must at the same time impress upon the Commissioner of Police that increased vigilance will be necessary on his part to prevent unnecessary arrests or needless interference by the police. The Lieutenant-Governor also notices with pleasure that Dr. Payne is again able to bear favorable testimony to the character of his subordinates, and to the careful manner in which they have discharged their duties. Sir Richard Temple's thanks are due to Dr. Payne for his full and interesting report, and for the assistance which he has afforded the Government in the discussions which have been held during the past year with a view to extending the provisions of the Act to other localities.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Sugarcane being planted out. Land being ploughed up for the aous and amun paddy. More rain is wanted for the preparation of the soil. The rain of the 12th has proved very beneficial to the crops on the ground. Jhinga, potol, cucumbers, &c., vegetables are doing well. Onions, water-melons, cucumbers, &c., are being gathered. Cholera is slightly on the decrease.
	Howrah, „ 15, „		Cloudy sky and great heat, with very little rain. No crops to report on.

		Central Districts.
Presidency Divn.	6	24-Pergunnahs, Apl. 17,*'76	·10	Weather—Sultry. No crops on the ground. Lands are being ploughed for the cultivation of aous, or early crop. Cholera has appeared in the Satkhira, Busserhat, and Baraset sub-divisions.
	7	Nuddea, „ 15, „	3·38	Weather—The rain appears to have been general. It has been most timely for the sowing of early rice and of indigo.
	8	Jessore, „ 15, „	3·39	Weather—Somewhat variable. Heavy rain on the 13th. The reaping of the spring rice continues. The rain has been most beneficial, and will enable the ryots to push forward the sowing of the early rice.
	9	Moorshedabad, „ 15, „	2·50	Weather—Two heavy showers have fallen. Temperature considerably cooler. Mornings cloudy. The recent rain will much facilitate ploughing and sowing operations. Mulberry and indigo crops are promising. Sowing of the aous or early crop commenced. Cholera has decreased since the rain.
Rajshahye Divn.	10	Dinagepore, „ 14, „	·91	Weather—Cool in consequence of recent rain. State and prospects of the crops are better than last week. The land is being prepared for the bhadoe crops, but more rain is needed.
	11	Maldah, „ 15, „	2·62	Weather—Since the rainfall the weather is cool and agreeable. The rain was accompanied with thunder and lightning, and the wind south-easterly. Rain has fallen at last just in time to save the crops from loss. State of the crops is same as before. Ten deaths from cholera.
	12	Rajshahye, „ 15, „	1·04	The weather has been very unsettled, the wind varying almost daily. It has been cloudy and cool. There was moderate rain on the 12th, and heavy rain on the 13th, everywhere except in Manda and Bhundhaikhara, where there had been no rain. Much good has been done by the rain to the standing til (sessamum) crops, and it has enabled the cultivators to plough and prepare their lands for the rice sowings. Cholera continues to be very severe in Beauleah, Chorghat, Pootea, and Bilmaree.
	13	Rungpore, „ 14, „	1·69	Weather—Very cool. There was rain on the 11th and 12th instant. It has been general, and the fall has been larger to the east. The rainfall at Kurigram sub-division has been 1·54, at Gaibanda 0·27, and at Bagdogra 0·84. Rain has retrieved the position of the aous crop. It is sprouting everywhere, and sowings are being rapidly pushed on. Up to this last fall there had been no good rain since August. Three and a half inches of rain fell in driblets during the month of September, and ¼ inch on the 17th October, since which time there has been no rain at all registered at the Sudder station.
	14	Bogra, „ 15, „	1·43	Stormy weather. The great heat at last tempered by the rainfall. Ploughing going on everywhere, and, with seasonable rains, good crops may be expected.
	15	Pubna, „ 15, „	3·54	Weather—Sultry till the afternoon of Tuesday, the 11th. It was stormy till noon on Thursday last. Ample rain has fallen throughout the Sudder sub-division. The rainfall in Serajgunge has been 0·50. State of the crops is good in Pubna, but more rain is wanted in Serajgunge.
Cooch Behar Divn.	16	Darjeeling, „ 15, „	1·33	Weather—Rain fell on the 11th, 12th, 13th, and 14th, and chiefly on the 13th. Thi will do a great deal of good, but more is needed. The rain that fell on the hills is said to have extended to the plains. The Deputy Commissioner has not yet received any formal report from the Terai, but it is hoped that this timely rain will have greatly benefited the young crops in the plains as it has on the hills.
	17	Julpigoree, „ 15, „	·43	Rain has fallen generally over the district, but not in sufficient quantity. It looks, however, as if there will be more rain. The commencement of rain removes much of the apprehension felt of late. Nothing new in the state of the crops, but prospects owing to rain are better.
		Cooch Behar, „ 13, „	·06	Weather—There were a few drops of rain on Tuesday night. Rain may set in very soon, as clouds are visible. The weather is hot during the day. There is at present no hope of getting bitri dhan this year. The want of rain is very much felt. The prospects of the cheena and kaon crops are very unfavorable. The price of rice is gradually rising. Coarse rice is selling in the bazar here at the rate of Rs. 2-14 a maund.
		Eastern Districts.
Dacca Divn.	18	Dacca, Apl. 17,† '76	2·7	Weather—Heavy storms all over the district. State of the crops is very favorable. Storms have reduced cholera.
	19	Fureedpore, „ 15, „	2·4	Weather—Storms on Wednesday and Thursday, with high wind and rain, and on Wednesday, with hail in places as large as hen's eggs. The rainfall at Goalundo has been 3·22 inches, and at Madaripore ·50 inches. Boro jali rice is doing well. The rain is enabling higher lands to be sown.

* Report of the 17th April, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

DACCA DIVN.—(Contd.) 20	Backergunge, Apl. 13, '76	·03	Weather—More rain is wanted. The state of the crops is good; but cholera continues in a sporadic form in the following thanas, viz. Barisaul, Nalchiti, Jhalokati, Mendigunge, Gournadi, Perozepore, Mottearia, Merzagunge, Bowful, Golachipa, Gulchakhati, and Dowlutkhan. There have been a good many deaths. In other respects the condition of the district is satisfactory.
21	Mymensingh, „ 14, „	1·04	Weather—Seasonable showers throughout the district. State of the crops is favorable. Early sowings of rice are in full progress.
22	Tipperah, „ 14, „	1·51	Weather—Stormy. Very hot in the first part of the week, but after some heavy storms, the thermometer fell as low as 73°. The autumn rice has been nearly all sown, and lands are being prepared for the winter rice.
CHITTAGONG DIVN. 23	Chittagong, „ 13, „	·51	Weather warm, with prospects of more rain. Crops promising fairly. Cholera in the south of the district.
24	Noakholly, „ 13, „	·98	Weather generally hot and cloudy; occasionally foggy in the morning. Thunder and lightning on the 10th instant. The two successive nights were cloudy and attended with high wind. The cold weather crops are in good order. Ploughing for the early rice crop, and sowing of early and late rice, are going on. Present prospects are good from the seasonable showers that were falling at the time of report. Cholera is very bad in almost every station.
25	Chittagong Hill Tracts	.....	Return not received.
	Hill Tipperah, „ 12, „	0·95	Weather—Seasonable. Rice in plains will be benefited by the late rain.
	BEHAR.
PATNA DIVN. 26	Patna, Apl. 17,* '76	·02	Weather—Seasonable. All the crops have now been harvested. Health of the district is generally good, though there are sporadic cases of both cholera and small-pox in all parts of it.
27	Gya, „ 15, „	Nil.	High winds; generally westerly, but easterly on one or two days. Much cooler than usual at this time. No crops on the ground worth mentioning. There is some cholera and a little small-pox.
28	Shahabad, „ 15, „	Nil.	Weather—Cloudy, with strong easterly wind. Rubbee harvest completed. The outturn is expected to be a 12 anna one. Cholera and small-pox are still reported.
29	Durbhunga, „ 15, „	2·	Seasonable weather. Rain has fallen. The rubbee, or cold weather crops, have now been harvested; the outturn in the Tajpore and Sudder sub-divisions has verified previous estimates. In Mudhoobany the outturn has been in no thana above half an average crop, in some below it, while in the northern tracts the failure has been complete. In those tracts, however, rubbee is not extensively sown. The late rain was general over the north and central regions of the district, and has proved of great benefit, especially to the indigo crop, regarding which serious apprehensions had been entertained. Preparation of the soil for the bhadoe sowings has received a needed impulse, but the time for sowing moong pulse, &c., has passed by.
30	Mozufferpore, „ 15, „	1·75	Weather—West wind at the beginning and high east wind at the end of the week, with cool morning and evening. The rainfall at Seetamarhee has been 1·6 inches. The rainfall during the week has enabled the people in some places to prepare their fields for the bhadoe sowing. The rubbee harvest is completed throughout the district. Prices are stationary. Cholera and small-pox are disappearing at Seetamarhee sub-division owing to the late fall of rain.
31	Sarun, „ 15, „	·05	Weather—For the greater part of the week the prevailing wind was a westerly one. The wind however veered to the east on Tuesday night, and since then has remained in that direction, blowing very hard. The rain fell on Wednesday night. The weather seems still unsettled. No change in the state of the crops since last report.
32	Chumparun, „ 14, „	2·23	Weather—The rain has been fairly distributed over the district. The rain has much improved the soil for the coming crops, and has not injured those that are being reaped.

* Telegram of the 17th April, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BEHAR:—(Contd.)
Bhagulpore Divs. 33	Monghyr, Apl. 15, '76	.55	Weather—Fair. There was a storm of wind and rain from the north-west on Thursday morning. There are now no important food-crops on the ground. Bhadoe sowings will commence when the ground is sufficiently moist. Prices continue easy.
34	Bhagulpore, „ 17.* „	2·50	Weather—Easterly winds. Heavy storm from south-west on the evening of the 12th instant, and a severer one, but with less rain, from north-east on the morning of the 13th idem. Rain general throughout the district—2·1 at Banka, 1·48 at Sooopool, and 2 inches in the east of Mudehpoorah. The benefit of this rain after so long a drought cannot be overstated. Prices have fallen everywhere. General health very good, though there is still some small-pox and cholera about.
35	Purneah, „ 15, „	0·73	Weather—High west wind, but cool and pleasant. The rain which fell on Thursday has done much good. Ploughing and sowing are going on briskly. Indian-corn is doing well.
36	Sonthal Perghs. „ 16, „	1·49	Weather—A little rain is reported from Deoghur and Godda. Violent storm with heavy rain on Wednesday evening all the way from Madhupore to Dumka, 40 miles. Mango crop somewhat damaged. Mowha has been nearly all gathered. Health improving.
ORISSA.
Orissa Divs. 37	Cuttack, Apl. 8, '76	·15	Weather—Hot and dry. One or two slight showers, very partial, and not enough to soften the ground for ploughing Public health is good, with the exception of a little cholera and small-pox here and there.
38	Pooree, „ 13. „	A few drops.	Weather—Hot and occasionally cloudy, with strong southerly wind. Rain is much wanted. Tillage for the ensuing rice crops awaits rain Dalua paddy is being reaped. The state of the other crop is fair. Cotton is in flower; the mangoes are beginning to ripen, but the crop has been very poor. Cholera is raging in Pooree and parts of Khoordah.
39	Balasore, „ 14, „	·93	Weather—Continues unsettled. Occasional heavy storms bring with them rain, and ploughing is now general. There are no crops of any importance on the ground Fewer cases of small-pox have been reported last week. Cholera still causes much mortality.
CHOTA NAGPORE
	South-Western Frontier Agency.
40	Hazareebagh. Apl. 14, '76	Nil	Weather—Seasonable. No crops on the ground to report about; mowrh is abundant. Cases of cholera and small-pox are still reported.
41	Lohardugga, „ 15. „	Nil.	Weather—Strong east wind during the 12th and 13th, but no rain. The mowha has been a fine crop. Rain is much wanted for ploughing. Small-pox and cholera are still reported.
42	Singbhoom, „ 14. „	Nil.	Weather—Seasonable. There have been two dry storms, from which the intense heat has slightly decreased. No crops to report about. The drought has caused great want of pasturage for cattle, and it is reported that unless there is a change soon, there will be difficulty in bringing lands under cultivation later Cholera of a fatal type is reported to be prevailing in the north-east and western parts of the district.
43	Manbhoom, „ 15 „	Nil.	Weather—Too dry. It has been little cooler owing to fall of rain in the neighbourhood Sugarcane is being put out. The ryots are in places preparing their fields for gora dhan by means of water from reservoirs, but rain is badly wanted in parts of the district, especially near Purulia. There has been a good deal of sickness in the district, but the Deputy Commissioner believes that matters have improved a little of late.

* Telegram of the 17th April, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding

The mean barometer, as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means, are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain-gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

Resolution No. 3116, dated 18th December 1871, laying down rules for the selection of candidates for admission to the Financial Department, and for the examination of officers of the Fifth and Sixth Classes of the Department.

Read again—

Report No. 207, dated 26th May 1874, from the Comptroller and Deputy Comptroller General, recommending certain modifications in the arrangement of subjects and detailed rules for conducting the Departmental Examinations founded on their experience as examiners.

RESOLUTION.—The Governor General in Council is pleased to approve of the proposed alterations in the rules.

2. The subject of "Algebra to Quadratic Equations inclusive" will be transferred to the examination for admission; the marks assigned to it will be as before 250, raising the total marks obtainable to 1,250: no further change will be made in this examination.

3. The rules for the examination of candidates for admission to the service of the Government of India in the Financial Department, and of officers in the Financial Department, will henceforward be as follows :—

ENTRANCE EXAMINATION.

I.—Candidates for admission to the Department are selected from time to time according to the requirements of the service, three being named for each expected vacancy.

II.—The age of a candidate, when examined, must not exceed twenty-five years, and he must produce a certificate by a Government medical officer of physical fitness for service in the plains of India.

III.—The nominated candidates are examined in the subjects described in the first schedule attached to this resolution, and (subject to the condition hereinafter stated), the candidate who obtains the highest marks is appointed to the first vacancy in the sixth class of the Department, the candidate who obtains the second place to the second vacancy, if there be more than one vacancy to be filled, and so on. No candidate is admitted to the Department who obtains less than 600 marks in all, or less than half marks in Arithmetic and Algebra.

IV.—A candidate is not allowed to compete at the entrance examinations more than twice.

V.—The examination is by written questions and answers; the questions being prepared in such manner as the Governor General in Council from time to time directs.

VI.—A candidate may be examined at any place where arrangements can be made to secure the integrity of the examination.

DEPARTMENTAL EXAMINATIONS.

VII.—A half-yearly examination is held for officers in the fifth and sixth classes of the Department (on the Mondays next after the 10th May and 10th November, and following days) in the subjects detailed in schedules II and III annexed to this Resolution. These examinations are styled the Lower and Higher Departmental Examinations respectively.

VIII.—An officer who shows, at any departmental examination, a competent knowledge of all the prescribed subjects and obtains half marks in the aggregate, is held to have passed the examination. An officer is, however, permitted to pass each of the departmental examinations in two instalments, if he notifies his intention beforehand, and specifies the subjects in which he is prepared for examination. In such case a higher standard of knowledge is required.

IX.—As a rule, a candidate failing in one of the subjects specified is re-examined in the whole; but, in case of marked excellence in a subject, the examiners may exempt the candidate from re-examination in such subject, even although he may have failed in others.

X.—An officer who does not pass the Lower Departmental Examination at the fourth or some earlier examination, and the Higher Department Examination at the eighth or some earlier examination, after he joins the Department, ceases, without further orders, to belong to the Department from the date on which the result of the examination is declared. Provided that if, before the said fourth or eighth examination (as the case may be), the officer have obtained leave of absence on medical certificate for more than three months, he is allowed to remain in the service for six months longer, in order to present himself at one more examination.

XI.—Upon passing each departmental examination, the pay of an officer of the sixth class is increased, from the date on which the examination ends, by Rs. 50 a month. The pay of an officer of the sixth class who has passed the Lower Examination is Rs. 250, and that of an officer of the sixth class, who has passed the Higher Departmental Examination, Rs. 300 a month.

XII.—An officer is not promoted substantively to the fifth class until he has passed the Lower Departmental Examination, and to the fourth class until he has passed the Higher Departmental Examination.

XIII.—Officiating appointments to the fourth and fifth classes are made after consideration of the order in which officers have passed the departmental examinations.

XIV.—The departmental examinations are conducted at the local account offices, in the presence of the Accountant General, and under the direction of the Comptroller General and Deputy Comptroller General, who decide upon the marks to be awarded to each examinee. If these officers differ as to the marks to be assigned to any answer, the Secretary to the Government of India in the Financial Department decides finally between them.

GENERAL RULES.

XV.—The rules for conducting all the examinations are as follows:—

(1.) The examination papers are sent in a sealed packet, not to be opened till the examination begins, each cover containing a separate sealed envelope for each paper set; these envelopes must not be opened until the papers are required for distribution. An index number is assigned to each candidate. This index number is to be entered by the candidate on each of his papers, instead of his name, which is nowhere to appear on the proceedings.

(2.) The several papers should be given out singly, and the hour at which each paper is given out and received back is to be mentioned in the presiding officer's report. The exercises are to be worked out by the candidate in presence of the presiding officer.

(3). The questions need not be written out by the candidate, but only the answers and solutions in full, with the number of the question prefixed. The answers may be first worked out on waste paper. The neatness of the candidate's papers is taken into consideration by the examiners in assigning values to his work. The paper should be of foolscap size, with the candidate's index number and the date, and the title of each subject at the head of the paper. The solutions as first written out fair are to be transmitted to the Comptroller General, without alteration or correction, immediately after the close of the examination.

(4). The time occupied by the candidate in answering each set of questions i. e., the interval between receiving the examination paper and returning his papers to the presiding officer, is to be stated on the back of his paper of solutions. The time allowed for a paper is in no case to be exceeded.

(5). The presiding officer must certify that the above rules have been strictly followed by signing the certificate below, and explain any accidental or unavoidable deviations :—

Certified that the examination of the candidates whose index numbers are , has been conducted strictly according to the Rules contained in the Resolution of the Financial Department No. 2273, dated the 18th April 1876, as below :—

13.—Candidates for the Lower Examination who are now in the Department and who have not passed in Algebra, will be examined in that subject; and those who have already passed the Lower but not the Higher Departmental examination, will be examined in annuities, compound interest, and the use of logarithms of numbers.

14.—In order to avoid misapprehension, the Governor-General in Council declares that nothing in this Resolution is to be understood as limiting the powers which the Government has, throughout, expressly retained, of appointing gentlemen not in the Department, to any office in any class of the Department whenever the interests of the public service require it. The Government will always appoint an officer belonging to the Department to a vacancy, if there is such an officer of sufficient standing and experience and qualified for the office in every respect. But it must be emphatically understood that the officers in the Classified List have no monopoly of the departmental service other than that which the opportunities of their position, diligently improved, may secure to them.

15.—The first consideration, when a vacancy occurs in the Department, will always be the efficiency of the public service; and no claim on the part of the officers of the Department will ever be allowed to stand in the way of the enlistment, in the higher offices of the Department, of officers of the Covenanted Civil Service, or even of gentlemen not in the service of the Government at all, whenever it is thought that the public interests require, or will be promoted by, such enlistment.

16.—Moreover, His Excellency in Council deems it proper to declare that the Government of India holds itself free, not only to appoint to any office in the Finance Department any one not an enrolled officer of the Department whose appointment is considered necessary in the public interest, but also to pay to the person selected for such appointment such remuneration as may be required in order to secure his services.

17.—As regards Departmental Examination this resolution will take effect from the examination to be held in November 1876.

ORDERED, that the foregoing Resolution be published in the Gazette of India and communicated to the Comptroller General, the Accountants General, and the Deputy Accountants General in independent charge, and to each candidate nominated to compete for admission to the Department, and to each officer on his appointment to the Department.

(a) At an ordinary meeting at least six;
(b) At a special meeting at least nine;
(c) At a special general, or quarterly meeting, at least eighteen.

Provided that, if at any meeting there shall not be a sufficient number of Commissioners present to form a quorum as above mentioned, the President (whether he be the Chairman or not) shall adjourn the meeting to such convenient time and place as he shall think fit; and the business which should have been brought before the original meeting had there been a quorum present, shall be brought before, and disposed of by the adjourned meeting in the usual manner, whether there be a quorum present at such adjourned meeting or not;

Provided also that no business shall be brought before an adjourned special general or quarterly meeting, unless there are at least ten Commissioners present at such adjourned meeting.

Minutes of proceedings of meetings to be kept, and to be open for inspection.

50. Minutes of the proceedings of all meetings shall be drawn up and fairly entered in a book to be kept for that purpose, and shall be signed by the President after each meeting; and minutes of each meeting shall be laid on the table at the next subsequent meeting, and the said Minutes shall, at all reasonable times, be open at the office of the Commissioners to the inspection of any Commissioner without charge, and of any other person on payment of a fee of eight annas.

51. At any special general or quarterly meeting, unless a poll be demanded by at least five Commissioners, and at any special or ordinary meeting, unless a poll be demanded by at least three Commissioners, a declaration by the President that a resolution has been carried, and an entry to that effect in the Book of Proceedings of the Commissioners shall, for the purposes of this Act, be sufficient evidence of the fact, without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favor of, or against such resolution.

Poll how to be taken.

52. If a poll be demanded as in the last preceding section mentioned, the votes of all the Commissioners present who desire to vote shall be taken under the direction of the President, and the result of such poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the Commissioners at such meeting.

Chairman or Vice-Chairman to attend daily for the transaction of business, and to exercise the powers of the Commissioners.

53. The Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall, except upon such holidays as shall be allowed by the Government, and unless prevented by sickness or other reasonable cause, attend daily at the office of the Commissioners for the transaction of business connected with or arising under this Act, and, when so attending, shall have all the powers vested by this Act in the Commissioners; and they may respectively exercise the like powers at all times in carrying out the orders of the Commissioners, or in executing any work sanctioned by them, and generally in the management of the business aforesaid:

Provided that no Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall act in opposition to, or contravention of, any order of the Commissioners, or exercise any power which by this Act is directed to be exercised only by the Commissioners in meeting.

Every contract made on behalf of the Commissioners in respect of any sum exceeding one thousand rupees, or in respect of any property exceeding one thousand rupees in value, shall be in writing, and signed by the Chairman (or, in his absence, by the Vice-Chairman), and two other Commissioners, and shall be sealed with the seal of the Commissioners, and no such contract shall be made without inviting tenders thereon, and without the approval of a Committee of the Commissioners.

Unless so executed it shall not be binding on the Commissioners.

The Commissioners may compound with any contractor or other person in respect of any penalty or damages incurred by reason of the non-performance of any contract entered into as aforesaid, whether such penalty be mentioned in any such contract or otherwise, for such sums of money or other recompense as to the Commissioners may seem proper.

Commissioners may appoint Committees.

55. The Commissioners in meeting may from time to time appoint, from among the Commissioners, such and so many Committees, either of a general or of a special nature, and consisting of such number of persons as they may think fit, for the purpose of inquiring into, and reporting upon, any matter connected with the conservancy or improvement of the Town, or of advising and aiding the Chairman in the discharge of any portion of his executive duties, which in the discretion of the Commissioners would be better regulated or managed with the advice and aid of any such Committee:

Provided that the Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall be a member of every such Committee, and that the proceedings of every such Committee shall be submitted to the Commissioners at a meeting;

Provided also that in cases where the Chairman and the majority of the Committee differ on any matter, no action shall be taken in respect of such matter until it be disposed of by the Commissioners in meeting.

57. The Budget shall show what expenditure it is proposed to incur during the period to which it relates, and the manner in which it is proposed to meet such expenditure.

Provided that nothing contained in this section shall preclude the Commissioners in meeting from sanctioning expenditure not provided for in the Budget.

Revision and passing of estimates.

58. It shall be in the discretion of the Commissioners at the meeting referred to in section fifty-six to pass or to reject, or to modify, the estimates of all or any sums entered in the Budget.

For the purposes of this section a livery stable-keeper shall be deemed to be possessed of every animal in his stables.

Any person may, within fourteen days of the date of his being informed of the class under which he has been assessed as determined in the last preceding section, appeal against such assessment by delivering at the office of the Commissioners an application in writing stating the grounds of appeal; and such appeal shall be heard and determined by not less than three Commissioners other than Executive Officers of the Commissioners.

No such appeal shall be heard unless the amount of the license assessed as aforesaid has been deposited with the Commissioners.

If no appeal be made within the time limited as aforesaid, the decision of the Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall be final.

Commissioners may require list of persons in any house.

80. The Commissioners may, by a notice in writing under their common seal, require the occupier of any house to forward to them a list in writing signed by him of the names of all persons residing in such house, and of their respective professions, trades, and occupations.

The Commissioners may in their discretion remit any portion of the fee so payable if they are satisfied that the cart hereinbefore required to be registered has been kept or used as in the last preceding section mentioned for a portion of the half-year only.

When any registered cart is transferred within any half-year, it shall be registered anew in the name of the person to whom it has been transferred; and a fee of four annas shall be paid for every such last mentioned registration.

One-sixth of the total net proceeds of the fees half-yearly received by the Commissioners for the registration of carts, after deducting charges incurred in and about such registration, shall be paid half-yearly by the Commissioners to the municipality of the Suburbs, and one-twelfth of such proceeds to the municipality of Howrah.

and all Police Officers shall, on the application of the Commissioners or their Officers as aforesaid, seize and detain any such cart, animals, or cattle.

If the cart, animals, or cattle so seized be not claimed within ten days, they may be sold by auction by order of a Justice of the Peace, or Magistrate, and the proceeds of such sale may be applied to the expenses incurred on account of the seizure, detention, and sale; and the surplus (if any), if not claimed within a further period of twenty days, shall be paid to the Municipal Fund of Calcutta.

The Police and Lighting-rates shall be payable in advance on the dates above mentioned for the current quarter.

PART II.—Of the Owner's Rates.

90. If the annual value of any house or land as assessed under Chapter V, shall in any case exceed the amount of rent payable by the occupier to the owner, the owner may in such case recover from the occupier the difference between the sum assessed upon him and the sum at which he would have been assessed had he been rated only upon the amount of rent actually payable to him, and such difference shall be added to the rent payable by the occupier, and shall be recoverable by the owner from him.

If assessment be made at a higher annual value than the amount paid by the occupier, owner may recover difference from him.

91. Where any house or land, whereon the rate is assessed under Chapter V, has been vacant for sixty consecutive days during any year, the person assessed to the said rate shall be entitled to a remission of so much thereof, not exceeding one-half of the rate for that year, as shall be proportionate to the number of days such house or land has been vacant, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Commissioners of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of the delivery of such notice at the office of the Commissioners.

Remission of house-rate when house vacant.

92. No remission shall be made under the last preceding section, unless the same shall be applied for within six months from the date of cessation of occupation of the house or land on account of which the remission is applied for.

93. Whenever any quarterly instalment of Water-rate shall have been paid in respect of any house or land, and such house or land shall, during the quarter for which such instalment shall have been paid, cease to be occupied, the person who shall have paid such Water-rate shall be entitled to be repaid by the Commissioners three-fourths of such sum as shall bear to the amount paid by him the same proportion which the residue of the quarter bears to an entire quarter, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Commissioners of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of the delivery of such notice at the office of the Commissioners.

Refund of Water-rate when house ceases to be occupied.

94. Whenever any quarterly instalment of the Police and Lighting-rates shall have been paid in respect of any house or land, and such house or land shall, during the quarter for which such instalment shall have been paid, cease to be occupied, the person who shall have paid such instalment shall be entitled to be repaid by the Commissioners such sum as shall bear to the amount paid by him the same proportion which the residue of the quarter bears to an entire quarter, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Commissioners of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of delivery of such notice at the office of the Commissioners.

Refund of Police and Lighting-rates when house ceases to be occupied.

95. No refund of rates shall be made under the two last preceding sections, unless the same is applied for within six months from the date of cessation of occupation of the house or land on account of which the refund is applied for.

No refund of rates unless application made within six months from vacancy.

96. Whenever any house or land, which shall have been unoccupied, shall be occupied during any quarter, there shall be forthwith payable in respect of such house or land, such amount of the Water, Police, and Lighting-rates as shall bear to the entire quarterly instalments of the said rates for such house or land the same proportion as the residue of such quarter after such house or land shall be occupied bears to an entire quarter.

Rate payable on house or land becoming occupied.

97. Whenever any person holding any house or land at a rent from the person liable to pay the House-rate has or may sublet the same to different persons holding in severalty, the person so holding shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be the occupier of such house or land.

Person subletting to different persons to be deemed occupier.

98. Whenever the person from or by whom the Water-rate shall have been recovered or paid shall not be the owner of the house or land in respect of which the Water-rate shall have been assessed, such person may recover from the owner of such house or land one-fourth of the Water-rate so paid by deducting the same from the rent payable by him to such owner.

Occupier paying Water-rate to deduct one-fourth from rent due to owner.

99. Whenever any house or land has been unoccupied during an entire quarter, the owner of the said house or land shall pay to the Commissioners one-fourth of the sum which would have been payable as Water-rate by the occupier if such house or land had been occupied.

When house or land unoccupied, owner to pay one-fourth of Water-rate.

The sum payable by the owner under this section shall be payable on the first of April, the first of July, the first of October, and the first of January, for the quarters immediately preceding those dates.

100. If any house is occupied by more than one person holding in severalty, or is of less assessed annual value than two hundred rupees, the Commissioners may impose the Water, Police, and Lighting-rates upon the owner of such house, or upon the owner of the land on which such house is situated.

Owner to recover from occupier water-rate paid by owner.

101. If the Water-rate is paid by the owner of any house or land under the last preceding section, such owner may, if there be but one occupier of the house, recover from such occupier three-fourths of the rate so paid by such owner; and if there be more than one occupier, he may recover from each occupier three-fourths of such sum as shall bear to the entire amount of rate so paid by him the same proportion as the value of the portion of the house in the occupation of such person bears to the entire value of such house.

Owner to recover from occupier police and lighting-rates paid by owner.

102. If the Police and Lighting-rates are paid by the owner of any house or land under section one hundred, such owner may, if there be but one occupier of the house, recover from such occupier the entire amount of the rates so paid by such owner; and if there be more than one occupier, he may recover from each occupier such sum as shall bear to the entire amount of rates so paid by him the same proportion as the value of the portion of the house in the occupation of such person bears to the entire value of such house.

Owner to have same power for recovering rates as for recovering rent.

103. Every owner who, under the provisions of the two last preceding sections, may be entitled to recover any sum from the occupier of any house or of any portion thereof, shall have for the recovery of such sum all such and the same remedies, powers, rights, and authorities as if such sum were rent payable to him by the occupier in respect of such portion of the house as may be in his occupation.

CHAPTER V.

OF THE ASSESSMENT OF HOUSES AND LAND.

Annual value of house or land how to be ascertained.

104. The estimated gross annual rent at which any house or land, liable to rate under this Act, might reasonably be expected to let from year to year, shall, for the purposes of any rate to be imposed under this Act, be held and be deemed to be the annual value of such house or land.

The value of land so estimated shall not include the value of any machinery thereupon.

Provided that all the unoccupied land, roads, and slopes of the Port Commissioners shall be rated at the rent for which the said land, roads, or slopes might be reasonably expected to let, in the same manner as if the said land, roads, and slopes were used for other than public purposes, and belonged to persons other than a public body, save and except the road extending from the northern boundary of the premises occupied by the East India Railway Company at Armenian Ghât to the Chitpore canal, and the road extending from the Chitpore road to the river Hooghly at Coomartollah Ghat, for a width not exceeding seventy feet and sixty feet respectively, which shall be exempted from assessment of any rate under this Act.

Annual value to be assessed by the Commissioners; assessment to remain in force for six years.

105. All assessments made by the Commissioners prior to the commencement of this Act shall remain in force during the period for which they were so made, and on the expiration of such assessments, the annual value at which any house or land is to be assessed shall be fixed by the Commissioners, and such house or land shall be assessed upon the value so fixed for six years from the date on which it is so fixed.

When substantial improvement made, Commissioners may re-assess.

106. If, during the currency of any period mentioned in the last preceding section, any substantial alteration and improvement is made to any such house or land, the Commissioners may cause such house or land to be again assessed, even though such period has not expired, and such last mentioned assessment shall be in force, and the rate shall be imposed according to it, until the expiration of the said period of assessment.

When substantial injury done, Commissioners may re-assess.

107. If, during the currency of any period mentioned in section one hundred and five, any such house or land shall receive substantial injury through fire, cyclone, the act of God, or civil commotion, or suffers material depreciation from any cause proved to the satisfaction of the Commissioners to have been beyond the control of the owner or occupier thereof, the Commissioners shall, as soon as practicable, on application being made to them in writing by the owner or occupier of such house or land, cause such house or land to be again assessed, even though the current period of assessment has not expired, and such last mentioned assessment shall be in force, and the rate shall be imposed according to it, until the expiration of the said period of assessment;

Provided that if any substantial alteration and improvement shall be made, prior to the expiration of the said period of assessment, to the house or land which shall have been again assessed as aforesaid, the Commissioners may cause such house or land to be again assessed as under section one hundred and six.

Annual value assessed to be entered in a book.

108. The annual value assessed by the Commissioners as hereinbefore provided, shall be entered in a book to be kept at the office of the Commissioners, wherein shall also be written in distinct columns—

(a) the name of the owner;

(b) the name of the occupier, if the occupier is the person liable to pay the rate;

(c) a designation of the property, sufficient to identify the same, together with the name and number of the street (if any) in which it is situated;

(d) the amount of the rate assessed thereon; and

(e) the amount of the rate assessed on the house and on the land respectively, whenever any rate is payable by the owner of the land, and the said owner is not the owner of the house situated on the said land.

The book required to be kept under this section is hereinafter called the "assessment book."

When the name of the owner or occupier is not known, it shall be sufficient to designate him in the assessment book as the "owner" or "occupier."

New valuation or measurement to be made.

109. Provided that no person shall put up a hoard or fence without the written permission of the Commissioners, and shall not keep up the said hoard or fence for a time longer than allowed in the said written permission.

Penalty.

273. Whenever the Commissioners in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, are satisfied, from inspection, or by report of competent persons, that any existing block of huts in the Town is, by reason of the manner in which the huts are constructed or crowded together, or of the want of drainage and the impracticability of scavengering, attended with risk of disease to the inhabitants or the neighbourhood, they may cause the locality to be inspected by two medical officers, who shall make a report in writing on the sanitary condition of the said block of huts, and shall specify, if necessary, in the said report the huts which should be removed, the roads, drains, and sewers which should be constructed, and the low lands which should be filled up, with a view to the removal of the said risk of disease.

281. On receipt of the said report the Commissioners in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may cause a notice to be served upon the owners or occupiers of the huts, or at the option of the Commissioners, the owner of the land on which such huts are built, requiring them to carry out and execute, within a reasonable time, to be fixed by the Commissioners for such purpose, all or any of the works specified in the aforesaid report, or any portion thereof respectively.

On receipt of report Commissioners may cause notice to be served.

282. If after the service of the said notice, such owners or occupiers, or the owner of the land, shall refuse or neglect to carry out and execute the said works within the time appointed, the Commissioners may cause all or any of the said works, or any portion thereof respectively, to be executed, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner of the land.

Commissioners may carry out works if owners or occupiers refuse.

Provided that the Commissioners in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may order the expenses so incurred to be recovered by instalments from the said owner, or if it should appear to them that the said owner is unable by reason of poverty to pay the same, may order the same or any portion thereof to be paid out of the Municipal Fund.

Expenses may be recovered by instalments or remitted in case of poverty.

Sale of huts.

The Court of Small Causes shall be deemed a competent court for that purpose.

284. In case the Commissioners should omit to take any action under sections two hundred and eighty or two hundred and eighty-one, or in the opinion of the Local Government should fail to give effect to the provisions thereof, the Local Government may cause any block of huts to be inspected by the Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal, who shall make a report in writing to the Local Government on the sanitary condition of the locality and, in the event of his reporting that the sanitary condition of the locality is such as to be attended with risk of disease to the inhabitants or the neighbourhood, shall specify the huts which should be removed, the roads, drains, and sewers which should be constructed, and the low lands which should be filled up, with a view to the removal of the said risk of disease.

If Commissioners fail to act, Local Government may take steps.

285. On receipt of the said report the Local Government may order the Commissioners to serve a notice on the owners or occupiers of the huts, or on the owner of the land on which such huts are built, requiring them to carry out and execute within a reasonable time to be fixed by the Local Government for such purpose, all or any of the works specified in the said report, or any portion thereof respectively; and upon service of the said notice the Commissioners may proceed as provided in section two hundred and eighty-two, and shall be liable to all or any of the obligations imposed upon them by section two hundred and eighty-three.

On receipt of report Local Government may order Commissioners to serve notice on owners.

286. If the Commissioners make default in carrying out the said order of the Local Government, the Local Government may appoint some officer to perform the same, and such officer may exercise such of the powers conferred upon the Commissioners by sections two hundred and eighty-one and two hundred and eighty-two, as are necessary for the execution of the said works, and shall be liable to all or any of the obligations imposed upon the Commissioners by section two hundred and eighty-three, and the expenses incurred by such officer in the execution of the said works shall be paid by the owner of the land.

If Commissioners make default in carrying out order, Local Government may carry it out.

Provided that the Local Government may order the expenses so incurred to be recovered by instalments from the said owner, or if it should appear to the Local Government that the said owner is by reason of poverty unable to pay the same, may order the same or any portion thereof to be paid out of the Municipal Fund.

Expenses may be recovered by instalments or remitted in case of poverty.

Penalty.

290. If such owner, occupier, or farmer, after notice in writing given to him by the Commissioners that such market or slaughter-house is defective in any of the said particulars, and requiring him to remedy the defect specified within not less than thirty days, makes default therein, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which such default is continued.

and in default of payment of such fine, the same may be levied under the warrant of such Justice of the Peace by distress and sale of the moveable property of the offender, with all such powers for the issuing of such warrant, and upon the return thereof, as are exercised by a Magistrate of Police under the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, or any other Act for the time being in force for regulating the Police of the Town of Calcutta.

And if the fine cannot be so levied, the offender may be punished by such Justice of the Peace with rigorous or simple imprisonment, as defined in section 53 of the Indian Penal Code, for a term not exceeding two months.

348. Whenever any prosecution shall be instituted before any Justice of the Peace under this Act, he may summon the person charged to appear at a time and place to be mentioned in the summons; and if such person shall not so appear, such Justice of the Peace may, upon proof of service of the summons, if no sufficient cause shall be shown for the non-appearance of the person charged, proceed to hear and determine the case in his absence.

Procedure on prosecution.

Such Justice of the Peace may exercise all such powers connected with the summoning, and enforcement of the attendance, of witnesses, and the production of documents, as are conferred on a Magistrate by the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, or any other Act for the time being in force for regulating the procedure of the Police Magistrates' Courts in Calcutta.

349. Every prosecution under section forty-one shall be instituted before such Magistrate or Court as would have jurisdiction to entertain a charge of the nature described in section 161 of the Indian Penal Code.

Prosecution under section forty-one to be instituted as under Penal Code.

350. The Justice of the Peace by whom any fine is imposed under this Act, may award any portion, not being more than one-half thereof, to the informer, and shall order the remainder, or, if he make no award to the informer, the whole of such fine, to be paid to the Municipal Fund.

How a Justice may award a fine.

351. No person shall be liable to any fine under this Act for any offence cognizable by a Justice of the Peace unless the complaint respecting such offence shall have been made before a Justice of the Peace, within two months next after the commission of such offence:

Complaint to be made within two months of the offence.

Provided that the failure to take out any license under this Act shall be deemed to be a continuing offence until the expiration of the period for which such license is required to be taken out.

Person doing damage to the property of the Commissioners to make good the same.

and the amount of such damage shall, in case of dispute, be determined by the Justice of the Peace by whom such person has been fined;

CHAPTER XVIII.

353. Where any damages, costs, or expenses are by this Act directed to be paid, the amount and, if necessary, the apportionment of the same, in case of dispute, shall be ascertained and determined by the Court of Small Causes.

Provided that when any work is executed by the Commissioners under this Act in default of the owner or occupier of the house or land doing such work, the expenses thereby incurred may be recovered by the Commissioners as a rate under Chapter VI.

354. In any case which is to be determined by the Court of Small Causes under this Act, the said Court may, on the application of either party, summon the other party to appear at a time and place to be named in such summons.

Upon the appearance of the parties, or, in the absence of any of them, upon proof of due service of the summons, the said Court may hear and determine such question, and, for that purpose, may examine such parties or any of them, and their witnesses, on oath; and the costs of every such inquiry shall be in the discretion of the said Court which shall determine the amount thereof.

Recovery of damages by distress.

355. If the amount of damages, costs, or expenses, ascertained in the manner above described, be not paid by the party liable to pay the same within seven days after demand, such amount may be recovered, under a warrant of the said Court, by distress and sale of the moveable property of such party; and the surplus arising from the sale thereof, after satisfying such amount and the costs of the distress and sale, shall be returned on demand to the party whose property shall have been distrained.

Commissioners may sue in any competent Court instead of realizing by, or on failure of, distress.

356. Instead of proceeding by distress and sale, and in case of failure to realize by distress the whole or any part of any expenses, charges, or damages awarded under the provisions of this Act, the Commissioners may sue the person liable to pay the same in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Limitation of three months to suit against Commissioners or their officers.

357. Every such suit shall be commenced within three months next after accrual of the right to sue, and not afterwards.

If any person to whom any such notice of suit is given shall, before the suit is brought, tender sufficient amends to the plaintiff, such plaintiff shall not recover in any such action when brought; and if no such tender shall have been made, it shall be lawful for the defendant in such action, by leave of the court where such action shall be pending, at any time before issue joined, to pay into court such sum of money as he shall think fit, and thereupon such proceedings shall be had as in other cases where defendants are allowed to pay money into court.

His sister runs off and his mistress sues him on bond for Rs. 10,000, which is paid by the mother of the Báboo, who now comes to his senses and becomes a better member of society. The writer of the drama expresses a desire to root out many social evils; but in making a prostitute one of the principal actors on the stage, corrupt ideas are necessarily left on the mind.

MOFUSSIL MUNICIPALITIES.

ON the motion of the HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER, the Bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to municipalities was further considered in order to the settlement of its clauses.

To Section 3, on the motion of the HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER, the following clause was added:—

"All property, moveable and immoveable, of any kind whatsoever, derived under any of the enactments specified in the fifth schedule, or otherwise, and vested in, or held in trust for, the late Commissioners under the said District Municipal Improvement Act, 1864, or the late Committee under the said District Towns' Act, 1868, shall become vested in the Commissioners under Chapter II, and their successors; and all such property so derived, and vested in, or held in trust for, the late Commissioners under Act XXVI of 1850, shall become vested in the Commissioners of the station under Chapter IV, and their successors."

In Section 5, clauses (1) and (2), verbal amendments were made in the definitions of "carriage" and "cart;" and clause (13), the definition of "navigable channel," was omitted as unnecessary.

A verbal amendment was made in Section 6.

Section 31 was omitted as unnecessary, consequent on the addition made to Section 3.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER moved the insertion of the following clause at the end of Section 79 (relating to the tax on persons), and the omission of a similar clause from the end of Section 81:—

"Such tax shall not be assessed or levied on any person in respect of the occupation of arable lands, or of any building which is used exclusively as a place of worship."

In Section 90 (exemptions from the tax on holdings) the words "or as a hospital" were omitted.

A verbal amendment was made in Section 111.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER, the following section, taken from Section 27 of Bengal Act IV of 1871 (the Pooree Lodging-houses Act), was introduced after Section 197:—

"Whoever being the occupier of a house in or near any public road, keeps, or allows to be kept, for more than twenty-four hours, otherwise than in some proper receptacle, any dirt, dung, bones, ashes, night-soil, or filth, or any noxious or offensive matter, in or upon such house, or in any out-house, yard, or ground attached to and occupied with such house, or suffers such receptacle to be in a filthy or noxious state, or neglects to employ proper means to cleanse the same, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees."

And the following sections, taken from Sections 69 and 70 of Bengal Act III of 1864 (the District Municipal Improvement Act), were introduced after Section 200:—

"The Municipal Commissioners may license such necessaries for public accommodation as they, from time to time, may think proper; and whoever shall keep any public necessary without such license, or, having a license for a public necessary, shall suffer the same to be in a filthy or noxious state, or shall neglect to employ proper means for cleansing the same, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and such license may be withdrawn.

"Whoever being the owner or occupier of any private drain, privy, or cess-pool, shall neglect or refuse, after warning from the Municipal Commissioners, to keep the same in a proper state, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees."

A verbal amendment was made in Section 215.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER, a verbal amendment was made in Section 233, and the following section was introduced after Section 233:—

"233*a*. Whoever causes or allows the water of any sink, sewer, or cess-pool, or any other offensive matter belonging to him, or being on his land, to run, drain, or be put or thrown upon any road, or causes or allows any offensive matter to run, drain, or be thrown into a surface drain near any road, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty-five rupees for every such offence."

Verbal amendments were made in Sections 285, 286, and 338; and Section 337 was omitted.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER, the following words were added to Section 372:—

"And the proceeds of the assessment on such lands made under the said Part shall be paid into the Municipal, Union, or Station Fund (as the case may be), and shall be available for the purposes of such fund."

In the schedule of repealed Acts (Schedule V, Parts I and II) some necessary amendments were made.

On the motion of the HON'BLE BABOO RAMSHUNKER SEN, a verbal amendment was made in Section 364; and in Section 369 the period after which the proceeds of unclaimed holdings should be transferred to the Municipal Fund was extended from one year to three years.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER then moved that the Bill be passed.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said—"It will be entirely for the Council to decide whether this Bill should be passed; but I wish to say that, for myself, I think that the Bill has been most fully and amply considered down to its minutest details, and that there appears to be no reason why it should not be passed.

But before putting the motion, I should like to make one or two observations on the resolutions passed at a meeting of a number of respectable native gentlemen at Bhowanipore, which appears in the newspapers this morning. With all respect for those gentlemen, I should like to make a few remarks that occur to me for the consideration of hon'ble members. The first resolution at which the meeting arrived is this—

"That this meeting records its dissatisfaction with the present system for the administration of municipal affairs in the suburbs of Calcutta, there being no bond of union between those who administer the municipal funds, and those who have to find the same; and observes with anxiety the expansion of the objects of municipal expenditure, and the studied exclusion of the Imperial and Provincial Funds from due liability for the same."

The Council will observe that there are two points in that resolution—first, that these gentlemen think that there is not a sufficient "bond of union between those who administer municipal funds and those who have to find the same." I really do not know what that means. It is a vague and general observation, and one which it is not possible for the legislature to remedy. If there is not a good understanding between the Commissioners and their constituency, it is difficult to remedy that defect by legislation. This Bill provides for the introduction of the elective system; and if the rate-payers are not satisfied with the existing Municipal Commissioners, they will have an opportunity under the Bill of lawfully electing their representatives; and after that the Council must presume that there is confidence between the electors and the elected. If the system of election does provide that mutual confidence, then I submit that it is impossible for the legislature to do more.

The next point in the resolution is this: "the studied exclusion of the Imperial and Provincial Funds from due liability" for municipal expenditure. That is a large question, settled by a variety of considerations. It is not within the power of the Council or the local Government to provide imperial funds for municipal expenditure; and most of the hon'ble members are doubtless aware that it is quite impossible for the Government to give any help from Provincial Funds. If we are able to do so, there is nothing to prevent it; but I think the Council will agree that it is impossible to spare anything for municipal expenditure. So I submit that there is nothing in the first resolution which the Council can take into practical consideration.

"That this meeting believes that the introduction of a popular elected element in municipalities will lead to a more economical and impartial administration of municipal funds, and deprecates, on principle, any increase of taxation, however slight or indirect, till the proposed remedy has been tried."

There are two points in this resolution—first, the elective principle; and secondly, increase of taxation. As regards the introduction of the elective principle, I have no doubt that it will lead to a more economical and impartial administration of municipal funds: in that I believe the Council will entirely concur. But they further 'deprecate any increase of taxation.' Now, that increase of taxation question has been mentioned so many times in this Council, that it is difficult to enumerate the number of occasions of such mention. I believe that all the members will agree that the increase of taxation in this Bill is really almost nothing; whereas, on the other hand, there are decreases of taxation in one or two items: so that the net result is rather favorable to the tax-payer than otherwise. And I am sure the Council will consider that there is no reason on this account to make even the slightest alteration in a single section of the Bill.

The third resolution says—

"That this meeting protests against any grant or aid from municipal funds to educational institutions where religious education is directly or indirectly compulsory."

Now, that is a very arguable point which, as the members will recollect, has been fully and satisfactorily considered in the Council. We have had the advantage of hearing all that can be said from one or two hon'ble members; also of hearing the answers given to those arguments; and the Council has deliberately decided after full consultation, and after full hearing of the arguments, to retain the section which relates to this point.

These, then, are the three resolutions which were arrived at by the meeting; and I submit, for the reasons I have stated, that there is nothing in any one of them which should induce the Council to modify the opinions it has already formed, or to delay the passing of this useful and important measure."

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier said he would wish to add a few words to what had fallen from His Honor the President, to correct a misapprehension which seemed to exist. One of the resolutions passed at the meeting referred to "deprecated, on principle, any increase of taxation, however slight or indirect." He saw that some of the native papers were calling upon the people to band themselves together, to protect themselves against the contemplated increase in the scope of municipal taxation. This, as had been said over and over again, was founded on misapprehension. He thought that the Act which was passed in 1873, after the Municipal Bill of Sir George Campbell was vetoed by the Governor-General, had been overlooked. That Act, which was the existing law, introduced the innovations which seemed to be the subject of complaint. If any hon'ble member would point out specifically any point upon which he considered that this Act introduced a new object to which the municipal funds might be applied, Mr. Dampier thought he could point out a section of the existing law which already legalized the application of municipal funds to that purpose. So far as he was aware, not one single new object of municipal expenditure was created by the present Bill, and nothing was made compulsory which was left optional by the existing law.

The Hon'ble Baboo Kristodas Pal said, before the motion was put to the vote, he thought it necessary to point out that the charge of increased taxation was not altogether groundless. It was true that in Committee of this Council concessions were made on two important points which had a tendency to increased taxation—they were the horse and carriage tax, and what he might call the conservancy cess. Hon'ble members would recollect that the schedule of horse and carriage tax attached to the Bill nearly doubled the tax prescribed in the schedule to Act III of 1864. No doubt the hon'ble mover had since thought fit to considerably reduce the scale of fees. With regard to the conservancy cess, as he called it, he need hardly remind the Council that it was proposed to charge the inhabitants of mofussil municipalities for the removal of rubbish from the road-side; but after considerable discussion, that point was yielded, and it was now declared that fees should be charged for the removal of only business or professional rubbish when deposited on the street.

But the most important point (on which he might say hon'ble members were almost unanimous as to its mischievous and vexatious tendency) was that the road tolls had not only been retained, but extended to those municipalities in which they were not now levied. First of all it was urged that it would not be judicious to curtail the income of those municipalities where road tolls were now levied, because they yielded a large amount of revenue. He for one was prepared to make the concession, because it might be difficult to replace the loss thereby sustained. But it was not only resolved to retain the road tolls where they were now levied, but to extend the power to levy them where they did not now exist. If that was not additional taxation, he did not know what was; and it would be a harassing mode of taxation. It was a mode of taxation which ought not to be tolerated anywhere where other means were open for bringing in a revenue. It was sure to prove a fruitful engine of harassment and oppression. That had been over and over admitted by the officers of Government; and he observed with regret the extension of the power to impose these tolls.

Then the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill had thrown out a challenge to any hon'ble member to point out any additional objects of taxation embodied in the Bill, and which did not find a place in the existing Acts. Of course BABOO KRISTODAS PAL had not now time to go over the whole of the sections of the Bill, and compare the provisions which bore on that point with the corresponding sections of the existing Acts. But he might generally observe that the hon'ble member had copied some of the provisions for the application of the municipal fund from the Calcutta Municipal Bill, and these provisions were quite new. One thing he might point out as a novel principle, so far as municipal government in Bengal was concerned, and that was the authorizing one municipal body to contribute funds towards works undertaken by another municipality. At any rate that was a new provision. It implied a system of municipal federation which, so far as he was aware, did not exist in any country, and which might lead to extensive and ambitious works, to the detriment of the ordinary requirements of a municipality, not to say that it would defeat the very object for which a municipal unit was formed.

Then, again, he might point out that this Bill for the first time laid upon municipalities the obligation to provide for the maintenance of establishments in the offices of Magistrates and Commissioners for the discharge of duties connected with municipalities. He held that the supervision of municipal work was a part of the general duty of the administrative agency of the country, and if it was justifiable to charge a municipality with the expense, why not charge as well a part of the salary of the supervising officers on the self-same principle? Perhaps it would come to pass by and bye. This, he said, was a new provision.

Then, again, all the objects mentioned in section 6 did not find a place in the existing Municipal Acts,—roads, bridges, embankments, tanks, ghâts, gardens, wharves, jetties, wells, channels, drains, privies, latrines, and urinals. Some of these were certainly legitimate objects of municipal expenditure; but if municipal funds were to be applied to the construction and maintenance of embankments, one could easily see that the whole of the income of a town might be absorbed in this work. There was a special Act for the construction and maintenance of embankments. Again, gardens were a superfluity in mofussil towns, which were not at all densely populated, and which did not therefore need opening out for the health of the people. Similarly, wharves and jetties more especially fell within the requirements of ports, and the expenditure on that account should be borne from port funds: in Calcutta they were so paid for. If there was a port fund in Calcutta for the execution of such works, much more was it necessary that the comparatively poor municipalities in the mofussil should not be burdened with the construction and maintenance of such works. In the mofussil there were but one or two municipalities in which wharves and jetties might be necessary. Chittagong was the only place he could now recollect in which such works existed, and there we had a large customs revenue.

Now, he submitted that he had gone over most of the objects which the hon'ble mover had introduced, in addition to what obtained in the existing Municipal Acts. Two things were thus clear—that there was additional taxation, and that there was a multiplication of the objects of municipal expenditure, many of which should not come under it.

The third point was this. The Hon'ble President had referred to the proceedings of a meeting held at Bhowanipore, and had gone carefully, seriatim, into the subject. BABOO KRISTODAS PAL admitted that the resolutions were vague and indefinite, and he wished that those gentlemen in the mofussil who were interested in the Bill had taken time by the forelock, and had made known their wants and grievances before the Bill had reached its last stage. He need not go into the questions raised by the resolutions, because they had been already answered by the President. He did not, however, agree with His Honor that the question about the application of municipal funds to the maintenance of religious schools was satisfactorily decided in this Council. In fact, His Honor might remember that there was a tie on the motion for the exclusion of these schools from amongst the objects of municipal expenditure, and that it was only the casting vote of the President which decided the question in the negative. But be that as it might, there was a distinct vote in the Council on this question. He confessed he was not satisfied that it was right in principle that a tax paid by persons belonging to other religions should be applied to the maintenance of institutions which were kept up avowedly with the object of subverting their religion. There was a strong feeling in the matter, for the taxes which were paid by Hindus and Mahomedans ought to be applied to the secular education of the children of the soil, and not for the propagation of an antagonistic religion. But let that pass.

Then the hon'ble mover had been pleased to point out that the Bill did not make anything compulsory which was hitherto optional, and did not give a discretionary power where such power did not now exist. BABOO KRISTODAS PAL submitted that this Bill came within the objections taken by the Viceroy to the Bill of 1872. The great objection which His Excellency took to that Bill was that it left a large measure of discretion to the executive authority; and this Bill, at every step, left a discretion to the executive quite to the extent left by the previous Bill. This Bill, in its conservancy and sanitary regulations, far exceeded the provisions of the former Bill. The Bill of 1872 did not, so far as he recollected, contain the building and bustee regulations embodied in the present Bill, which were very stringent, and could not be worked in the mofussil without producing great injustice and oppression. He thought that the operation of these sections, if they were necessary at all, should be confined to the municipalities of the Suburbs of Calcutta and Howrah; but he was told that it would be left to the discretion of the Executive Government to extend these provisions. Now, it was this matter of discretion of the executive which drew the attention of the Viceroy and led to the vetoing of the former Bill. His Excellency's remarks on this point were as follows:—

7. "It is true that many of the provisions of the Bill to which His Excellency objects are permissive, and depend for their introduction upon the exercise of the powers committed to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal. The present Lieutenant-Governor has expressed his intention to use with great caution and reserve the powers which would be placed in his hands; and His Excellency cordially agrees with the sentiments expressed by His Honor that it is unwise "to push too far sanitary and other regulations which may effect some future good at the cost of great individual vexation." And that in introducing such regulations we must recollect "not only that our knowledge of these subjects is yet imperfect, but also that much regard must be had to the habits and feelings of the people which, even in Europe and still more in this country, are opposed to great innovations in matters affecting their daily lives in their homes and neighbourhoods:" but while entirely concurring in those views, His Excellency must, in dealing with the Bill, look rather to the powers which it confers than to the extent to which for the present it is proposed to make use of those powers. If he objects to any material provisions contained in a proposed law, for which his assent is required under the Indian Councils' Act of 1861, it is not sufficient for His Excellency to be informed that the officer in whose discretion their introduction is vested considers that action should be suspended or deferred. No feeling of confidence in the discretion of any one man in whose power the administration of a law may for the time being be placed, would, in His Excellency's opinion, justify him in assenting to a measure, to any essential provisions of which, if fully brought into operation, he entertains such serious objections as he does to some of those which are contained in the Bengal Municipalities Bill."

NOW, BABOO KRISTODAS PAL had already pointed out that in the matter of building regulations, bustee improvements, sanitary rules, and market provisions, a very wide discretion was left to the Government,—a discretion to which the Viceroy had taken exception, and on which ground His Excellency had vetoed the former Bill.

He would read one paragraph more from the letter which conveyed the disallowance of the Bill of 1872. It was the last paragraph:—

11. "While His Excellency regrets that the great labor which has been bestowed by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and the Legislative Council of Bengal upon the preparation of this Bill will not produce any immediate results, it is not his desire to interpose an obstacle to improvements in the municipal law of Bengal, provided that such improvements are not accompanied by any material increase of taxation, or by changes so extensive as those which are embodied in the present Bill."

These were the two conditions laid down for the amendment of the municipal law—first, that there should be no increase of taxation; and secondly, that no material innovations should be introduced. BABOO KRISTODAS PAL had endeavoured to show to the Council that, on the point of increased taxation, the provisions in the Bill relating to road tolls were quite sufficient to justify him in holding that there had been additional taxation, and that in a most objectionable form. And in regard to innovation, he thought that the discussions in Council had sufficiently shown that there had been great, material, and injurious innovations in the Bill, which required the serious consideration of the Council.

On these grounds, he thought it his duty to object to the passing of the Bill.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said that, in replying to the hon'ble member, he would confine himself to three specific points. The hon'ble gentleman said there had been increased taxation first in the provision which enabled one municipality to contribute to useful works which were undertaken by a neighbouring municipality, and which would be beneficial to itself. If that was to be called increased taxation, to that extent he admitted that the Bill did provide increased taxation. But he did not think that this was a fair use of the words. [The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL observed that he said that it was a multiplication of the objects of taxation.] MR. DAMPIER could not admit that; but if taxation itself was not increased, what could be the harm of increasing the objects to which they might be applied according to the requirements of circumstances, and at the option of the municipal bodies. The hon'ble member to his right (Mr. Bell) had just suggested that the effect of this provision might be said to be to diminish expenditure rather than to increase it, for it enabled two municipalities to club together for a common object, and each one, instead of paying the whole cost of the work undertaken, would only pay one-half; as, for instance, in the case of a water-supply, where one set of head-works would supply two municipalities.

Another example which the hon'ble gentleman had thought worthy of bringing forward, of increase of taxation, was the very minute contribution which municipalities of districts and divisions in which these institutions abounded could be called upon to pay towards the expense of a clerk, or two clerks, employed at the Commissioner's and Magistrate's offices for supervising the work of municipalities. MR. DAMPIER really thought this petty item not worthy of notice in connection with so large a question; and he thought that if the adversaries of the Bill were driven to give a prominent place to this, as an instance of the increased burdens thrown on tax-payers by the Bill, it might be accepted as an indication that there was nothing very serious to complain of in this direction.

The third point which he would notice was the question of tolls on roads. As things stood, the Lieutenant-Governor might impose tolls on roads wherever he thought fit. This Bill provided that within municipal limits the Commissioners themselves might impose tolls, but only with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, and only for certain specific purposes. If they wished to construct an expensive bridge, or to make a metalled road which would benefit the municipality, they might, with the consent of the Lieutenant-Governor, levy tolls for that object, and they might not impose them for any other. Compare the two states of things. This Bill apart, the Lieutenant-Governor had authority to put on any tolls on any road he liked, and to do what he liked with the proceeds. Under this Bill the Lieutenant-Governor was practically barred from doing so within municipalities, except on the recommendation of the Commissioners; and they again were barred from recommending the imposition of any toll, except for the particular purposes which MR. DAMPIER had mentioned. Surely it was hardly reasonable to speak of that as an increase of taxation, or of the objects of taxation.

The expenditure of municipal funds on wharves and jetties was legalized on the suggestion of the hon'ble member opposite (Baboo Ramshunker Sen), and MR. DAMPIER would leave that hon'ble member to explain the reasons for the amendment which he had moved.

The HON'BLE BABOO RAMSHUNKER SEN stated that from his own experience he knew that the cost of the construction of wharves and jetties was now paid for by municipalities, and that they were maintained from municipal funds; and he did not see that there had been any increase in the objects of municipal expenditure under this Bill.

Ayes 9.	Noes 2.
The Hon'ble Moulvie Meer Mahomed Ali.	The Hon'ble Nawab Ashgar Ali.
„ Hon'ble Mr. Brookes.	„ Hon'ble Baboo Kristodas Pal.
„ Hon'ble Baboo Ramshunker Sen.

„ Hon'ble Mr. Bell.
„ Hon'ble Mr. Reynolds.
„ Hon'ble Sir Stuart Hogg.
„ Hon'ble Mr. Dampier.
„ Hon'ble the Advocate-General.

So the motion was carried and the Bill passed.

PARTITION OF ESTATES.

On the motion of the Hon'ble Mr. Dampier, the Council proceeded to the further consideration of the Bill to make better provision for the partition of estates in order to the settlement of its clauses.

Verbal amendments were made in sections 31, 33, 36, and 37.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier moved the introduction of the following section after Section 42:—

"42*a*. Whenever it shall appear to the Lieutenant-Governor that in any district the work required to be done by Deputy Collectors in connection with partitions under this Act is so great that such work would, if concentrated in the hands of one or more Deputy Collectors, fully occupy the time of such one or more Deputy Collectors, the Lieutenant-Governor may make an order directing that the salary of such one or more Deputy Collectors, as the case may be, shall be recovered from the proprietors of estates under partition in such district as part of the cost of such partitions, and thereupon such charge as the Collector may think fit to make in respect of such salary, in addition to the item mentioned in the last preceding section, shall be deemed to be a portion of the costs of every partition.

"For the purposes of this section, the salary of every Deputy Collector shall be deemed to be the amount of salary which is drawn by a Deputy Collector of the lowest grade."

He said, as the Bill stood the pay of the Deputy Collector in any district in which partitions were frequent, and in which an Estates' Partition Fund was started, would be charged to such fund. The hon'ble member opposite (Baboo Kristodas Pal) objected to that provision, and asked for a reconsideration, and Mr. Dampier had been able to meet him as far as the section now proposed went. The hon'ble member was against the principle of the section altogether; but he was aware that the sense of the Council was against him, and was prepared to accept this modified provision. The tenor of the proposed section was, that whenever the work of partition was not enough, on a fair view of the matter, to occupy the whole time of a Deputy Collector, no charge was to be made on that account against the proprietors of the estates under partition. But when the work was sufficient to occupy one man's time, the pay of the Deputy Collector would be levied from the proprietors as part of the expenses of the partition. Then it was urged that the whole charge should not be debited to the Estates' Partition Fund, but merely a part of it, as the Government was interested in the work of partition. To that Mr. Dampier would answer, that under the section he now proposed, the amount to be charged was never more than the pay of a Deputy Collector of the lowest grade, whatever might be the salary of the officer actually employed on the duty, although as a fact a more highly paid officer would often be employed on this work. Secondly, what was charged was the bare pay of the Deputy Collector without any travelling allowances. He thought that the travelling allowances, and the difference between the actual pay drawn and the pay of the lowest grade, would amply represent the share of expense which the Government ought to bear.

The Hon'ble Baboo Kristodas Pal said, his views in this matter had been correctly explained by the hon'ble member. He was of opinion that as the services of the Deputy Collector were necessary, chiefly with the view of protecting the Government revenue, it was but fair that the Government should bear the expense of his employment in partition cases, the proprietors of estates being made to pay the cost of all other establishment required for the work. The Council were aware that, under the law of inheritance, proprietors were entitled to partition, and they might amicably settle the partition amongst themselves if in such matters a second element was not in existence—he meant the Government revenue. It was therefore the duty of the legislature to provide that there should be a representative of the Government to watch and protect the interests of the Government. Such being the case, he thought it could not be unfair to call upon the Government to pay for the services of the Deputy Collector who was its representative. In fact it was this principle on which the Government had for the last seventy years been paying Deputy Collectors in charge of partition work, and BABOO KRISTODAS PAL was not aware of any circumstances which had since arisen and which required a departure from it. But as the sense of the Council seemed to be against such a provision, he intimated to the hon'ble mover that he would be prepared to accept this amendment if the hon'ble member would agree to divide the salary in equal moieties between the Government and the proprietors. This was an important question. The hon'ble member admitted that it was but just that the Government should contribute a portion of the expense consequent upon the employment of Deputy Collectors in the work of partition, but the section now proposed was not sufficient. It was true that the minimum pay of the Deputy Collector was to be charged, and that the Government might require the services of an experienced officer for the supervision of partition work; but on the principle on which he contended that the expense should be borne by the Government, it was quite immaterial what class of Deputy Collectors might be employed, when, strictly speaking, it was the duty of the Government to pay him. If the Government was directly interested in the work of the butwarah Deputy Collector, was it not right and proper that at least one-half the pay of such Deputy Collector should be borne by the State? BABOO KRISTODAS PAL thought the justice of this proposition was apparent. He would therefore move the insertion of the words "a moiety of" before the words "the salary" in line 11 of the proposed section, and that a similar amendment be made in Section 47, clause (c).

The HON'BLE THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said he was wholly opposed to the amendment. He could not conceive how the Government was interested in the partition of estates in the manner the hon'ble member supposed. Partitions were made solely for the convenience of the parties. It was one and the same thing to the Government whether the revenue was paid in one sum, or in two or more sums constituting the required amount for which the parent estate was liable. No doubt in the course of partitions it was necessary to guard the Government interest, so that each divided estate should be able to pay the amount of revenue assessed upon it. But in all other respects partitions were made entirely for the benefit and convenience of the persons concerned.

Further, if partitions were not made by the Collector, they would have to be made by the civil court, and the expenses would be considerably increased. The assistance of the Deputy Collector was therefore given for facilitating the work of partition; and the ADVOCATE-GENERAL thought a sufficient concession was made by the Government allowing one of their officers to supervise the work. He could not admit that the Government was so interested in the work of partition as to be saddled with a portion of the cost.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said it was true that the Government was interested to the extent of seeing that the partition was not made so as to endanger the Government revenue; but if the Government officer were to confine himself to that, his duty would be merely to test the partition when brought to him ready made by the proprietors. But was that all he had to do? By no means; he had to begin at the beginning and attend to the whole process of measurement, ascertainment of true facts, collection of rent-rolls, and he had, generally speaking, to bring the proprietors together. The hon'ble member had said that if it were not for the necessity of protecting the Government revenue, the partition could be easily made by the parties themselves. MR. DAMPIER asked whether it had not been said over and over again in this Council that it was impossible, in the present state of society in this country, for the members even of a joint Hindoo family to agree together in carrying out a common object of this sort. It came to this; if the Government were not to give the services of its officer in effecting the partition, the proprietors would, in the great majority of cases, be practically debarred from availing themselves of the benefits which the partition law held out to them, for they would be unable to make the necessary amicable combination for the attainment of the common object. Under these circumstances, it could not properly be said that the Deputy Collector was only employed, or was mainly employed, in partitions in the interests of the Government.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL'S amendment was then negatived, and the Hon'ble Mr. Dampier's motion was carried.

Verbal amendments were made in Sections 45, 47, and 60.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER the following section was substituted for Section 82:—

"82. Whenever the Collector shall have approved a partition (whether with or without amendments), he shall cause a notice to be served on each of the recorded proprietors that the papers will be submitted at once for confirmation of the partition by the Commissioner, and that any appeals or objections must be presented to the Commissioner, or to the Collector for transmission to the Commissioner, within thirty days of the date of the service of the said notice, or if the Collector has approved the partition with amendments, and the notice requires the proprietor to produce the extract of any partition in order that amendments may be noted thereon, or to take out a fresh extract from the partition paper, as provided in the next succeeding section, then within six weeks of such date."

Unimportant amendments were made in Sections 88, 100, 128, 131, 133, 147, and 149, and the position of some of the sections was transposed.

On the motion of the Hon'ble Mr. Dampier, the Bill was then passed.

SETTLEMENT OF RENT DISPUTES.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER, the Bill to provide for enquiry into disputes regarding the rent payable by ryots in certain estates, and to prevent agrarian disturbances, was further considered in order to the settlement of its clauses.

A verbal amendment was made in Section 11.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said that since the publication of the rules contained in Section 14*a* in the Gazette, public attention had been directed to them, and he might state for the information of the Council that his attention had been drawn to some of these rules as not being quite satisfactory. In the first place, it had been pointed out to him that the dictum of the High Court as to the rule of proportion was not quite consistent with the substantive law. When it was admitted on all hands, and when it was, he believed, unanimously agreed upon by this Council, that the rule of proportion was not at all workable, practical men thought that it was useless to encumber the present Act with that rule. It was only one full bench of the High Court which had laid down that rule: another full bench might upset it at any time.

Then with regard to the new rules that were proposed, he might observe that rule (a) was not quite explicit. It was contended that the proviso, that the Collector should fix the rent in such a manner as to represent such portion of the existing average gross value of the land with reference to the circumstances of each case, was not quite clear. It was urged that there was a confusion of terms in that rule, that was to say, between the rate of rent and the amount of rent. If the rate or the share of the produce were laid down, then the amount of rent would be regulated according to the circumstances of each case. But how could the rate or share of the gross value of the produce of the land be regulated with reference to the circumstances of each case? Whatever portion of the gross value of the produce the Collector might adjudicate should be decided according to some definite principle; that was to say, the rate being fixed, the amount of rent might be regulated according to the circumstances of each case. But if the rate was to vary according to the circumstances of each case, there would be great uncertainty and confusion; in fact, there would be no uniformity whatever. Not only would two different Collectors act in two different ways, but perhaps the same Collector might determine one rate of rent for one piece of land and another rate for another piece of land, though both pieces of land might be of the same quality and be possessed of the same advantages. Therefore rule (a) was considered indefinite and calculated to lead to confusion.

Rule (b) was believed to be open to great objection, inasmuch as it intensified the evils which the ruling of Sir Barnes Peacock was calculated to produce. If it was difficult to carry out a ruling laid down by such an eminent authority like the late Chief Justice because the outgoings were not easy to be calculated, it would be much more difficult to calculate the net profits of cultivation, and then to divide the profits between the zemindar and the ryot. There were so many conflicting elements in these calculations, and it would be so difficult to bring them to a satisfactory conclusion, that practically it would be impossible to carry out rule (b).

With regard to rule (c), it was urged that it was a fair and equitable rule; but unless the allowance to be given to occupancy ryots were fixed by law, it might, in the one case, lead to injustice to the ryot, and in the other, if the Collector was so inclined, it might lead to injustice to the zemindar. In fact, it left every thing in the hands of the Collector, and possibly he might be led by his own sympathies and inclinations to defeat the intentions of the legislature, though acting in perfect good faith. Reference had been made by the Hon'ble President to the Punjab Tenancy Act and the Oudh Rent Act. His Honor very fully and lucidly explained the principles upon which those Acts were based; and if those principles were adopted, that was to say, if the deduction to be made from the rent of occupancy ryots were fixed by law, then the difficulty and confusion which were apprehended from the operation of rule (c) would disappear.

Baboo Kristodas Pal believed that the learned Secretary had received a communication from the British Indian Association upon the subject of these rules, in which all these arguments were fully set forth. He had endeavoured to state to the Council his opinion on these rules. He believed that the Council had come to a decision to lay down some rules for the guidance of the Collector: and it would be much more satisfactory if the Council would make the rules as definite as they possibly could.

The Hon'ble the Advocate-General said he would ask permission to add after the words "the Collector may" the words "if he think it proper so to do," in order to make it quite clear that the application of these rules was perfectly optional.

With regard to the observations which had been made as to the rules not being definite, they were simply a repetition of what had been said both in the Select Committee and in this Council. On the other hand, the Council was told by the hon'ble and learned member on his right (Mr. Bell) that these rules were an alteration of the existing law. The Advocate-General had ventured to point out that they were not an alteration of the law, but that they were merely suggestions made to the Collector, which he might keep in view in deciding what might be "fair and equitable," provided he was unable to apply the rule of proportion laid down in Thakooranee Dossee's case. It was quite possible that the Council might fall into the difficulty apprehended by his learned friend—that they were altering the law, if they made the rules definite by giving to the zemindar a certain fixed proportion of the produce of the land. That would be an alteration of the law. Having regard to the fact that it was not the intention to alter the law, these rules could not be made more definite than they were; they might be susceptible of improvement, but they could not certainly be made more definite. The objection taken by the hon'ble member opposite (Baboo Kristodas Pal) was a good one; but unfortunately, as matters stood, the Council could not improve the rules, by overcoming the objection as to indefiniteness, without clashing with the other principle of not varying the substantive law. All that the rules were intended to point to was simply this, that when the rule in Thakooranee Dossee's case could not be applied, then the Collector, who would still have to determine what should be a fair and equitable rent so that the zemindar should get a fair proportion of the increased produce of the land, might be assisted by certain standards or principles to guide himself in arriving at his decision. That was all that these rules professed to do. It was intended that the rules should be supplementary to the broad principle laid down in Act X of 1859, that the adjustment of rents should be "fair and equitable." These rules would point to what might be taken as standards of adjustment; they would furnish the ratio decidendi. He had remarked before upon the difference between the ground of enhancement and the mode of enhancement. The mode of enhancement was not the ground of enhancement, but the ratio decidendi upon which the enhancement should be fixed. If objection were made to the ratio decidendi, on the ground that it might embrace some ground found in Section 17 of Act X of 1859, the answer was that such ground was merely used as a means to an end, i. e. to the decision of what was fair and equitable. The rules only applied after it had been decided that the right to enhance existed, and the right only existed when a ground had been substantiated for enhancement. Once given the ground that the produce of the land had increased, and it followed under Section 17 of Act X of 1859 that the zemindar had a right to a proportion of the increased value. The question next arose as to what proportion? That question the Collector had to solve. He had to solve it by the rule laid down in Thakooranee Dossee's case; and if it could not be so solved, then these rules would enable him to arrive at a better result than if left to his own discretion, and he had to decide what was fair and equitable on principles somewhat resembling this, or else in an entirely arbitrary and capricious manner. This Council could not, under existing circumstances, and unless the law was altered, provide for uniformity of decision. There could be no uniformity where the measure of enhancement was what was "fair and equitable." But he did not think that a greater amount of uniformity would be ensured without than with these rules; in fact, he thought that the rules would tend to greater uniformity of decision.

With that explanation he could only say that he could not go further in the direction of these rules. They were open to the criticism and the objection that they were indefinite; but they were purposely so framed. It appeared to him that there was no reason for altering these rules, unless the Council was prepared to change the substantive law by which the adjustment of rents between zemindars and ryots was at present regulated.

His Honor the President observed, with reference to the letter which had been received from the British Indian Association, that the main objection therein set forth was that the rules in the Bill left a great deal of discretion in the hands of the Collector. He would point out that the discretion left in the hands of the Collector was not at all wider than it at present was; and the discretion so left was hardly so wide as that which was now left to the civil court. The rules that had been introduced left the Bill where it was, namely a Bill for transferring temporarily that jurisdiction in certain particular classes of cases.

The Advocate-General's amendment was then agreed to.

Verbal amendments were then made, on the motion of the Hon'ble Mr. Dampier, in Sections 14*a*, 26, and 27.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier said, as he would not be present at the next meeting of the Council, he wished to say that he did not like the Bill in the form in which it was proposed to be passed. He would have liked the Bill to give the Government very much more arbitrary powers; and he would have insisted that whatever was done in the exercise of those arbitrary powers, should be done on the responsibility of the highest revenue authority. He would have had it recognized to be a very severe remedy applied to a very severe disease. But the Bill had acquired a more judicial character in the hands of the Select Committee.

It only remained for him to say of these rules that his own opinion was that it was of little practical importance whether the rules were introduced in the Bill or not. But the Council were given to understand that it would be very much more acceptable to the parties, who would be more immediately concerned with this Bill, if some such rules were introduced. It appeared to him that the rules authorized the Collector to do nothing which he might not do if no such rules existed; and therefore the introduction of them into the Bill was a defect which was open to criticism from a legislative point of view. But in view of making the Bill less unpalatable to those whose interests were touched, and who felt strongly on the subject, he had voted with those members who wished to have the rules such as they were. At any rate they seemed to him to be quite innocuous.

The Hon'ble Mr. Bell observed that if what the hon'ble mover had just said was true, that it would be immaterial whether the Council passed this Bill with or without these rules, he thought they should be left out. He still entertained the opinion that the rules were totally opposed to the existing law. That was simply his own opinion, and as his opinion differed from that of the hon'ble and learned Advocate-General, it was probable that his opinion was wrong. But such was the opinion he had arrived at after great deliberation, and he was aware that it was an opinion which was shared by others. But if, as the hon'ble mover seemed to think, it was immaterial whether or not the rules were retained in the Bill, Mr. Bell should certainly suggest for the consideration of the Council whether it would not be better to do without them altogether.

The Bill as amended was then ordered to be published in the Gazette.

REGISTRATION OF ESTATES.

On the motion of the Hon'ble Mr. Dampier, the Bill to provide for the registration of revenue-paying estates and revenue-free lands, and of the proprietors and managers thereof, was further considered in order to the settlement of its clauses.

The following new section was introduced after Section 28 :—

"28*a*. Whenever it shall appear to the Collector in the course of an enquiry made in respect of an application under section 37 or section 42, or otherwise, that any person whose name is recorded in the General Register as proprietor or manager, or joint proprietor or joint manager of an estate or revenue-free property, is no longer in possession of any interest in such estate or property as proprietor or manager, and that the names of other persons have been recorded as proprietors or managers of every portion of the interest in respect of which such proprietor or manager's name was borne on the register, the Collector may order the name of such person to be struck out from among the recorded proprietors or managers of such estate or property, and, if required, may grant him a certificate to that effect."

Verbal amendments were made in Sections 37, 39, 55, 57, and 75; and Section 38 was omitted as unnecessary.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier moved the substitution of the following new sections for Sections 74, 77, and 78 :—

74. "The Collector shall supply an extract from any Register mentioned in this Act to any person who may apply for the same, subject to the payment of such fees for searching and copying as may be prescribed by the Board; and to any extract so supplied shall be appended a note signed by the Collector certifying whether any application for registration under this Act in respect of the estate or revenue-free property to which the extract relates is pending before the Collector, or on a reference by the Collector before a Civil Court, and if any such application be so pending, specifying the extent of the interest to which such application relates, and the grounds on which it is based."

77. "No person shall be bound to pay rent to any person claiming such rent as proprietor, or manager of an estate or revenue free property in respect of which he is required by this Act to cause his name to be registered, or as mortgagee, unless the name of such claimant shall have been registered under this Act; and no person being liable to pay rent to two or more such proprietors, managers, or mortgagees holding in common tenancy, shall be bound to pay to any one such proprietor, manager, or mortgagee more than the amount which bears the same proportion to the whole of such rent, as the extent of the interest in respect of which such proprietor, manager, or mortgagee is registered, bears to the entire estate or revenue-free property."

78. "The receipt of any proprietor, manager, or mortgagee whose name and the extent of whose interest is registered under this Act shall afford full indemnity to any person paying rent to such proprietor, manager, or mortgagee, unless an application for registration under this Act relating to the interest in respect of which such proprietor, manager, or mortgagee is registered, is pending before the Collector, or on a reference by the Collector before a Civil Court."

The sections referred to were those which provided that the ryot should not be bound to pay rent to any one other than a registered proprietor, and that he should have indemnity for payments made to such proprietors. As the sections stood they were incomplete. The effect of them was to place any person who had given in an application for registration of his name precisely in the same favorable position as one whose name was actually registered.

On reconsidering the sections carefully with the learned Advocate-General they were satisfied of two things; first, that it was quite impossible to give to the rent-payers the protection which it was so desirable to give, if mere applicants were to be treated on the same footing as registered proprietors; and secondly, that there was no sound reason for so doing. It might be said that the applicant had done all he could to effect registration, and that therefore it was hard to keep him out of his rents until the application was disposed of, but he would remind the Council that such an applicant would be in one of two positions. Either his right to registration would be unopposed, in which case it would be disposed of as a matter of routine immediately the month's notices were expired, or else the right to registration would be opposed, in which case the applicant's position would be that he was asking to have his name substituted for that of another which was already on the register; which right was also claimed by some other person, either the one whose name was already on the register or some other. That was exactly the crisis at which the ryot most required the protection of these sections. It might be said that it was hard to keep a proprietor out of his rent until the question of his possession was decided; that it was not his fault that his claim was disputed. But it was by no means certain that he was in the right; and surely in such a case the onus lay on the claimant. It would be observed that the point that had to be determined for the settlement of the dispute as to registration was precisely the point which a plaintiff would have to make good in a suit for rent against the ryot. Putting aside the case of written contracts, on sueing for rent a plaintiff must prove that he was in possession; and the moment he had succeeded in proving that, the obstacle to register his name as a proprietor fell to the ground. Without proving this point he could not recover rents by legal process; the moment he succeeded in proving it, the condition as to registration would no longer be a bar against his recovering.

Another very important point was that, as MR. DAMPIER had said, the time when a dispute existed was the precise time at which the ryot wanted protection. As long as two men were claiming the same four annas share at present, the claimant with the longest lattee probably succeeded in collecting the rents which represented the disputed interest. Any thing which would tend to put an end to this state of things must be so far good. On the whole, then, the Advocate-General and he considered that a man should not get the benefits of registration until his name was actually registered.

MR. DAMPIER would now explain how the sections were expected to work.

Under the proposed Section 77 the tenant was not bound to pay rent to any person claiming as proprietor or mortgagee of an estate in respect of which he was bound to register, unless his name was registered, and further the tenant was bound to pay no one except according to the extent of the share registered. Then Section 78 enacted that, for payments so made, the tenant would get indemnity, except as to any shares for which some other person had applied to be registered. For instance, A, B, C, and D were four proprietors who were registered as possessing four-annas' share each. Under Section 77 a tenant need not pay more than a four-annas share of rent to each, and the fact of having so paid rent would give him an indemnity against all other comers, except in one case. Suppose there was an application pending by X for registration of his name in lieu of D for one of the four-annas' shares. In that case the receipts of A, B, and C would give an indemnity for the rent paid in respect of their shares. But because there was a pending application for the substitution of X's name in the place of D, a payment made to D would no longer afford indemnity. The tenant was not bound to pay to the claimant X on the one hand, and on the other X would have no status for harassing the tenant by demands for rent; at the same time the law would not hold out any special encouragement to him to pay to D. He might pay or not as he chose, and any payments would be at his own peril; in fact, while improving the tenant's position in other respects, the law would leave the tenant precisely where he now was in respect of D.

Now, how was the tenant to know whether any application was pending;—that was an all-important question. The Council would now go back to Section 74, which provided that the Collector should supply extracts from the registers to any one who wanted them. So far there was this anomaly, that the Collector would in the case above instanced give an extract in which it would be stated that A, B, C, and D were each registered for four-annas' share of the estate. That by itself would mislead the tenant into the belief that he would have full indemnity in respect of payments for each of these shares; whereas, in fact, there was lurking in the Collector's office an application by X for the registration of his name in lieu of D, which would have the effect, under Section 77, of destroying the indemnity for payments made to D. To guard against this danger it was provided by Section 74 that whenever a Collector gave an extract from his register, for whatever purpose, he should be bound to give to the person taking the extract a certificate stating whether any application for registration was pending before him, or was under reference to the civil court in regard to the estate. The Collector was absolutely prohibited from giving an extract without such certificate. Further, by Section 75 it was provided that when any change was made in the register, the widest publicity should be given of the fact on the estate to which the mutation related.

The Hon'ble Baboo Kristodas Pal said he was sorry that he could not agree with the hon'ble mover in the view he had taken of the new sections which he had just moved. Baboo Kristodas Pal did not expect that the hon'ble member would recede from the position which he had assumed. If he referred back to the history of the principle which underlay sections 77 and 78, he would find that it began with what he ventured to call a piece of outlawry, and it had ended again with another piece of much the same sort. He himself suggested that if the respective shares of proprietors were registered and facilities given to the ryots to know what were the respective shares of proprietors, and if provisions were made authorizing the ryots to pay only to the extent of the registered shares and not more, a great reform would be made upon the present system of the separate management of joint estates. He did not then expect that his suggestions would fructify in the way they saw in the sections before the Council. For it practically led to the disqualification of a proprietor who happened to be in dispute with a co-sharer as to the extent of his share. Section 77 was by far the most important, and it declared that no ryot should be bound to pay rent to any person who was not registered. Now, as he had pointed out before, a person, however anxious to have his share registered, might find many difficulties in carrying out the registration; for instance, a person might apply for registry, but the extent of his share might be contested by other sharers and he might be referred to the Civil Court, and so there might be delay and difficulty in obtaining registration. In the meantime was that proprietor to be deprived of the right of receiving rent from his ryots? He had been receiving rent; the ryots did not question his right or the extent of his share, but the legislature stepped in and required him to register. He was willing to register, but he had failed to do so because some one else put in an objection. As soon as he applied for registration an objection was made, and in the meantime the law declared that no ryot was bound to pay him any rent. The practical effect of the section would be to prevent the ryots from paying the rent. Section 78 made the point still more clear. It said to the ryot "not only are you not bound to pay, but if you do pay you will not be indemnified for such payment." What would be the combined effect of the two provisions taken together? The ryot would see that he might have to pay again, and that the best course would be that he should not pay at all. Was that the position to which the legislature should deliberately drive the zemindar, because it was necessary for purposes of State to pass a law for registration, the primary object of which was to enforce certain responsibilities which had been imposed upon the zemindars?

Baboo Kristodas Pal submitted that the good of the measure would be greatly neutralized if the sections as now presented were passed without modification. He accepted the original section because it was founded on some principles of equity; because he thought that a ryot should not be compelled to pay rent to proprietors who were not registered. But if a proprietor had made an application for registration, and owing to a dispute his application could not be registered, his right to levy rent should not be barred. If hereafter the court decided that he had no right to collect rent, the ryot or the rightful owner would hold him liable for the rent which had been paid. But it was not for the legislature to prevent the ryot from paying rent. The hon'ble mover had said that a proprietor who had applied for, but had not succeeded in effecting registration owing to a dispute, could not receive rent unless he proved his right in court, because the same evidence which was required for registration under this law would be necessary to establish a claim for rent. BABOO KRISTODAS PAL joined issue on that point. If the zemindar had been in the habit of receiving rent, he had only to show that he had so received the rents in order to entitle him to continue to collect [The ADVOCATE-GENERAL—Suppose there was a notice from a rival zemindar; the ryot might have to pay twice over.]. If a ryot paid rent to a man who was not entitled to receive it, he could easily recover the rent so paid. BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said that the legislature should not drive a man to a position in which if he had not means of his own he would be unable to meet the Government demand. On these grounds he opposed these sections, and said that he thought that the section as it originally stood was fair and equitable.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said he should only take up two points in the hon'ble gentleman's speech. He asked whether this was a position in which the Council ought to throw the zemindar, because they found it necessary to pass a Bill to compel registration for the general executive purposes of the Government. He must emphatically deny that the clauses exempting ryots from liability to pay rent to persons who were not registered were now introduced out of the desire of the Government to enforce registration. It was quite true that when the Bill was introduced the disability to sue was imposed on the zemindar as a direct means of enforcing registration, but he had joined his hon'ble friend in throwing out that section as for that object. He thought the means for enforcing registration were quite sufficient without it. Now, however, it was agreed that the registration of shares would lose more than half its value, unless it could be made use of to give some protection to tenants, some light to guide them as to whom they were to make their payments. It had been found absolutely impossible to frame sections in such a way that the tenant should really be protected in making payments in accordance with the registration, if the right of a mere applicant to recover rent from him as well was reserved; and it came to this, that either the Council must wipe out altogether all those sections which affected to give ryots such protection, and to confer such an enormous boon, or else they must put the man who had not succeeded in getting his application for registration decided, into the position in which this section placed him. MR DAMPIER had already said that if there was no dispute, the procedure for registration would be merely of a formal character. But if there was a dispute, that was exactly the case in which a ryot, if acting bonâ fide, required all the assistance and relief which the law could give him.

The hon'ble gentleman had said that the registration of the names of proprietors and the obtaining of a decree for rent did not depend upon the same point being proved. For instance, a man might be receiving rents, but under this section he would no longer be entitled to recover rents if his name was not registered. But if he had received rents, was he not in possession as proprietor, and what else had he to establish under this Bill to secure registration? [The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL.—The extent of share.]

He believed that there was no via media, and it would rest with the Council either to strike out these sections altogether, or to accept them and place an applicant for registration in the position in which these sections placed him.

The HON'BLE THE ACTING ADVOCATE-GENERAL said these two sections were the only sections by which it would be possible to give the ryot an indemnity for payments made by him. If the ryot was bound to pay to a man who had only applied for registration, what possible indemnity could there be, and the ryot might have to pay twice over. But in all these matters one must not look to apprehensions of a vague character: one must look to the usual consequences of events connected with registration. When a person had been long in possession and had received rents for a considerable number of consecutive years, there would be no difficulty in effecting registration. It might be said that in this country false claims were put forward; but even false claims must have some sort of basis to go upon. It could scarcely be supposed that when a person was in possession for twenty or thirty years his claim would be resisted by persons who sprang up at the time of the application for registration. The ADVOCATE-GENERAL'S answer to a great many of the objections made was that a person who was in possession would have no difficulty in having himself registered; that if objections were raised to the registration of a person so situated, he would have no difficulty in satisfying the Collector, through the medium of his gomashtas and naibs and the ryots themselves, that he had been in possession, and he would be put on the register at once. But if there were serious doubts as to possession, the Collector would refer the case to the civil court. If it so happened, was it not fair to suppose that the possession was not clear, and that it was a bonâ fide case of disputed possession? The object was to give the ryots an indemnity. A strong argument in favour of registration of the extent of shares was that at present the unfortunate ryot, instead of paying sixteen annas to the rupee, had to pay seventeen annas, and sometimes eighteen annas or more. It was for the purpose of protecting the ryot that registration of the extent of shares was proposed, and when it was proposed to give him the benefit resulting from such registration, it was objected that the Council were giving a boon to which he was not entitled.

Taking up the subject of registration as it now stood—THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL had seen cases in which the evidence as to the fact of possession was equally balanced; both parties paid the Government revenue, both had gomashtas on the estate, and ryots had sworn to the truth of the case on either side. In such cases the Collector and the Commissioner could not but refer the parties to the civil court. In other cases he apprehended that the Collector would have no difficulty in deciding who was in possession, and making a mutation of names. If there was no one who could legitimately receive the rent and give a receipt, the rents should remain where they ought to remain. The hon'ble member said that if the ryots paid the rent to the wrong person they might be recovered back. Why should the onus be thrown upon the ryot? Where there was a formidable dispute and neither party was able to obtain registration, then he thought it was nothing but fair and equitable that during the existence of that dispute the ryots should be protected. At present there was no machinery to protect the ryot; for although the civil court might appoint a receiver, in the mofussil the appointment of a receiver was very seldom resorted to. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL thought there was nothing unjust in these sections. If a man had possession of a zemindary, registration followed as a matter of course; if he was not in possession, or if possession were disputed, it was not hard that the supposed possessor should not collect his rents until the dispute was settled.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said that although he was unwilling to prolong the discussion, he wished to make a few brief remarks. The hon'ble member on the left (Baboo Kristodas Pal) said that supposing a zemindar was unable to collect his rents because he could not get registration, yet he was called upon to pay the revenue. Now, it appeared to HIS HONOR that by section 54 that could not happen, because if the Collector took the revenue from the zemindar, you might depend upon it that the Collector would give him registration; if there was any doubt, the Collector would decide it summarily in favour of the man from whom he took the revenue. It was not conceivable that any Collector would be so unreasonable as to refuse registration to the man from whom he received the revenue. So he must confess that he was quite unable to perceive the difficulty which had been pointed out.

Ayes 6.	Noes 4.
HON'BLE MR. BROOKES.	THE HON'BLE MOULVIE MEER MAHOMED ALI.
BABOO RAMSHUNKER SEN.	HON'BLE NAWAB SYED ASHGAR ALI.
MR. BELL.	,, BABOO KRISTODAS PAL.
MR. REYNOLDS.	,, BABOO ISSUR CHUNDER MITTER.
MR. DAMPIER.
THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL.

So the motion was carried.

"It shall be lawful for the Collector, before selling an estate for arrears of revenue, to send notice by registered letter or otherwise to the address of the registered proprietor, informing him of the amount of the arrear; and the expense of such registered letter or other notice shall be recoverable from the estate, or share of an estate, as an arrear of revenue, but no sale shall be liable to be questioned on the ground that such registered letter or other notice was not issued or served."

The object of the provision might, he said, be attained by executive action, but he thought it would be more satisfactory if it were embodied in the law. This might also be regarded as one of the advantages of registration. The proposal was made in Select Committee in that view, and as far as he was aware the majority of the Committee agreed to it. If the Council accepted the principle of the section, the wording could be settled afterwards.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier said he was against the motion, because, although the amendment did not say that the Collector should be bound to issue a registered letter before putting up an estate to sale for arrears of revenue, the effect would be to make every one expect that a registered letter would come before his estate was sold; it would tend to make the careless more careless, the dilatory more dilatory, in the payment of revenue. The last day of payment would no longer be on a fixed day for all, but would practically be some day after notice had been given to each proprietor that his estate was in arrear, such notice being given by a registered letter. Such a provision would do away with whatever the present much-abused law had in it of good in the way of making the zemindar punctual in the payment of revenue. If such a provision were published in a law, it would be a real hardship to sell any estate without issuing the registered notice, and although the civil court could not reverse a sale on the ground of no registered notice having been issued, still with such a clause existing in the law creating an expectation of notice by registered letter before an estate was put up for sale, no sale made by the Collector without the issue of such notice would ever be upheld in the large discretion given to the superior revenue authorities by the law.

The Hon'ble Baboo Kristodas Pal said it was well known that the sunset law as it was called was most rigorous, and that the Government was desirous of modifying its rigour. The Lieutenant-Governor had shown a most laudable desire to deal leniently in cases of default, being convinced that the present law was harsh. His Honor's opinion had been expressed in the official correspondence that had been published, that he would rather that notice were given in all such cases; and it was on the strength of that opinion that the proposal was made in Committee. Baboo Kristodas Pal did hope that the harsh and rigorous sunset law would be modified, if there was any way of modifying it without risk to the revenue.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier said the proposed provision would be of no effect legally, but morally it would create a difficulty. The object sought to be attained might just as well be attained by executive orders passed by the Government; and those orders might be tempered so as to adapt themselves to circumstances, e.g., it might be ordered that in cases in which the amount of arrear was less than a certain percentage of the annual revenue, a registered letter might issue.

The motion was then negatived.

His Honor the President said,—"Before we break up I want to crave the attention of the Council for a few minutes with reference to the departure of our colleague, Mr. Dampier. He has now been exclusively devoted to legislative business for two sessions, and to-day is the last occasion on which he will sit at present in the Council. We may hope before long to see him back amongst us; but as he will be absent for some time, I think it desirable to place on record what, I may say, is the unanimous sense of all members with regard to the great services he has rendered to the cause of legislation in Bengal during these two years.

I may call to the recollection of the members the number of Acts which have been passed through MR. DAMPIER'S instrumentality; not so much the easier measures which have been passed, such as the Bill for the Realization of Arrears in Government Estates, the Famine Advances Recovery Bill, the Mahomedan Marriage and Divorce Registration Bill. The first two were small measures; and with regard to the Mahomedan Marriage Bill, another member of the Council had a great share in its preparation. But even then it was through MR. DAMPIER'S instrumentality that this last named Bill was passed into law. Then he had also the preparation of the Irrigation Bill which has passed into law; also the Bill regarding the Abkaree or Excise Revenue Law. And latterly, he has been in charge of those two very difficult measures which have been passed through this Council to-day, namely, the Bill relating to Municipalities in Bengal, and the Bill relating to the Partition of Estates. Besides that, he has had in hand what now are brought into a passable shape—that is, a shape in which the Bills may be passed through the Council—measures relating to the registration of estates and the prevention of agrarian disputes. We may hope that these two measures will soon pass the Council either with or without further amendment. So the list I have just read of the measures which have been passed through the hon'ble member's instrumentality does represent a large amount of legislation; and I am sure we shall all long remember the great carefulness, the conscientious and laborious assiduity, supported by the very extensive local knowledge and experience which he has invariably displayed. No doubt MR. DAMPIER will acknowledge the great assistance he has received from his colleagues in committee. But still I believe it will be the opinion of every one present that it is to him that the elaboration and comprehensiveness and practical utility of these measures is chiefly due. And I am sure that we shall all wish him speedy recovery of his health, which must have been considerably impaired by his arduous labours, and assure him of our strong recollection of the great value and usefulness of his services amongst us."

The Council was then adjourned to Saturday, the 15th instant.

SETTLEMENT OF RENT DISPUTES.

On the motion of the HON'BLE THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL the Bill for inquiry into disputes regarding rent and to prevent agrarian disturbances was further considered in order to the settlement of its clauses.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL said the first amendment he had on the paper was to add the following proviso to section 14*a*—

"Provided that no ryot whose rent is enhanced under the above rules shall be liable to any increase of rent in excess of twenty-five per centum on the existing rent."

Since he put that amendment on the paper, it had been represented to him that it would be inconvenient to limit the discretion of the Collector in the manner proposed in the amendment. It had been said that in Eastern Bengal the ryots in some estates held at low rents, and that twenty-five per cent. might not be a sufficient enhancement to impose upon them. In deference to the opinion that had been expressed, he asked the Council to permit him to withdraw the amendment. But he wished at the same time to explain the circumstances under which he had been induced to put his amendment on the motion paper. He was afraid that it might be thought that he was anxious by a side-wind to neutralize the effect of the rules which were agreed to by a large majority of the Council about two weeks ago. He could assure the Council that that was not his intention at all. His object in putting the amendment on the paper was this, that as in the case of a suitor who goes to a court of equity from a court of law, the court of equity imposed such terms on the suitor as equity seemed to demand; so on that principle he thought that the Government, when giving the zemindars the advantage of an exceptional piece of legislation, would be justified in saying, "we are willing to give you the advantage of this law, provided you consent to these terms, that you will not under this exceptional procedure enhance your rents at one leap more than 25 per cent." That was the object which induced MR. BELL to put this amendment upon the paper; but as he found that it had been objected to by hon'ble members, whose opinions he was bound to respect, he would now ask permission to withdraw it.

The amendment was by leave withdrawn.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL moved the insertion of the following section after section 14*a*:—

"14*b*. Nothing in the above rules shall be held to entitle a zemindar or other landowner to an enhancement of rent upon any ground which he could not have urged in a civil court."

He said that though there had been an unfortunate difference of opinion both as to the expediency and the operation of these new rules, he was happy to say that there was one point on which they were all unanimously agreed, and that was that in a temporary measure of procedure like the Bill before the Council, they should make no change whatever in the substantive law of the land. But though such was the intention of the Council, he was afraid that when these rules came into operation Collectors would consider themselves bound by these rules alone, and that they were freed from the obligation of following the law as laid down in Act X of 1859. Now he was sure the Council would agree with him that it would be very undesirable, as well as a great calamity, if the Collector was to follow one law in his court, and the Judge another law in his court. The result of such a system would be this, that if a zemindar found that the law as interpreted by the Collector was more to his interest than the law as administered by the civil court, all he would have to do would be to get up a little agrarian disturbance in order to bring in the jurisdiction of the Collector. The object of the amendment was to make the intention of the Council clear. It was, he believed, the unanimous intention of the Council that the substantive law should not be changed, and the object of the amendment was to make that intention clear, so that no Collector might misunderstand or misapply these new rules.

He would give only one illustration of the danger he apprehended in enacting these rules without the amendment he proposed. According to the present practice, no zemindar could enhance rent except on the grounds stated in the notice of enhancement. But he feared that if these rules were enacted in their present form, the Collector would not consider himself in any way bound by the notice, but think himself at liberty to decree an enhancement of rent on any grounds he pleased.

It was for these reasons that he thought it desirable that they should expressly state in the Bill that the Collector should not give the zemindar any enhancement of rent, except on grounds on which he could obtain enhancement if he had pursued the ordinary remedy in the civil court. These were the grounds which induced MR. BELL to give notice of this amendment, and for these reasons he asked the Council to agree to it.

The HON'BLE THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said this was substantially a revival of the question which he had ventured to answer on the last occasion, when he had endeavoured to explain the difference between a ground of enhancement and the ratio decidendi involved in fixing the proper sum as an enhanced rent.

In section 13 of this Bill it was provided that "in the disposal of such suits the Collector shall, as far as possible, follow the procedure prescribed in Act X of 1859." That being so, the grounds of enhancement must be the grounds of enhancement laid down in Act X of 1859, and that Act contained the grounds for the enhancement of rent as to occupancy ryots.

This Bill in no way interfered with the grounds of enhancement; and consequently he was unable to discover any reason for putting in this proviso in the shape of a rider. The grounds of enhancement contained in Act X of 1859 would continue to be observed as the only grounds for enhancement of rent under this Bill. He felt sure that the introduction of the proposed section would do no good, while it might in some way or other, at present unknown, interfere with the proper working of the rules; and the persistency with which the hon'ble member had opposed these rules did not incline the ADVOCATE-GENERAL to adopt an amendment, though apparently innocuous.

He had over and over again pointed out that these rules were not compulsory, but simply auxiliary, and that the Collector might or might not follow them as he thought fit. In fact, the words which were lately added were introduced for the purpose of giving perspicuity to these rules, and as the point of clearness had been attained, he certainly thought that the proposed amendment was altogether uncalled for, and in fact not needed.

He had endeavoured to explain on previous occasions the office of these rules, but unfortunately, whether in consequence of not rendering his remarks on the subject intelligible, or for some other reason, he had failed to convince the hon'ble member of the accuracy of his views. He would therefore repeat as a final attempt that the grounds of enhancement were quite distinct from the determination of the proportion in which that enhancement should be made. The grounds of enhancement were stated in section 17 of Act X of 1859, and were left unaltered by the present Bill. The rules were simply framed for the purpose of aiding the Collector, in the event of his finding the rule of proportion unworkable. Any one who wished to satisfy himself of the necessity of some such rules might consult the last letter received from the British Indian Association, in which the question of the enhancement of rent and the unworkable character of the rule of proportion were treated in an able manner. For the above reasons he would vote against the amendment.

The HON'BLE MR. BELL said that he was surprised at the opposition raised to his amendment by his hon'ble and learned friend, because if the rules in the Bill were not opposed to the substantive law, there could be no harm in putting in this amendment. If, on the contrary, the rules were liable to be construed in a sense opposed to the existing law, then his amendment was absolutely necessary, in order that the intention of the Council might not be misunderstood. He was afraid, and was still afraid, that if these rules went out from the Council without the rider attached to them which he had suggested, the Collectors would consider that they were freed from the ordinary rent law. The hon'ble and learned Advocate-General had expressed his surprise that MR. BELL should persist in thinking that these rules were opposed to the substantive law, and he attributed this misconception of the rules to the fact that he had not on the previous occasion made himself clearly understood. But MR. BELL would assure his hon'ble and learned friend that had he done himself a great injustice in thinking that he had not made himself clearly understood. His hon'ble and learned friend's interpretation of the law was clear enough, but it certainly was one with which MR. BELL could not agree. This, however, was not a question which he would wish to argue before the Council. His reason for bringing forward the amendment was not to dispute the position taken up by the learned Advocate-General, but merely to make the intentions of the Council so clear that no one could misunderstand them. If, however, it was the feeling of the Council that it was not advisable to add this rider to the rules, he would not press his amendment.

After some conversation the motion was by leave withdrawn.

On the motion of THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL the Bill was then passed.

REGISTRATION OF ESTATES.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR. BELL the Bill to provide for the registration of revenue-paying estates and revenue-free lands, and of the proprietors and managers thereof, was further considered in-order to the settlement of its clauses.

The Hon'ble Mr. Bell moved the omission, from the end of paragraph 1 of section 55, of the words "accordingly, subject to any orders which may subsequently be made by any civil court." The words, he said, were unnecessary; any person could at any time bring a suit in a civil court to rectify an entry in the register. The motion was a purely formal one, which he would ask the Council to accept it.

The motion was agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Bell said, the next amendment he had to propose referred to certain new sections which had been introduced at the last meeting of the Council, namely sections 74, 77, and 78. It would perhaps be in the memory of the Council that these sections were introduced on the motion of Mr. Dampier for the purpose of protecting ryots who paid their rents to registered proprietors. The sections were framed by Mr. Dampier in consultation with the hon'ble and learned Advocate-General, but they were opposed by the hon'ble member opposite (Baboo Kristodas Pal), and many objections were urged against them. The principle of the sections was, however, affirmed on a division by a very considerable majority. After the Council rose, the Advocate-General suggested that Mr. Bell should again go over the sections to see if he could propose any modification of them to meet the objections which had been raised. He accordingly consulted several gentlemen outside of this Council, and also the hon'ble member on his right (Mr. Reynolds), and the result was the amendment which he had the honor to propose. If the Council would refer to the sections they would find that their operation was two-fold; first, as they affected proprietors already in possession and entered on the register as registered proprietors; and secondly, as they affected applicants for registration whose claim to registration was disputed. It would be observed that there was a wide distinction between a proprietor in possession of estates and whose name was on the register, and persons who were not in possession and whose claim for registration was disputed.

With regard to proprietors already in possession, these rules seemed to Mr. Bell to operate somewhat unfairly. Their effect was this. If a proprietor was in possession and was collecting rents without opposition from his ryots, these collections were liable to be summarily stopped by any person filing a petition to have his name entered on the register as proprietor. The mere application of a stranger for the registry of his name would in this way stop the collections of a registered zemindar who had been in possession for years. The object of this stringent provision was to protect the ryots from paying rent twice over. But it seemed to Mr. Bell that when a person was in possession and his name was upon the register, he ought to be allowed to collect the rents until his name was removed from the register. Therefore what he proposed was this, that when a zemindar was in possession with his name upon the register, he should continue to receive rents from the ryots; and that his receipt for the rent should be a valid receipt, and an effectual discharge to the ryots from any demands which an adverse claimant might afterwards make upon him. If the claimant for registration substantiated his right to registration and possession, he would recover the rents which had been wrongfully withheld from him, not from the ryots who had already paid the rent, but from the zemindar who had received it. That was the ordinary course which was adopted when a man received possession with mesne profits. He therefore proposed to omit in section 74 all the words after the word "Board" in line 7:—

"and to any extract so supplied shall be appended a note signed by the Collector certifying whether any application for registration under this Act in respect of the estate or revenue-free property to which the extract relates is pending before the Collector, or on a reference by the Collector before a civil court, and if any such application be so pending, specifying the extent of the interest to which such application relates, and the grounds on which it is based."

He proposed to omit this latter part of the section, which provided tha the Collector was to note whether an adverse application for registration had been made. And he also proposed to omit the corresponding words in section 78, after the word "mortgagee" in line 7:—

"unless an application for registration under this Act relating to the interest in respect of which such proprietor, manager, or mortgagee is registered, is pending before the Collector, or on a reference by the Collector before a civil court."

The effect of omitting these words would be that every person who had his name on the register would be recognized, as far as the payment of rent by the ryots was concerned, as proprietor of the estate, until some other person dislodged his name from the register and obtained the substitution of his own name in its place. That was the first object of the amendments.

The next point was to consider the case of the claimant to possession and registration. If hon'ble members would turn to section 55 they would find that it dealt with this question. Section 55 related to disputes as to succession. It very often happened that there was a dispute both as to succession to the estate and as to the share to which a person was entitled. It was perfectly impossible for the Collector summarily, without inquiry, to put any person into possession. But it was not desirable, while these disputes were going on before the Collector and the civil court, that the rents should remain uncollected; for if the rents were not collected there might be no money from which to pay the revenue. The fear was that if the proprietor was unable to collect rents, he would be unable to meet the revenue. Therefore MR. BELL proposed that whenever there was a doubt as to who was entitled to possession, the Collector should have power to appoint a receiver, who would collect the rents and defray from the collections the expenses of management and the Government revenue; and any surplus that remained would be paid over to the person whom the Collector or the civil court might find to be entitled to registration.

MR. BELL thought that if these amendments were adopted by the Council the objections which had been raised by the hon'ble member opposite (Baboo Kristodas Pal) would be in a great measure removed. He thought it was reasonable to concede these amendments, and he believed that if they were conceded these provisions would be satisfactory to the zemindars.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said, he believed that a communication had been received from the British Indian Association in connection with these provisions of the Bill. He would ask the permission of the President to allow the Secretary to read the communication.

The communication, which was as follows, was then read by the Secretary:—

"Dated Calcutta, the 14th April 1876.

From—RAJA JOTENDRO MOHUN TAGORE, Hony. Secy., British Indian Association,
To—The Offg. Asst. Secy. to the Government of Bengal, Legislative Department.

WITH reference to the provisions in the Registration of Estates Bill introduced at the last sitting of the Council of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor for making laws and regulations, declaring that no person shall be bound to pay rent to any person claiming such rent as proprietor, manager, or mortgagee of an estate, unless the name of such claimant shall have been registered, the Committee of the British Indian Association desire to submit that these provisions (sections 77-78) are calculated to lead to the greatest hardship and injustice, and produce evils which are certainly not contemplated by the legislature, but which, they fear, cannot be avoided from the peculiar circumstances under which litigation is fostered in this country.

Although the declaration contained in section 77 is not intended to operate as a penal clause, practically it will have that effect; and it cannot but be most arbitrary and unjust that a proprietor should be outlawed even if he should fail to register his name, though the law provides sufficiently deterring penalty against such default.

But the Committee fear that the provisions under comment would rouse the evil passions of persons and foment disputes where there might have been none in existence. His Honor in Council cannot be unaware that unscrupulous mooktears and other designing persons are too apt to take advantage of any law and sow seeds of disputes between members of the same family. The Committee would not be surprised if these sections should produce discord where there was harmony, and give a license to the strong to prey over the weak. For instance, an estate may be held by four persons, all of whom collect the rent separately; all of them are required by law to register their names and shares; they make the necessary applications; the more powerful of them may take a fancy to dispute the extent of the shares of the two weaker parties; the facility of procedure offered would operate as an encouragement to such mischievous proceedings; it may take some months before the disputes are determined, but in the meantime the injured proprietors, though they were hitherto in the receipt of rent, would be deprived of the right of realizing it, while they would be bound to meet punctually their share of every instalment of the Government revenue to protect their property from sale.

Nothing could be more unreasonable or unjust than a provision of law which would produce such a result.

The evils apprehended from the new sections would be produced in a variety of ways. There is nothing in the Bill to show whether the rents of ryots due to a non-registered proprietor would be realized by any person or deposited in the Collectorate till the registration is completed; it is well known that when ryots fall into arrears it is difficult to realize them, and the practical effect would therefore be that though the rightful claim of the disputed proprietor might be established hereafter, he would be made a heavy loser through the operation of the law.

The Committee do not see how the object of the law could be frustrated or the ryots would suffer if it were provided, as indeed it was provided in the first amended Bill, that a proprietor, if he has filed an application for registration, shall be entitled to claim payment of rent and exercise other proprietary rights. Even if the proprietor whose application for registration might be pending should realize more than he was entitled to, there would be nothing to prevent either his co-sharers from suing him for excess collections, supposing that such excess should represent their shares, or the ryots from deducting the excess from their rents. If the proposed Bill does not contain any provision authorizing the ryot to make such deduction, that omission might be supplied without injury to either party.

The Committee would therefore recommend that section 77 be amended in the manner provided in the first amended Bill, that is to say, recognising the claim of the proprietor in possession, whose application for registration may be pending, to receive rent in the same manner as that of the other proprietors whose names have been duly registered. It would be seen that such a provision would not confer any new right upon the disputed proprietor; it would simply continue to him the power of collection which he had already possessed and exercised.

The object of the Committee in recommending the registration of the name of the mortgagee in possession was that, in case of default of revenue, notice might be served upon him in order to save the mortgaged estate from sale, owing to the laches of the mortgagor. But there is nothing in the Bill providing for the service of such notice. The benefit which His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor was pleased to hold out in the correspondence between the Government of Bengal and this Association on this subject would not thus be realized. The Committee would therefore urge the propriety of providing for the service of notice upon the mortgagee in possession, in case of the default of the mortgagor proprietor in the payment of revenue."

The Hon'ble Mr. Bell said, as far as he understood the letter which had just been read, it related to two points. First, it related to the sections to which his amendment referred; and secondly, it related to the giving of notice to mortgagees in possession. He was not sure that the amendments he had proposed would meet the objections taken by the Association to sections 77 and 78. But he did not see his way to make any further alterations, because it had been decided at the last meeting of the Council that a mere application for registration should not entitle the applicant to sue for rent, and that indemnity should not be given unless the person receiving rent was registered as being in possession.

The Hon'ble Baboo Kristodas Pal said the hon'ble mover in moving his amendment had explained how the operation of the rules adopted at the last meeting of the Council would result in injustice and hardship. He had pointed out that once a proprietor was registered, any claimant who might dispute his claim should not be allowed to intervene with the view of interfering with his right of collection, and that where there might be disputed succession a receiver should be appointed to collect the rents of the estate. The question raised in the letter of the British Indian Association was not, however, sufficiently met by the proposed amendments. The question was this: a proprietor might be collecting rents according to his recognized share, that was to say, as recognized by his co-sharers and ryots; now this Bill came into operation; the proprietor in the usual way made an application for the registration of his share. It was well known that in this country things when in train did not seem to attract much notice, but as soon as there was anything out of the way there would be disturbance.
